DAY 336

On the appointed day of the Holy War, nothing changed from the usual as the sun that shone on the world rose.

As for the things that add to the day, I send two "Clown of Demon" which were soul-made using [Great Devil Soul] as messengers.

On it I've put some bizarre make-up which resembles a white face with big red-nosed, as a plump devil in an outfit which is decorated with excessive flaps of wings on its back. It'll fly to the [Border Zone] near the Allied Forces and the Allied Armies. Both were shot down without any discussion first. Apparently, it seemed that they were seen as an enemy's attack.

I guess their ability to cope was too fast, but if I don't think otherwise, I was convinced that it can't be helped when they met such unknown conditions.

I send and give the second body [clown] a white flag since the circumstances can't be helped, and so it didn't got attacked this time.

Too add things up, I made it to say;

[My master who is chosen as [World's Enemy] is waiting in the deepest part nyoro~. THAT IS, if you're able to pass through several trials which had been prepared by my master ~ikerunyoro-npa. Since my master would wait with a tolerant heart, THE LIKES OF YOU SHOULD COME QUICKLY TO BE KILLED ~nyamon.]

The demon [Pierrot Nick], whom I told to have made a fool of those men was cruelly murdered the moment it had finished talking, it plays this role because it drops the magic item [Compass of Guidance] where it's limited only to show the destination of this [Holy War].

Anyway, the 2 camps which heard the story immediately began the invasion at early morning.

Although the total number of noncombatants decrease as they withdraw, still, there are a lot of numbers. Regarding the peoples who finally stepped into [Sacred Fire Mountain of Oni's Howl], even though it would be a little bit too long but I'm gonna explain their names in 'slight' detail —

<Allied Forces>

Holy Kingdom affiliation.

[White Royalty who become Savior] Annalize Dina Einz Lumen, nicknamed as [White Lady]. A Saint kingdom princess in her late teens. Possesses [Sacred Treasure]. Somewhat crazy in her head, an existence that I should be most careful of during the [Holy War] now.

[Saint of Boundary] Ishell Vorfush Serge, nicknamed the [Border Saint]. A noble from the Holy kingdom. Though she is a woman, she wields a large metallic shield, [Sacred Treasure], known as [Soul Shield of The Boundary God] that covers her body.

[Saint of Cleaved Judgment] Uria Dufouns Serge, nicknamed as [Cleavage Saint] A noble native of the Holy Kingdom. Though she is a woman, she wields a two-handed long sword [Sacred Treasure] known as the [Spirit Sword of Cleave Judgments] that boasts a length as long as her entire body.

[Hero of Hunting] the [Cardinal] Ran Bell, renamed to [Hunting Hero]. A beautiful woman in her early thirties. In possession of a bow [Sacred Treasure]. Has five companions.

[Hero of Numerical Formula] the [Cardinal] Mutage Veidoras Dinoa, nicknamed as [Number Hero]. An old man. In possession of a [Sacred Treasure] Has four companions.

Wild boar lineage Therianthrope. A girl. Natural airhead.

— So it has become like that.

Though the people who would formed the main force were explained in more detail rather than others, it is not necessary to learn so many details. As for the rest of them, it is enough just to shed them away for some reason without hesitation.

Well then, though both sides of the camp invade back and forth, the heat still became a problem in [Sacred Fire Mountain of Oni's Howl] after all.

If one does not take certain measures, they will die without even passing a few minutes as the body burns.

It is possible to prevent it to some extent, with a special item, which we proved since we had captured [Flames Fire Dragon Mountain], as might be expected this is fate.

Apart from elite Allied Armies, it is hard to arrange it for all the members in the Allied Forces with their capacity. If I think to include their reserves and so forth, it would be as several times their number of people.

Such a trifling, as a shortage of preparation would becomes fatal in the severe environment of [Sacred Fire Mountain of Oni's Howl], no one should ever ignore it.

However, the Allied Forces have a different method of dealing with it — [preparing a large amount of Magic Potions] — As insurance — they seem to distribute the magic potion to all despondent members — to settle the problem.

At first, the [Voice Hero] party, whose in possession of [Sacred Treasure] enter only by themselves, next [Co-Hero / Tomoyuu] party follow in, and then [Dancing hero] and his subordinates managed by using their ability.

[Voice Hero] can give an effect that closely resembled to [Eiyuu /hero] which is affecting great numbers according to her ability nature, she is unusual for the type of [Yuusha/Braveman/Hero].

It reinforces the companion with a singing voice, and she possibly possesses the higher rank Jobs type of [Minstrel] to make the enemy's ability decline also. For the singing voice of [Voice Hero], which is greatly strengthened by the [Divine protection] given from [God of Heavenly Voice], there exists a power that exerted various influences on the people who had listened to it.

With the clear singing voice of [Voice Hero] that directly shakes the heart, it invites her companions who played [Blazing Heat Cycle of Dyenos] with various musical instruments including a percussion instrument and a stringed instrument.

It assumes the content of the song to be an omission. The effect is a thing to temporarily add [high temperature adaptation], [normal mobilization], [intense heat tolerance], [body strengthening] and etc. to the ally.

It also has a matching combination with [Soul Voice Device of Heavenly] which is a gaudy microphone type [Sacred Treasure], having the duration applied for a day of wonder. Normally it would be for several minutes, even if played for a long of time. If I consider it would be lasting only for around dozens of minutes, one might understand how terrific it would be.

However, within the range of the effect, there is a restriction to the distance of hearing the singing voice.

Allied Forces are not bunched up, so as not to be destroyed by an unexpected surprise attack, they have left a little space, and it might appear that someone who heard and leaks that there are this many people, but it was [Co-Hero / Tomoyuu] that played an active part there.

[Divine protection] of the [God of Resonance] which was maintained by [Co-Hero / Tomoyuu] is a resonance from the singing voice of [Voice Hero].

I wonder if I should say it is some sort of speaker. An intense singing voice and performance totally roared like a hot live concert in the outer edge part of [Sacred Fire Mountain of Oni's Howl].

And then within that musical performance, 500 people who are [Dancing hero] subordinates <Female Dancer of Crimson Lotus Unit> stick out, they danced according to the tune.

As if the flow of the magma was total in all directions and the gush of lava that happens to be all around [Sacred Fire Mountain of Oni's Howl], they move by following every single move of [Dancing hero], as the crimson lotus dances.

The dance of [Dancing hero] becomes intensely fired up to match with the singing voice of [Voice Hero], which also gets steadily excited. For the dance that was totally in sync, there was a strength which could appeal to the mind of the person who saw it.

And, as for those who saw the dance, their physical ability and fighting spirit are greatly raised by [Flame Dancing Enhancement] [Flame Dancing Powerful Body] [Flame Dancing Powerful Mind].

Although it is inferior to the Voice Hero's effect duration time, yet to have various benefits last more than several hours, the war potential doubled in a short time.

And so, being like that, the Allied Forces are consumed with high enthusiasm, marching the whole force in spite of doing drastic climbing due to great vigor.

Though they sometimes encounter the dungeon monsters, it was nothing against the number of violence.

The Allied Forces which went straight on arrived at the area with the lava wall strangely at about the same time as the Allied Armies.

It is the place where a bridge doesn't exist to cross to the opposite bank and they cannot fly or jump over since the spirit dragon makes its nest along the lava wall.

Given that I arrived safely, I employ [Labyrinth security guard. CHIEF] as I'm dining across the bank with "don-shi" (ED:don from katsudon? = Rice bowl), from the ground of the line of both camps, with a lithograph I made [Gate of Oni's Howl] to process the exterior lava and make it appear.

To the lithography for the Allied Forces, it was written [(The easiest trial. It lifts up four [Heroes] and their companions to the battleground. The bridge to the future will be laid if one rubs it.)], To the lithography for the Allied Armies, it was written [(The easiest trial. It lifts up three [general] and 1000 soldiers to the battlefield. The bridge to the future will be laid if one rubs it.)].

After a short while of discussion, the [Mask Hero], [Ring Hero], [Bird hero] from the Holy Kingdom in Allied Forces stepped forward, thus [Ox hero]'s group from the Empire are chosen to go through the [Gate of Oni's Howl].

The [Hippopo General], [Rabbit General], [Wild Boar General] and 1000 soldiers to whom [Demon Emperor] had chosen are also passing through the [Gate of Oni's Howl].

But, as all the members of the chosen people disappear from this place, [Zugogogogo!~] (TN:SFX), a bridge made of lava rises with such sound effects from the big river of magma.

Moreover, it matches a part of the lava wall that exists on the tip of the bridge shining in red, by the high temperatures, and it cleared the way as if it had been cut in two by a giant.

Even the large-scale topography change was felt to be some sort of mystery, and all members except the [Benevolence Saint] were gazing for a brief time.

Because I was a little bit elaborate in tampering with some production here and there, the reaction of both camps would be something that appropriately corresponded to my hardship.

That was worth it, and proof that I did my best.

By having my personal impression to say it is set aside, both camps that crossed the appearing bridge started the beginning of a further invasion.

By the way, for the members of the people who passed through [Gate of Oni's Howl], they will appear in the hunting ground that was prepared on the 46th floor of [Waterfall Basin of Water Oni's howl]. Then having to accept the attack regardless of whether they were Allied Forces or Allied Armies.

The contents of the attack is really simple.

I appear in the center of the circle which was formed of water up to waist height, I only fire various systems of [Magic] and the [Bone Nail Gun] all at once from a hill of approximately 20 meters, which exists to surround people of the enemy group, who cannot understand their current state yet.

It is a surprise attack to slaughter the enemy as safely as possible, without fighting from the front.

The attack that pours down with a barrage in a short time goes according to the aim, and the damage to the enemy side expands every several seconds.

However, these opponents are no small fish.

[Mask Hero] who commences with the [Lion's face of Nellmea] then became like a lion beast person made of steel, [Ring Hero] wields the circular unique twin sword [Circular Moon Snake Sword] at high speeds, [Bird hero] who is accompanied by a great variety of demon birds started with a melody of [The Magic Flute of Bird's Stop], [Ox hero] who posses [Amullnoa Butcher's Knife] that runs along together with ferocious demon cows as vanguards, all are displaying their power.

[Hippopo general] whose features has a big mouth, making it possible to swallow a man whole. Also the [Rabbit general] whose specialty was skillful strategy using two daggers and a long sharp blade tail to chop off heads. Then, the [Wild Boar general] whose penetration power is superior and outstanding, I had to struggle with elites from the [Demon Empire].

Although usually the amounts of attack of this degree could crush one to death, their speed in reorganizing is faster than expected because of the high ability of individual combat efficiency, there seem to be fewer numbers than planned that I was able to knock down.

Well..... , it's just started.

Apart from [Rusty Iron Knight] and [Akitainu] as insurance, the reasoning is that [18 Demon Warlords] are still represented there with [Kumajirou] and [Kurosaburou] too, they are likely to get through somehow.

It is assumed that I will entrust that place to 'that place', and for the main force of the Allied Forces and the Allied Armies that advance across the lava wall, I will try to throw in some field bosses as a trial.

Although they were strengthened more before, under my influence the war potential difference has been defeated greatly, as might be expected.

However, the field bosses complete their role, and I can secure enough information. This will be enough for our work to come into play.

As the main force of Allied Forces and Allied Armies continue a detailed combat afterwards, they face the next trial after a short time.

Although, I'll say that the deluxe edition lava wall and magma canal where I added some huge statues stood in their way, it only blocked them for a little while. Here, on a lithograph for the Allied Forces was written [The trial for the fated ones. [Shelled Insect Eiyuu (hero)], [Supremacy Wolf Eiyuu (hero)], [Hero of Rock Iron], [Hero of Cuisine]] and their companion to the battlefield. The bridge to the future will be laid if ones fulfill it.]], while on a lithograph for the Allied Armies was written [(It is the trial before the end. You wonderfully displayed the excellent demolishing of [Giant Oni Demon Statute] which exceeded its durability. The bridge to the future will be laid if ones fulfill it)].

In the same way as not that long ago, four [Heroes] were appointed by the Allied Forces to pass through the [Gate of Oni's Howl], where I disguised myself and changed to a different labyrinth.

The fully motivated [Insect Hero] goes to Avenger's places, while [Wolf hero] to the places where Netsuki-kun and Fuuki-san are. I'm going to have the [Rock Hero] group stay for a while in [Gambling House of Oni's Howl].

Though [Meal Hero] has no certain relationship to [Fate] like [Insect hero] or [Wolf hero], I will be at ease in the future if I secure him here, which is saying that I let him come over earlier under my guidance.

Soon after having come out of the [Gate of Oni's Howl], which led to the summit of spiral fire mountain, I would know it at first sight whom it was that I waited for was.

Is this because he has pleasing looks and a plump body like a chick? There is even some attractiveness felt from [Meal Hero] in spite of being a middle-aged man. I was confused for a moment, but shifted my mind immediately.

I do not seem to acquire the experience for shows.

In the right hand of [Meal Hero], who was clad on a black cook coat-type protective

COOKING OWNER

holding the [Spirit Nabe of Cooking God], a pan type [Sacred Treasure], in his left hand. He issued instructions to cooks who were his apprentices and his companions, who were equipped with a white cook coat-type protective gear of similar design.

Right away they fixed their body postures, as I would expect from the party in possession of a [Sacred Treasure] which I admire.

While being satisfied with it, I have the scarlet spear and the halberd in my hands. I begin to charge to capture [Meal Hero] ---.

HERESY NEMESIS

[Yatendouji [Heretical Nemesis] Invoked]

[As a result, Yatendouji acts in hostile behavior / began the invasion <Heretic / Those who awake the Psalms>, In this way declared the outbreak of war of [Eschatology. Conquest war]

[Until fighting of both is settled, [300%] The overall capacity of Yatendouji rises]

HERESY NEMESIS

[Special Skill [Heretical Nemesis] is released as soon as it is settled]

— Just like the time with Avenger and with [Water Hero], the announcement flowed in mind.

While completely controlling physical ability which rapidly improved, I draw out scarlet spear and halberd towards [Meal Hero].

And even two minutes haven't passed when...

HERESY NEMESIS

[Special skill [Heretical Nemesis] is released]

[Due to Yatendouji's win against [Eschatology. Conquest war] with the one of <Heretic / Those who awake the Psalms>, The reward is given.]

[Yatendouji obtained [Food Ingredients of Cooking !!]]

Saying that, with [Spirit Kitchen Knife of Cooking]^{COOKING OWNER}, I can cut by ignoring the defense power of the living flesh, though it is a little troublesome to stir-fry and to do the partner of [Spirit Nabe of Cooking God]^{COOKING OVAN} that can be boiled similarly ignoring the defense power of the living flesh. It had power to the extent to be able to be deal with scarlet spear and silver arm.

Personally, I don't have anything to do with these two. I had a hard time neutralizing, without murdering, [Meal Hero] and his companion.

Anyway, [Meal Hero] is sitting in a chair in a restrained condition, with gold string wrapped around him.

Though he has taken a slightly rebellious attitude, I try persuading to make of him a companion like Avenger.

Though it is not necessary to do such a thing otherwise, the one that comfortably became a friend will come to have good relations in the future, or so I believe it would be.

For that reason, I talked in various ways about the dark side of the Holy Kingdom, where [Meal Hero]'s family lived now, relaying it in REAL TIME. Really various.

Then, the resistant [Meal Hero] might have been able also to understand at first. Did his face blush? I would say it turned pale, then he approved it since he whitened at the end.

-- [Yatendouji [Fate Plunder] Invoked]

[As a result, due to the fate of Cervantes Alvantes that is <Those who awake the Psalms/main character> was placed under Yatendouji's control, The Heroes Psalms [Manual to Full Cooking] is incorporated into story of the world Psalms [Tale of the Black Eclipse Oni]]

[Due to it being incorporated in the most significant of Psalms, The Heroes Psalms [Manual to Full Cooking] was deleted permanently from the national Psalms [LUMEN]]

[For the sake of Psalms rewriting, The Titles:

[Animal Husbandry Chef de Cuisine]

[Fishery Chef de Cuisine]

[Farming production Chef de Cuisine]

[Flavour Chef de Cuisine]

[Spices Principle Chief]

Which is of The Heroes Psalms [Manual to Full Cooking] <SUB.CAST> [Psalms ability/specific ability] of the gene carrier is frozen at once]

[The liberating ability power to make decisions of <SUB.CAST> and <Those who awake the Psalms/main character> about The Heroes Psalms [Manual to Filling the Stomach Path], is entrusted to Yatendouji who was the one who seized it]

[Thereafter, Cervantes Alvantes is <Those who awake the Psalms/main character>, as well as the ability liberating of <Assistant VIP> is done by Yatendouji]

With the [Fate Plunder], I was able to drag [Meal Hero] in safely.

I seem to now be able to enjoy more delicious meals by doing this.

After having given him a drink of my body fission for the sake of preventing revolt, I decided to have him cook a dish using the meat of a Black Fomour.

Speaking of the [Giant Oni Demon Statue], which confronted the Allied Armies as I was doing something like that, it was being restricted by innumerable, thick, and very long tentacles that the [Demon Emperor] did [Summon] from an underground hole. Its chest had been crushed by a fist of the [Beast King], who let a golden battle aura surge from his whole body.

Though I am annoyed with it, due to a fine masterpiece being easily knocked over, I'm abandoning its plan since it can't be helped.

At any rate, both camps did both terms in [KURIA] (TN:one Psalm's Book), and the bridge rises up again.

The production of this bridge is an addition to the previous installment, it queued up right and left as huge statue that existed on the lava wall moved. Colossus's arms intersect in the sky like a bridge, it becomes like a certain kind of parade. After the main forces of Allied Forces and Allied Armies had gone through, at the foot of the spiral fire mountain where we wait, they seem to stop advancing for a moment.

Well..... , for one reason or another it is already night by the time they arrived.

The journey does not only consist of the battles when encountering dungeon monsters, but there is also some distance in terms of topography and even here there's intense climbs up and down.

Tiredness drains out mentally and physically but by all means, there is a limit reached for the number of people even if the march speed is fast.

To prepare for the tomorrow's performance, it's appropriate to choose to save their stamina.

Though it is easy if I retort by considering the extent of the weariness, things are interesting in its own way.

For the time being, I confirm how the fight of members turned out to be--

[Hero of the Mask] died in the possession of the labyrinth]

When [Heroes] falls within the labyrinth they are trying to possess, I couldn't hide my surprise when those effects happened. It can acquire [Sacred Treasure] if they are knocked down in a conquered labyrinth, even if I didn't knock them down directly. Being able to understand it now, I am very thankful.

[World Psalm [Tale of the Black Eclipse Oni] Chapter VI hidden conditions <The Foolish One> <The Requested Blade> in Section Eighth [Blade of the fool] of [The Advancement of the God Disaster Gluttony] has been cleared]

DAY 337

Second day of the Holy War.

Although there were twists and turns, yesterday's fight performance ended safely.

As for the eventual damage which was caused as a result, out of approximately 3,000 members, about 800 died and a lot more were left with slight to serious injuries.

Along with the 6 [Brave Heroes] which are <Main Characters>, I killed a lot of others which are their companions <Subcast>, though it could be said that the damage is slight if judging from the size of their military gains, however... substantially it was an annihilation.

I was able to reduce the numbers of our own dead only since many of the seriously injured were treated in time because Seiji-kun was there. They were not annihilated but it could have come to that if he hadn't been there.

Though I did not make light of them, it is still too early for our members to face several existences of [Brave Heroes] simultaneously.

However, there is no meaning even if I say that now.

Participation in the [Holy War] was decided to be voluntarily to begin with.

They understand the risks of dying, yet they are still determined to participate.

In that case, I won't unnecessarily worry about the people who are not here anymore. We can do nothing but advance.

While praying "namu amida butsu" so the dead members' souls may rest in peace, we collected all of the members' corpses to hold a funeral later.

The corpses of the [Brave Heroes] are collected in parallel with them. I threw them into my item box to preserve them.

Since the [Holy War] has just started, I am going to eat them with the others after it ends.

Nonetheless, my stomach is empty. I used the [Ox Hero], who was leading the Demon ox/cow, as an ingredient for the [Meal Hero] to make breakfast to eat.

The contents are simple steaks.

The scent of fragrant meat stimulates the appetite. I put the steak in my mouth while expressing my gratitude unintentionally.

And... the moment my teeth broke into the meat, I was at a loss for words.

The fine-quality Demon Ox's meat was moderately soft and the meat juice overflows in the mouth.

It's nothing less than that of high-quality steaks.

However, various techniques and inventions might be used in the dish created by the [Meal Hero].

In taste, the skill was absolutely transferred.

My jaw goes up and down as I chew.

The tongue carries the steaks one after another into the stomach.

It was inferior when compared with [Sacred Treasure], but besides that, it is equal to the worthy gourmet food.

As I was eating, I comfortably soak in a lingering sound.

Apparently, while having breakfast in such bliss, the bases of the Allied Forces and Allied Armies seem to have started out in a new course of action.

In order for both camps to not collide in the spiral of fire mountain, I adjusted the spiral slope to be similar to the drawing of a double helix.

As a result, the adjustments prevented them from crossing each other till they climbed to the top. The Allied Forces and the Allied Armies finished reaching the summit almost at the same time.

A heavy dark cloud reigns over the sky at the top of the mountains. There was a lump of metal that floated in the crater of the spiral fire mountain which is used to cross over to the dueling grounds.

However, it is a little bit different now.

Though the black cloud in the sky hadn't changed, the need to cross over to the duel spot has disappeared, it was turned into a circular decisive battle ground that closed the cap of all craters.

The diameter of the decisive battle ground was about three kilometers.

That kind of shielding does not exist at all anymore so that there won't be an obstacle in the battle due of the large number of people.

At the center of the decisive battle ground, I am sitting in the luxurious chair which [Velvet] sat down on in his last moments.

All members of the [8 Demon Generals] such as Minokichi-kun are also sitting around, rising to the fighting spirit eagerly.

Though they could have made a surprise attack on the enemies while they were climbing, but it is the long-awaited [Holy War].

I had decided that I was going to wait a little bit longer until the Allied Forces and the Allied Armies formed into their battle formations to some extent, however, while waiting, a shout from the Allied Forces was heard:

"By the God's will.

Everyone risks their life. Judgment to the [Insatiable Gluttony] ~nodesu."

Probably, it was something like a declaration before the war starts.

Because I did not feel the need to go along with their lead, I'll listen carefully for the time being. I will wait until the preparations advance and then stand up from the chair.

-- If you asked when the "real" [Holy War] started, it would be at that moment.

Just fighting, the strong survives and the weak are eaten.

It is very simple, it is survival of the fittest.

Both camps confirm that they are ready to some extent, and I let out a roar informing the start of the war.

It was accompanied by destruction. It is an attack that could barely be called a roar.

[Yatendouji [Heretical Nemesis] Invoked]

Supesei-san's group [Mana] emerged for no special reason. I will postpone that matter for now.

Though the clear murderous intent and my roar with killing power hit the enemy side directly, it seems it was defended against.

—3rd POV—

It was the screeching voice of an Ogre that disrupted the air space which announced the beginning of the [Holy War] in its true meaning.

["[Oooooooooo!]"] (SFX Roar)

There it is, higher than when it was the [Flames Fire Dragon Mountain], at the top of the spiral fire mountain there existed at center of the enlarged [Sacred Fire Mountain of Ogre's Howl].

A thick dark cloud with an oppressive feeling is enshrined overhead. At the deepest part of the labyrinth, where one shall be burnt to death by imprisoning flames within a few minutes if no measures were made.

At the center of the very large decisive battle ground, which was prepared while considering whether they will be mistaken to arrive at the place, where the dead's final moments are, Nine Ogres, who are chosen by Ovarou— [World Enemy. The Gluttony] — lie in wait to ambush those of the Allied Forces and Allied Armies.

He stood up from the chair in which he sat in wait while both camps finish with their preparations to some extent. He uttered a roar which was clearly filled with murderous intent.

Of course, there is no way the roar of Ovarou is simply a roar.

By nature, the aim of the roar released by Ovarou, whose [existence evolution] as [Vajrayaksa Overlord. Living God Seeds] was to deprive power from the mind and body of the person who hears it. However, there was a chance for the roar to trigger the dreadful effect of instant kill.

Though some people can do a similar thing if they are an existence above a certain level, this roar was far stronger in comparison to them.

Though even an ordinary roar might be capable of devastating the armed forces by merely being released at them. Using the ability [Desperado] which has a high probability of killing only by hearing it once, as though it is a roar from [A certain wisdom snake, serpent dragon or Dragon], it was released with the intention to overlap with the strong ability called [Emperor Dragon. Blaster Roar] which adds a strong, abnormal condition and creates a physical disruption with its enormous magical power to the person who hears it.

As a result, multitudinous are being astounded around Ovarou, with the destructive roar that is delivered at the speed of sound, and being visible as a dark red cloud using dense magic to spread out into the surroundings.

Minokichi-kun and the others close by Ovarou should have been swallowed instantly in the destruction roar. However, each individual is a powerful being, and also, covered in layers of the shield "shiki" [Saint Energy Field] set up before by Seiji-kun's hand. Therefore, there were no damage at all due to the overlapping barrier effect of the magical item.

However, all other "things" are threatened by destruction, without exception.

At first, with the starting point of Ovarou as the source, the dark red destruction roar spreads out, affecting the entire decisive battle ground.

The innumerable, big and small fissures caused in the decisive battle ground were like crushed glass. The fragments that are dispersed by the impact turn into sand that is blown subtly into the air.

A part of the labyrinth, destroyed as if the field is going to collapse, would keep extending if it weren't due to the decisive battle ground being full of hardness, even to leave small wounds if barefoot. By no means would it be wasted. It attacks Allied Forces and Allied Armies that set foot on the decisive battle ground.

Seeing from both camp, a dark red wall suddenly spring forth towards the front of their faces. Might only look like it approached as it expanded at a terrific speed.

A-Fu” (??? voice)

What happens if we touched the approaching dark red wall? The instinct of a living being made everyone understand that the answer is; [(It dies.)].

Though we understood it, the speed is too fast and moreover, with the too big-scale of Allied Forces and Allied Armies, just a very few limited existences were able to put anything into action on the spur of the moment.

“There be the light in the worl
Zerf” (??? voice)

There was only a little time in the delay of the destruction roar of Ovarou arriving at both camps, a time which does not even reach five seconds.

If we don't deal with something between those seconds, the bodies of soldiers of both camp will be destroyed instantaneously, becoming a spray of blood, with not even one piece of meat left for this world.

Even if all that remains may be the [Brave Heroes], who are sturdy, their whole body would be infringed on, being hardly able to do anything. Easy to imagine the corpse being exposed to an attack.

However, it was a matter that can't be helped. As for the means to prevent an attack with a sound as a catalyst, it is not certain to exist, it is difficult even to react.

However, there was [The Deliverance Saint] who went over to the [Brave Heroes] among about 5,000 people Allied Forces.

“— St. God armor of Spirit Wrough
Easlav Res Larg” (Annalize)

A pure-white cane with the appearance of a mystical violently drawn saber, as if totally mowing down all kinds of evils — [^{Spirit world Canes of Great Go} Sephirostea Zecurios] which is the [God's Sacred Treasure] that Annalize prepared in advance, and it executed a certain [Magic] which only she could use, [^{White Royalty who become Savio} Savior of the White Birth] with shortened [^{incantation} Aria]. The [Magic] reaches all existences that belongs to Allied Forces with the speed of light, temporarily giving such abilities as:

- [Degradation Soldier of Divine Protection],
- [Saint God Armor],
- [Mind-resistant Enhancement],
- [Battle Art Improvement],
- [One-time Salvation], and it shows the only power which was able to fight against the hopeless [Death] called by the destruction roar.

But still, it was not enough.

Before the roar of destruction that pulls up a destructive power which further breaks down the abrasives soil, such as the sands from around the decisive battle ground, the enhancement does nothing more than just barely raising the survival probability to some extent. Even if they can evade total annihilation, the damage is there, and the destroyed Allied Forces might be able to hold on.

“Iiiiiyaaaaaaaaaaaaaa!” (???)

To avoid it happening, One of [Saint] — Uria of the [Cleavage Saint] who had been following Annalize, jumped out to the vanguard. Without approaching a run, she passes overhead of alliance soldiers of whom there was more than several hundred people with only one jump from the center of the Allied Forces, and lands on the decisive battle ground with lightning speed, thereupon the side-to-side line is giving a yell of fighting spirit together with the breaking wind.

[Uria Dufouns Serge drew out Battle Art [Cleave Judgment sword. Transverse of Great Border]]

With the two-handed long sword type [Sacred Treasure] which is beautiful enough to make someone be captivated with just a glance [^{Spirit Sword of Cleave Judgm} ^{en} Cleavernt], the very large black ^{Killer-Slapping Attack} Zangeki, which is a transcendence skill and the strongest of all her [Battle Art] was unleashed.

The flash of Uria, who flies while cutting the space on a trajectory, collided with the front of the approaching destruction roar.

Originally, the power of Uria's ^{Killer-Slapping Attack} Zangeki reached to the stage in which it was the only one able to fight on equal grounds with that [Breath] as if Dragons of [Emperor] rank are clashing with each other. She got more destructive power, worth several times her ordinary strength, because of Annalize's support, as currently all statuses were greatly raised by the effect of [Eschatology and War of Conquest], which was executed by the [Deliverance Saint Psalms].

It surely would send the enemy to the graveyard if it hit, and it may be right to say that flash was bringing a sure death.

But still, it was not able to put out the destruction roar that could completely be mistaken for a natural disaster which can't be fought against. This is because Ovarou is also strengthened, like Uria who is strengthened by the effect of [Eschatology and War of Conquest]. For that reason, Uria couldn't afford to reduce the power of the above-mentioned Art, being swallowed by the destruction roar due to her position at the very front of vanguard, being afterwards attacked by the impact that made her seemingly get blown away greatly backward.

“Ishell, the rest is entrusted to you” (Uria)

However, Uria did not die, even after taking that destruction roar, due to the power being greatly reduced by ^{Killer-Slapping Attack} Zangeki. The armor of light, [St. God Armor], that protects the whole body was remarkably worn down, and although it was occasionally penetrated, having its user suffer a bleeding wound, it would be a shallow one and gives nothing like a fatal injury off.

Though it might have borne a little more damage if it didn't have the ability given by Annalize, it was still able to give complete recovery to such an extent to Uria who is [Saint] who transcends those [Brave Heroes] in a few seconds.

However, even [Brave Heroes] may suffer great damage, though its power was palliated, the might which was an impossible to withstand for soldiers who were simply the subordinates remained. Therefore Uria entrusts Ishell of the - - [Border Saint], who is her flesh-and-blood twin, to the defensive role though her whole body was beaten up in the destruction roar.

“Yes, leave it to me” (Ishell)

Slightly late to stand in the front of Uria was Ishell whose [Soul Shield of The Boundary God], already prepared in advance, was a metal shield-shaped [Sacred Treasure] where solemn decoration was given, she dropped to the waist to endure the destruction roar that approached near at hand. The large [Soul Shield of The Boundary God] with which it was possible to completely hide Uria, whose tall figure in spite of being a woman was supported by Ishell, that conceals a might as if a large tree has totally grown roots in the ground, and itself demonstrates her real value with the Battle Art.

A wall-like surface of white light was erected from [Soul Shield of The Boundary God] starting at a point and spread top to bottom, right and left as if it totally divided the world there.

The dark red destruction roar collides immediately after the wall surface of the white light was erected, clashing while the refuge catches its lost energy between nowhere.

They were rivaled for a brief period of time, but it was decided due to losing force from Uria's slash.

The destruction roar gradually came undone and was scattered around the area except past the wall surface of the white light.

“—— Fuu, as expected from [World Enemy], to have done this ~ne.
it weakens our vigor, and yet to still have this much power.....”

Is the fatigue because of physical pressure? Or is it from the mental pressure caused by facing the menace which is drawing near?

While oozing the sweat out of her forehead, Ishell peeks from around the visage of [Soul Shield of The Boundary God]. Ahead of her line of sight, there is an image of the decisive battle ground that got absurdly ruined. To see the terrain features that became deeper at the central portion, Ishell was muttering to herself; [Seems like a meteor had fall from the sky],

An existence that can affect this much with only a roar'

Ishell quietly trembled with excitement while viewing the figure of Ovarou, which was far away, visually drawn to the details.

[(Gaoooooooooooo~!)]

And again, a "roar" is released on the decisive battle field. A very loud noise that makes them want to cover their ears reflexively, include a mass of magical powers with a vividly strong murderous intent. Under usual circumstances, no doubt that some would have been swallowed if they did not keep a strong mind. Hence, all people of the Allied Forces thoroughly took the on a guard-stance, but this roar was different from the destruction roar, it was frightening, but in a sense it was a normal roar.

Even so, it's natural to begin with, but it's the owner of the roar that's different.

From the eyes on Ishell's side, the master of the roar is positioned farther, beyond Ovarou's group. It's the Allied Armies which is comprised of around 1/5 the number of people on the Allied Forces.

It was Lionel — [Beast King] Lion of the Gold who conspicuously drew attention around his area.

From Lionel's whole body, the dense golden [^{Fighting Spirit} Touki] could be recognized surging out even from this far distance.

Especially the [Touki] that was thick around both arms. From there was left a hollow trace of destruction a claw's mark, the frontward facing the decisive battle place. It was an indication that it had reduced the power of the destruction roar a similar effort, like Urias.

In addition, there was a huge creature from <Hell> created from [Summoning] which was done immediately in the rear, by the [Demon Emperor] Hyulton.

No eyes placed their view towards the outside world, if there was not a scale then there was not a poison fang, it was a huge dragon of about 200 meters with a slippery, milky-white skin feature.

The Dragon's name is "White King Dragon who calls f Amsudomus". It spends its life without moving from its nest with an ability called [Energy Absorption] which treats everything as nourishment, "Corrupted White Snake Lordmus" has a thousand year existence that lives till it dies after attaining a place to live.

"White King Dragon who calls f Amsudomus", which was coiling around itself, is one of the top 5 existences that [Demon Emperor] Hyulton can call through [Summoning]. It opened its large mouth wide, from where a glimpse of a black hole could be seen, as if it was totally connected to "the space".

The destruction roar that not even Lionel was able to reduce, it is easy to imagine that it got absorbed by [Energy Absorption].

"Gahahahahahahaha~! This much power and it's just a roar ~taa, no less than expected of the opponent ~jyanoo" (Lionel)

"This sort of being is not such an opponent that I can take a laugh carelessly. Though White King Dragon who calls f Amsudomus is bottomless, but that said [My stomach fairly bulged, my first time being like this] ~desu. If it hit us directly, even we might have died, ~ne" (Hyulton)

"Gahahahahahaha~! Indeed ~oi. It was slightly more than expected, but the subordinates seem to also keep in more than expected!" (Lionel)

"Good grief ~desu. But I dare say ~desu, aren't almost all of the eight Oni at [Emperor] rank? They look like a close family ~desu. Ooofu..., really~ what the hell, speaking of a good show" (Hyulton)'

Whether due to Lionel, who is laughing excitedly, being a the carnivorous Therianthrope, or belong to a fighting tribe, the [Touki] that clad his body became more violent.

While being astonished at the sight, Hyulton, whose tone of voice indicated a true excitement to fight, still shrugged his shoulder similarly.

Both of them take their subordinates along, though they walk toward the center of the decisive battle spot, which was ruined while having non-serious friendly talk, but such a chance could not exist in their current condition, without exception.

In spite of being relaxed to the last, for both, their gazes were directed at Ovarou, who didn't miss a thing, from the 8 Oni to their surroundings.

If there was something to come about, they would be able to respond.

It is because Hyulton and Lionel who are veterans in the preeminent world, realized the magnitude of Ovarou's true strength.

And now with Annalize who is a [Savior] as the leader, the Allied Forces were also doing the same, staring at Ogarou.

"Well then, the day to stand aside as fated, afterward is entrusted to each one's judgment "(Annalize)

Ovarou, whose destruction roar as the first attack was prevented, sat again on the chair without trouble and appeared to ignore the gaze pouring from a total of 6,000 people, about 5,000 units of Allied Forces led by [the Deliverance Saint], and around 1000 units of Allied Forces led by [Emperor].

He constructs a defensive barrier that uses [Protection Field of the Divine Beast] which is a space rule type defensive group ability for the surroundings. Then, he took a sake bottle and a glass out of the item box.

Contrary to Ovarou, who relaxes completely, of those who precede to make preparations, Minokichi of 8 Oni stands up without hiding his fighting spirit, or rather it was that it couldn't be suppressed completely, then stares at the enemy who are self determined.

"Brrrr..... Me, set against that golden lion." (Minokichi)

"Well then, we will play support for Ki~chan, for such things as [Beast Fang General]
Secktos Helvii and [Six Heavy General], then the soldiers of the Allied Armies, me and others will do something about it." (Asue???)

Is this because he saw Lionel's claw attack who defended against the destruction roar? Or is this because he has superior physical abilities like Minokichi? The Minokichi's curiosity was concentrated on Lionel.

Minokichi, who spills thunder flames from his mouth, sets up his ax and shield again while fixing his eyes on Lionel, over swelling his muscle at the same time.

As a result, the already-huge Minokichi grew even bigger, it made the person who saw it feel the overwhelming power coming from it.

After looking at that, Lionel also fights back.

Side chest, for appealing to the thickness of the pectoral muscles, poses such double biceps so that it appeals to the bicep's brachii and the whole body was doubled, as a certain kind of empathy gradually occurred between Lionel and Minokichi.

Naturally, it's just body language, the exchanges unfolded in a way that even sultriness was felt, even though they were separated by several meters.

In spite of this, Asue stops the sultry communication and lightly hits Minokichi's hip, that itself is the appeal for her strength, while she lightly carried the huge [Mother Earth God's Battering Ram] up on her shoulder with the opposite hand.

[Beast Fang General], [Six Heavy General], and the elites of the demon empire are looking ahead beyond Lionel and Hyulton, Asue expresses a smile and watches patiently.

The mood that wrapped everyone up, totally had a sense of security similar to the mother earth but slightly colder.

"Then, shall I go against [Demon Emperor]? What kind of taste does the [Demon Emperor]'s flesh and blood have, I got kinda interested too " (Kanami)

It was Kanami who said so, as she licked her lips in an obscene manner.

Though even she can take in nourishment from a normal meal, for Kanami who is [Ice Blood True Ancestor Transcendence Seed Ice Lord. True Vampire. Superior Seeds] which is one of the most significant of the [Vampire] race, it's close to instinct for her to sip blood.

It's not a mistake that the most delicious blood for Kanami is a sip of Ovarou, though it seems to catch her interest as what kind of taste the blood from an existence called [Demon Emperor] had.

With her sharp eyes like a predator that judges the prey in cool-headedness, she seems to imagine the taste. Hyulton shrugged his shoulder as if he was affected.

Ovarou, who sat down on his chair and reacted to it did so wanting to say something, but he seemed to decide on remaining silent after all.

Burasato who looked at it, was slightly making a wry smile, and turned her gaze on a part of the Allied Forces by expressing a ferocious smile.

"If that is the case, from over there to that point there, could I get them ~na? The [Eiyuu] sure gathered, and they seems worthy to kill~na" (Burasato)

It is the right wing of the Allied Forces that Burasato aimed at. It is the place where [Star Reading Eiyuu] Aludra, who sat down on a self-propelled and floated huge crystal, and the [Writing Books Eiyuu] Imruska who had several odd floating books in his surroundings.

Burasato, who became a [Blood Sword War Empress Blood Raid Empress . Variant], who had wings of blood swords attached on her back, skillfully handles combat with multiple sets of them.

Moreover, Burasato gets excited in her mind at the time of battle, the brutality that doesn't usually come out may come to the surface, the [Eiyuu] whose many subordinates have come along with them seem to be splendid prey.

The wings of blood swords move slightly, like requesting its prey, and she grasped the hilt of [Senketsu Koujo] which is held in the right hand and [Bloody.Princess Corpse Decapitation Blood Hunt Shizanketsuga] is held in the left hand.

The "Oni swords-woman" starved for blood, as she thinks on how to handle the prey in her mind.

While seeing that figure, Supesei, who stood by the side, paid more attention to the Allied Force's left wing, not the right wing that Burasato aimed at.

"Assuming that way is entrusted to Sato-chan, if so then, shall I take on over there?"
(Supesei)

There are a lot of [Heroes] possessing [Sacred Treasures] with special ways of fighting which including Mutage [Hero of Numerical Expression] or Ran Bell [Hero of Hunting].

Supesei, who uses various magic, is as skillful in battle as Burasato with her multiple sets of swords.

Like planets revolving around a star, there are also eight rainbow-colored ability orbs which wander around Supesei, so it won't be a problem even if there isn't any vanguard.

Even if she has a few elite [Heroes] as opponents, the single Oni might be enough to fight them.

"Well then, shall we* keep company with the remaining enemy? Together with these 2 Oni, would you mind it?" (Seiji)

So spoke Seiji. Kugime and Aifu nodded.

"Yes, it's for the best" (Kugime???)

"It doesn't matter, but before that..." (Aifu???)

Minokichi, Asue and Kanami were determined to aim at the Allied Armies.

Burasato and Supesei took aim at the Allied Forces.

From the perspective of the person who knows each ones combat efficiency, it's considered alright even if there is an overwhelming number of enemies in comparison, there is no need to help them.

Though it's assuredly just like that in truth, but by all means just beyond are the large number of enemies and they're coming out.

It's Seiji, Kugime, and Aifu as the Oni trio who chose themselves to deal with that matter.

The trio Oni are inferior in combat efficiency among the 8 Oni because they were in charge of the support of other Oni mainly so far, so such a thing seemed to happen naturally.

Also, it is a story that's limited to those among the 8 Oni, even if it is said that their combat efficiency is inferior.

By no means does that mean those 3 Oni are weak. Even if they are taken in comparison with the army, they're still likely to annihilate them.

This was maybe because they understood their own capacity, since there seems to be no complaint to Seiji's instructions with having to deal with great numbers.

However, for only one thing, Aifu had a demand.

"Gufufufufu, Please let me talk with that one before. I can smell my fellow kind" (Aifu)

The request was to talk with a certain person.

"That... I see, no problem" (Seiji???)

As if being totally led by fate, Aifu quietly stared at a certain person. In her line of sight, there seems to be something like a significant matter of course, there stood the figure of Kifusu [Hero of Rotten Purity].

From Kifusu as well, she looked hard at Aifu, as if being guided.

Seiji, who was acquainted for a long time, there seemed to be an understanding that something was exchanged between the two.

Seiji had a bitter smile and decided to let Aifu do as she pleases for a while.

In any case, the Allied Forces and the Allied Armies had arrived, and the eight Oni set each target.

Ovarou, who should be in the leading role, sat calmly at the center of the decisive battle ground and seems to look on for a brief while as to what happens in the situation of the war.

In the middle, when each is going to respectively begin their expected movement, at the center of Allied Forces Annalize, the [White Royalty who become Savior], is there, where she floats with an expression of bewitching intoxication-like trance and with both hands wrapped her face quietly.

“Oh, Oh, How joyous it is! The mission that I must achieve, what a hardship it will be!

It might destroy the world with just a roar, the terror of [Insatiable Gluttony].

No killed story of being killed, just to have faced an oppressive feeling, as if they are aware of their own stupidity.

To achieve something like that like an ordinary thing, it must be absolutely impossible” (Annalize)

As Annalize is breathing wildly, she concentrated her attention with passionate eyes on Ovarou who drank liquor along with snacks while the fierce battle that began in his surroundings.

“For this reason, I have a meaning. The meaning that I was born into this world, who was fated to defeat the [Insatiable Gluttony]. Oh, oh, what a joyous event!, What a wonderful thing!” (Annalize)

In order to spit out that overflowing desire, Annalize raises the pure-white cane [Sephirostea Zecurios] and grants the whole army [Magic].

Soldiers were strengthened several fold, stirring up their courage to challenge those fearsome Onis.

“Let's fight to fulfill the mission. Let's fight, for the sake of relieving the world. Let's fight, because [Insatiable Gluttony YOU] and [White Royalty who become Savior I] are destined to” (Annalize)

The True [Holy War] has just still began.

It was already dusk when I came to realize, the battle that began from morning had continued even while the night was coming.

Securing the view becomes important to the battle, but one could still see above a certain level at night because the lava became the source of light even here at night.

It doesn't become a big deal of help for us who see as if it's daytime even in the dark, but it seems to provide enough assistance to other people.

Hmmmm... , should I adjust the vicinity about a little? I drink liquor while spectating and think idly while thoroughly enjoying snacks.

TL NOTE:

- At this point I confirm Rou is called as Ovarou from his [Overlord] variant species name, and
- it was not [Living God "species"] but Living God Seeds. Though the kanji could be interpret as species but the Kana Ruby say Seeds.^{Vaishura Seeds}
- The Kanji "Living God" Also could be means as a way to refer the Emperor (since Japan in old days recalled the Emperor as Living God). I believe the author want to refer that Rou [Rank Up] as Emperor rank species. It seems the author follow Rank as Low-Mid-High-Saint-King-Emperor-God
- "Shiki" seems like a charm/talisman or specific magic item to make barrier (kekai?). The TL said "ceremony" or something but I think the author might means "chant" like some "Shinto" Priest or Onmyouji.

DAY 338

Though I was just a spectator yesterday, the [Holy War] has continued without interruption.

Various [Magic] spells exploded everywhere, scattered sparks, abnormal noises, and the impact of weapons and skills colliding were heard, flesh and blood fell as if dancing, and lives perished.

The struggling urge to kill and the will to fight, screams and angry roars kept echoing without cease.

If it wasn't for the auto-repair of the decisive battle ground as time progressed, it would've collapsed long ago in the storm of destruction.

The [Holy War] that has passed a day, after starting on the decisive battle ground, is advancing almost as originally planned.

There won't be too many casualties among our ranks even if we kept the Allied Forces and the Allied Armies company at the same time. The more time passes, the more both of the enemy armies' war potential gets cut down.

However, there is a little bit of a miscalculation. It seems that the decline of the Allied Forces' military power is less than expected.

If the current Allied Armies have lost 40% of their war potential to Asue-chan's group, it was expected that 60%-70% would be cut down from the Allied Forces to Burasato-san and Supesei-san's group. In reality, they suppressed it down to only 40%.

Still, we've had satisfactory military gains. After all, the cause of that expectation is excluded since the "Holy Lady" existence seems to play a big role.

Even if the Allied Forces' soldiers have been greatly strengthened to the point that some are almost [Hero] rank, they won't be able to stand against the wide-range combo hit annihilation attacks from Burasato-san and Supesei-san.

Due to the various [Savior]'s peculiar [Magic] which included "St. God armor of Spirit Wrough Easlav Res Larg", most of the damage was negated. This allowed the Allied Forces' soldiers to display a toughness as if they were undead.

Do the Alliance soldiers feel neither fatigue nor pain? Even when their arm or foot are chopped off or their lungs crushed, they're not stopping.

Even when they lose their limbs, it is instantly regenerated when they retreat. It seems that their blazing fighting spirit has caused them to bear the mental damage. They continue to be revived even though the physical damage exceeds their body's limits.

For such a reason, it's certain that it would be more fun to be dealing with the Allied Forces because of the White Lady's existence, who waits in the rear and continues restoring her allies without end.

Well, she is an existence with the [Divine Protection] of a [Great God] similar to me after all. Doing that much is understandable and a matter of course.

At any rate, it is different from yesterday when everybody fought joyously, while I watched and used the ability [Protection Domain of the Divine Beast] to prevent any stray bullets. Because the request [Don't enter the fight first, we wish to fight on our own] came from everyone, I endured it, but the time limit I gave them has finally ended.

After I fully motivated myself by eating the delicious breakfast made by the [Meal Hero], I held special weapons in each of my four silver arms. Since everybody has fought enough, I too must enjoy it today.

—3rd POV mode—

Ovarou cancelled the ability [Protection Field of the Divine Beast] which was set up all around him, then he stood up from the chair which was from Velvet's inheritance.

Because he was worried and troubled that the chair might get destroyed, he stored it in his item box. Then he began to do some warm-up exercises, turning his neck to the sides and easing the stiffness from his shoulders. Probably because of his hardened body, it made "gokigoki" sounds every time it moved.

Velvet's chair is nice and sitting feels comfortable, in addition, even by just sitting it could recover the mind and body as if its effected as a magic item, although as expected one would stiffen up considerably if he just kept sitting down all day long.

“Well then, hmp”

When Ovarou was turning his head to loosen his neck stiffness, suddenly a sharp arrow flying like lightning was aimed at his head, he stopped it by biting it, then just munch it mumbling as it is.

Is the magic metal used for the arrowhead a high quality one? Maybe the wood used for the arrow's shaft is high quality? Or, is the feather used for fletchings (arrow's feathers) high quality? If not, maybe something like the magical power put on it is the high quality one.

While closely perceiving the secret of the thick flavor of the arrow, Ovarou eagerly looked around the surrounding battle ground and pulled his mind together. He needed to grasp the gist of the war situation, because something might fall apart if there are any kind of slip-ups. There might be a situation he should help.

To concentrate on his own fight, he need to confirm before beginning.

“Hmmm... for Minokichi-kun, there should be no problem “

After all, Minokichi-kun is happily fighting against the [Beast King] Lionel, drawing the attention of the Allied armies.

- Minokichi's part

Freely manipulating his huge ax like his own limbs, while emitting thunder and flame from his whole body, Minokichi-kun defends with his shield against the intense combo attack unleashed by Lionel.

In addition, he moves at an unusual speed that didn't match his gigantic figure, presently all abilities are raised by [210%] due to the effects of [Eschatology of War Conquest], making his swings reach the domain where it had easily exceeded the scope of thunder's speed.

With the result of bustling about freely at a speed that eyes can't follow his large build either, Minokichi-kun letting no one close to his battle surroundings.

Not only due to the shock wave that shakes space and continues to scatter opponents without cease, but there are also numerous thunderous flames that are roaring and burning the area, but it's formed to make others understand that they're gonna be destroyed by fire in a short time if they approach unskillfully.

Even the [Beast Fang General] and the others that came over to fight together with Lionel cannot interrupt Minokichi-kun's fight today.

[Buummoooooooooooo!] (Minokichi-kun)

[Gahahahahaha! Gahahahahaha! seethe, seethe~ together!] (Lionel)

'(TN:Lionel refer to both fighting spirit is mutually overflowing)

However, against Minokichi-kun who moved at the speed which was more than usual, Lionel [Beast King] is struggling to rival him.

In order to fight against Minokichi-kun, who is clad in thunderous flames, Lionel brightens his whole body in golden [Touki] and similarly strengthened physical abilities created by the effect of [Eschatology of Conquest War].

Minokichi seems to exceed Lionel a little if accurately valued in numbers, but Lionel is a strong man who has reigned as [Beast King] for many years. His accumulated days of struggle are by no means light, and the experience gained over the life-or-death crises easily cover a lot of differences in physical abilities.

And thus contrary to his manly violent appearance, he doesn't merely fight only with power. Like a keen-edged blade, Lionel surely had mastered the skill to defeat various opponents from his experiences.

Lionel, who makes good use of the special move that could even make Me look along with fascination, averted the trajectory of a downward swing from Minokichi-kun's axe with only a little prob toward its flank. (ED; This should be 3rd POV, maybe the author forgot or slipped for this one line)

In the case that equipment came into contact with the back of his gauntlet, neither spark nor sound was caused. A flawless parry, the result of using the precise minimum necessary power to deflect an attack.

And then thunder flames attack immediately following that, though his fury body is slightly burned an instantaneous gush of [Touki] quickly scatters it, and this leads to a slight chance to unleashed a kick. It would seem Lionel's kick uses greaves equipment that are magical items. Though a direct hit could be a crushing blow to Minokichi-kun, sadly it was prevented due to the massive shield set up like a huge mountain.

[Buumoooooooooooo!]

[Gahahahahahahahahahahahaha!] (Lionel)

Both exchange dozens of offensive and defensive abilities in one second, how many people could recognize all of that here? The clash of the two was like a flood of lightning. Even for those who can distinguish the continuously dazzling sparks, to be able to comprehend the details of their fight someone would have to be in the same class. (TL note: In case it's not clear Lionel is in golden touki while Minokichi is clad in lightning, they would be indistinguishable from one and another if people seeing it are not high level)

In order to incite each other, with each passing second Minokichi-kun and the other continue to raise the heat, clashing relentlessly.

(TL note: back to Ovarou POV)

The fact is that I want to kill and eat Lionel, but as expected, I hesitate to hinder Minokichi-kun who is having an enjoyably manly fight. Glancing to Minokichi-kun's side, I see Kanami-chan next to the Allied Forces.

At the time, because of a flock of enormous moving toadstools (poisonous mushroom) obstructing the view, I swung the crimson spear to mow them down. Though they were severed without any resistance, unfortunately their dense poisonous spores were scattered from the mass poisonous mushrooms that were mowed down. Still there should be no effect on me even if a large amount is inhaled because of [Status Abnormality Nullification], that being the case, the view is getting worse, so I decided to blow a breath.

Thereupon, hostile [Holy Knights], who are unluckily nearby, choked on the inhaled spores. Soon after their suffering began, all at once they collapsed to the battleground, bubbles beginning to form from their mouths, similar to a crab. Though they are not dead yet, they will soon stop breathing if they aren't detoxified.

Since the timing is right, I produce a golden thread from my fingertip and start to restrict the [Holy Knights] who wear full body armor. After having restrained as many of them as possible, turning them into a ball-shape, I swung them around to scatter the spores and lightly clear the area. Using the [Holy Knights] as a substitute for heavy weights, I swing them at high speed until making a [bokiboki] like sound, afterward further intense smashing sounds reverberate from the heavy impact with other enemy units. Looking at the rupture from the flesh of [Holy Knight] bodies, an innumerable number of bones are protruding. If any of them are still alive they will be in great agony, however there seem to be none. Obviously they are all dead.

Well... either way it seems they won't escape harm from the poison. Incidentally, the cause of death was changed from being poisoned, but I guess there isn't a great difference either.

After swinging several more times, and having judged that I made done enough of an effort in reducing their numbers to some extent, I cut the thread, separating it from my hand.

Then the [Holy Knights] flew away similar to a cannonball, directly hitting the [Mushroom Yuusha] nearby, who was immediately blown away. Even if the [Mushroom Yuusha] is not dead, he is likely to need treated for a while.

"Kanami-chan also..... over there's no problem"

Thus, with the nuisance gone, at last Kanami-chan can be seen clearly.

—3rd POV Mode—

• Kanami's parts

[Ufufufufu. For the sake of enjoying matured "Wine", as expected, careful preparation is essential right?] (Kanami)

[O-fu, I agreed, it is considerably dangerous de-su] (Hyulton)

The battle between Kanami-chan and [Demon Emperor] Hyulton differs from the showy and flashy kind that fitted Minokichi-kun and the others.

The place where Kanami fought was a plot covered with demonic ice of a bluish purple.

Despite being within the supremacy from the flaming cage of [Sacred Fire Mountain], Kanami-chan's ice would send a chilling cold wave, thereby transfiguring the scenery into a marvelous glacier. Kanami-chan then used [Summon Ice Blood Familiar Summon Azaroth] to [Summon] "Ice Blood Poisonous Multi-hea" "Ice Blood Heavenly Wolf" "Azaroth Hydra" and "Ice Blood Heavenly Wolf" "Azaroth Sirius", Hyulton would also [Summon] dwellers of <Qliphoth> as opponent for the battle.

The [Summon] created from [Ice Blood Familiar Summons] are very powerful existences.

However, the gas-based monster who was comprised of a black miasma "Lord who controls air space of Zasborg. de. Soussu", followed by a giant that grew innumerable horrifying demonic and cursed swords from its whole body "Starving Giant with War Blade Dis. Hau. Dobra", which are the [Summon] under Hyulton's control, are not inferior.

Due to both summoning, more than 20 monsters are created and spread mayhem with murderous intent in order to obliterate the enemy side's existences.

A roar that intimidates the enemy does not die out, and the raging ice storm is so devastating, as if it would not permit the survival of any living being. In addition the screeching scream, which made the resisted mind go insane, is roaring, the wave of the miasma that erodes everything is like a curse.

To describe the familiars fight, it is exactly similar to a Kaijuu great battle, which should do for an explanation.

(TN:Kaijuu refer to big monster like Godzilla or that of Ultraman's series)

And thus in the sky above the chaotic rampages of the familiars, the battle of Kanami against Hyulton was proceeding at break neck speed.

If Kanami-chan swings the [Drop of Moonlight], Hyulton uses the condensed black miasma as a sword. If Kanami-chan uses magic, Hyulton also uses magic. With alternating offense and defense, it seem both lack the decisive blow needed to break the continuum.

(TL note: back to 1st POV, seems the author have this habit of changing POV without notes)

Originally, I wondered if Kanami and Hyulton's manner of fighting would be similar.

Unlike both Minokichi-kun and Lionel, whose battle-type is to risk taking the vanguard position, they prefer striking from the rear, as the conniving-type who create subordinates and summoning familiars to be employed for settling matters. Having the practicability to use numerous variations of broad tactics alone, they can single-handedly perform a military campaign.

For this reason, it was inevitable that the current situation became a war of attrition due to their collision. Even if one has slightly more pieces in their hand, how one use their pieces effectively can determine the victor.

It's indispensable to have an understanding of formulating strategies, the intense exchange taking place is worth seeing.

As of now, Hyulton might be on display by hoping no damage occurs to the Allied forces, also that the aftermath of the offense and defense is being suppressed by feeding it to Amsudomus. Just simply that being the case seems to making Kanami-chan gain the upper hand.

It seem victory or defeat can be decided if I were to join there, but because of Kanami-chan being Kanami-chan, as well as having an enjoyable time, getting involved would be rude.

- Asue's part

"Asue-chan too, seems doing well, heh" (Ovarou)

Again, equally I put out of my hand to get involved with Asue-chan, that fight is near Minokichi-kun and Kanami-chan.

[I can~not feel ~the strain, they died fluttering, just like that ~tsu!] (Asue)

The alliance battle troops whom Asue-chan has to play with are 1000 elite soldiers, 3 of the [Six Heavy General] which are the Black, Green, and Red Generals. Then, 3 from the [Beast Fang General] : Leopard, Speckled, and Monkey General.

[Post Magic Aria, strafing. Smoke bombs throwing, listening closely to the designation report. Blind spot detection, abnormal strike start] (??? Green General) (TN:probably since she is a flying bird-type unit)

[It's gathering the thermal power together ~noja. Seems we need to do so, THAT's defense doesn't seems to have any hole.] (Speckled General???)

[Ooooooooo! This ONE's Flame WiLL ScOrcheD iT dOwn ALL!] (Scarlet General???)

Though Black General acts as the supreme commander, the three generals each lead about 300 soldiers of the allied forces first, then fight against Asue-chan at their own individual decision.

In spite of doing so, their numbers are not so significant in front of Asue-chan, because she could manipulate the topography of the battle ground where she was, temporarily causing both big and small changes, various ups and downs.

She divides it into parts by making ups and downs if it's overcrowded. One by one, the isolated people are defeated.

Therefore, Asue-chan must not let the anticipating of the tactics elapse even a little. In addition, the awareness cannot be concentrated at only one place. The three Generals seem to choose to fight by leading the soldiers of Allied Forces, respectively.

In this case, the connection that can predict each others movement will be essential. Without it, it could be called a stupid plan where they would just obstruct each other, and then end in self destruction.

Yet, the three Generals from [Heavy General] themselves act with great tact, while covering each other. If Asue-chan turned her awareness to a corps somewhere, the remainder would attack from her blind spot. It makes the best use of a favorite plan, as two corps became the well matched decoy.

Besides out-rivaling in the individual match, the unassisted Asue-chan is also targeted for the attacks by the existence of the other three Generals [Tusk Fang General], making it a fairly good fight.

And so forth, during the thought, an irradiated pink Battle Art "Love Beam (Slave of Lust)" from the front was struck at my chest.

It seems to be some kind of abnormal status attack where absolute love was given to the user, but there is no meaning since there is [Status Abnormality Nullification], just like the time with the spores a little while ago, and in the first place I gave my love to Kanami-chan.

Even if I got struck by it barefaced, I guess a "bang" will never happen. (TN: a "Bang" here refer to a gun shot's sound as if it hit his heart, in this context Love, lol)

[Hahha-! it also keep advancing by slipping through the ally's attack] (Leopard???)

[Uhohohouhohoho. If that's the case then I'll leave it to a strength competition!] (Hipopo General???)

[BAKA, DON'T STICK YOUR NOSE INTO OTHER PEOPLE'S PROBLEM!] (Black General???)

(TN: Baka=>Idiot, stupid, etc.)

When I concentrate on the movement of the Alliance troops who were disciplined, the offense of those troops hit Asue-chan directly at several places, which was played out by the bizarre actions of [Tusk Fang General], who moves freely.

[MUDA DA, MUDA DA! You think that would damage us?, CO~ME ATTACK MORE~, STRONGER!] (Asue??? probably from the speech... She's an M? and yes she said "us". Muda means useless, think of DIO from Jojo)

However, there are few, other than [Six Generals], with offensive ability to carry through the defense of Asue-chan and even fewer who could withstand her counterattack. Also it doesn't do anything much even if she is attacked, due to her excellent regenerative power, so it seems that buying time is possibly the limit to what the Allied armies could do.

Also, even if all the [Divine Protections] that are in the possession of the entire Alliance force troops were strengthened more than usual by [Eschatology and War of Conquest], there is not much meaning to it in the presence of Asue-chan, who was strengthened in the same way, which somewhat invites sorrow either way.

Due to too much of a difference between their base character statuses in the first place, it became an inevitable reality. The Alliance force's troops cannot defeat Asue-chan. Merely spend time playing, so there is only one end: to be killed.

Nevertheless, a dark cloud horse that charged straight is vanished against a giant water blade generated from shaking my Halberd, I pierce the phantom of the translucent knight with the cursed spear, then skewered the [Assassin] who was approaching near, without a sound nor a sign, from my back with the living body spear. While cutting off the approaching attack sound from the front with Red spear, I gave them praise in my mind since they endlessly tackled a fight that has no chance of success.

I won't go easy on them, but I should have the respect for their way of fighting.

"Assuming that the Allied armies side won't have to show their hand, speaking of the Allied forces side....." (Ovarou)

Turning to the Allied Forces side who are numerous, Burasato-san and Supesei-san fought with a lot of [Heroes] as their opponents.

• Burasato's part

Although they were fighting individually at the beginning, but as [Heroes] began having to cooperate after being triggered by the casualties that appeared on the first day, Burasato-san goes back to the usual tactics like acting as the vanguard, with Supesei-san as the rear-guard.

Innumerable wings of blood swords are burning to dance, and a great number of black magic like meteorites are pouring down from the sky.

When a comprehensive defense formation is assembled to prevent attacks, Burasato-san, who laughed loudly, cut them deep in a flash without paying attention.

[AA~ MOU~! THIS IS REALLY FUN!] (Burasato)

Burasato-san attacked the enemy who stood earnestly before her eyes while raising a cheer.

Both those with swords, those with spears, those who use magic, crazy products like synthetic demon beast (Chimera) that uses people, golems made of inorganic materials, and etc. No matter what, she attacked all noticeable enemies.

If it were about her opponent so far, a mountain of corpse had already been built in front of Burasato-san. Even if she was opposed by thousands of troops, it would have been possible for Burasato-san to kill them in a matter of minutes.

However, there was a lot of personage against the tyranny of Burasato-san in this place.

[EXPLOOOOOODE!] (Bomb Hero???)

[Urasshaa-!] (Leg Hero???)

Along with the courageous cry, Bomb Hero and Leg Hero performed a pincer attack on Burasato-san.

It's a launched fist that explodes when touched and a kick that could easily crush even magical alloy.

By using ^{Battle Art} Arts, Burasato-san accurately intercepted with [Senketsu Koujo] and [^{Bloody Princess} Corpse Decapitation Blood Hunt ^{Shizanketsuga}] against the delivered attack with perfect timing.

The fist and the kick were easily parried by the swings of two cursed swords, drawing a circle. The blade of the cursed sword swooped down on both [Heroes], whose postures collapsed from the flow. Its trajectory was caught on the torso of Bomb Hero, and one of its tracks also aimed to cut the neck of Leg Hero.

They managed to react and defend against it, but it was too fast. Bomb Hero and Leg Hero were brutally blown away and rolled over the battlefield.

Each of their comrades sent an attack in no time afterwards, but Burasato-san avoided it as if she was dancing while slashing at the same time.

Blood was scattered, and pieces of meat flew. A voice of the pain leaks, and anger burns.

Though it seems that there's no death, they suffer some serious injuries, such that they won't be able to move if they don't get treated immediately.

Burasato-san attempts a pursuit to stop the enemy who was trying to withdraw for treatment, but the surrounding enemies are blocking her way, so she couldn't finish killing them.

If it's the usual Burasato-san, she would have broken through and slaughtered them, but as long as you see that delighted expression, guess I daringly turn a blind eye to it.

Perhaps due to her battle manic nature, she may be praying that this battle will be prolonged even a little.

Well, it can't be helped because it's Burasato-san, and so I decided to think that way as I shrug my shoulders.

Whether or not they perceived it as a chance, the soldiers from <Forbidden human remodeled army>, who were made by remodeling the siblings of [Mad Hero] and [Explorer hero] after transplanting parts of monsters based on humans, plunged themselves to charge.

Is that a mix of rhinoceros or a wild boar? Or, is it something else? Anyway, the rushing speed of those soldiers is fast and their charge makes the best use of their big frames covered with a hardness that seems to transform from their outer skin.

However, because it was only fast, I split them with my halberd and living body spears, as if they were passing each other and divided them into 17 parts.

- Supesei' s part

[Fufu..... fufufufu. As expected, using magic without limit, is pleasant ~ne] (Supesei)

Behind Burasato-san who was entranced with the fight, there was the figure of Supesei-san who also fought happily in a similar way.

Perhaps it could be considered that Burasato-san may not play a role as the vanguard and become the shield for the rear guard when an attack might runs up to Supesei-san, but I deliberately ignored it for the sake of Supesei-san's request and her desire to fight this time.

Normally the magic we use is too strong and we have to go easy on opponents to certain degree, but surely not this time. Some opponents are necessary for Supesei-san to vent her piled up stress.

[Well now, I'll go steady] (Supesei)

Either it was the charging of "flying fish army" that swim in the sky which accompanied [Fish hero], or the abyssal type magic that [Mad Hero] had unleashed, or even the saturated attacks that bombarded the rest of the Allied troops, but Supesei-san easily coped with those magic spells.

Due to the abilities of the 8 rainbow-colored spheres which circled around Supesei-san, an invoked magic spell will automatically be multiplied by eight.

With the strength of the spheres layered on the single Oni, Supesei-san, pulverizes them before they are able to get closer, appearing to be very pleased after releasing her usually suppressed desire.

Since both of them leave enough composure while fighting fiercely, there seems to be no need for me to enter the fight as well as the previous others.

" As for the rest..... well, is there any problem?"(Ovarou)

- Kugime + Seiji's and Aifu's part

Seiji-kun's and Kugime-chan's defenses are strengthened by Seiji-kun's extremely solidly layered shiki [Shell Field (Saint Energy Field)], while they fought with beams of light like lasers that were released from Kugime-chan's eyes, from a small opening that was intentionally made similar to a loop hole provided on the rampart.

[At Six o'clock, Seven o'clock, One o'clock, Five o'clock, it comes] (Kugime)

[Right, understood] (Seiji)

Though [Saint Energy Field] boasts a high defensive power from the start, still, there is a limit. It is impossible for the two Oni, which inevitably have inferior annihilation power, to deny the possibility of being surrounded. So, if they were surrounded and constantly attacked, there was a fear that it could break through [Saint Energy Field].

With their aim to cancel out the shield, it was necessary for Seiji-kun to match the rhythm of attacks that poured in from all directions, then harden the defense for the necessary location by adjusting the density of the attacked spot one by one when it was needed.

By doing so, even if the tree-type monsters led by [Hou Ei (Abundant hero)] uses a thick branch to pull off a barrage of strikes, even if they were exposed to thousands of attacks from demonic steel golems trained by [Steel hero], there won't be any opening.

Though it's a collaborative technique, since Kugime-chan reads all attacks ahead of time, it has become a type of absolute defense technique.

Because, even if they break it, it will recover on its own, so it would be enough to leave it alone.

By the way, before one knows, Aifu-chan, who is acting separately from the other 2 Oni, has disappeared together with Rotten Hero and her colleagues.

Perhaps, guess they are having a talk with her because they are of the same "kind".

[Gufufufufufu. Leave the persuasion to me..... well, here I go~♪] (Aifu)

Since she said so before disappearing, it should be all right.

Undoubtedly. For sure.

- Rou's fight arc part 1

Anyway, if that's the case, then my target was already decided from the start. Though it could be said that it was the only choice which existed from the beginning.

"Yosh, well then, shall we?"(Ovarou)

To reconfirm the situation of everyone and concentrate on my own battle, I look over the enemies that gathered underneath me to approach.

As a matter of course, White Lady is the leader, and others in possession of [Sacred Treasures] are assembled in full force. [Savior] has three people, eight [Heroes], and then there are many others with some grand members.

Since the other surviving [Heroes] are struggling to stop Burasato-san, they may not be able to come to me until they are killed. While making me feel vexed, Mushroom Hero and others who try to make a pass at me a while ago are left to the members who gathered, and I go toward Burasato-san's spot.

"Although you said so, you already fought, hadn't you? The fight until a while ago might be too petty as I don't recognize it to be a fight either..... Seems that arrogant attitude might be the proper image as [World's nemesis. insatiable Gluttony]. Right!, right, that's why... it's worth killing you ~nodesu" (Annalize)

While reserved behind the Border Saint and the Cleavage Saint whose shield and lance, the White Lady, who was accompanied by a sense of pressure that dominates the field, responded to my remarks with a smiling expression.

"Well now, let me kill. ^{Insatiable Gluttony} You who are dear, by my own hand" (Annalize)

(TN: she is using the phrase where a wife confessing her love to a husband. In this case, it got twisted from "loving" to "killing")

Though this was the first time that I exchanged words face-to-face in this way, I should have been able to sense the White Lady's insanity even if there was no prior information.

The blank pupils were dilated, there was an illusion that she was spinning madly, going around in circles. If my life could be harvested, the White Lady surely would continue to aim for me no matter what condition it is in.

"Bring it on. I'll eat you to death"(Ovarou)

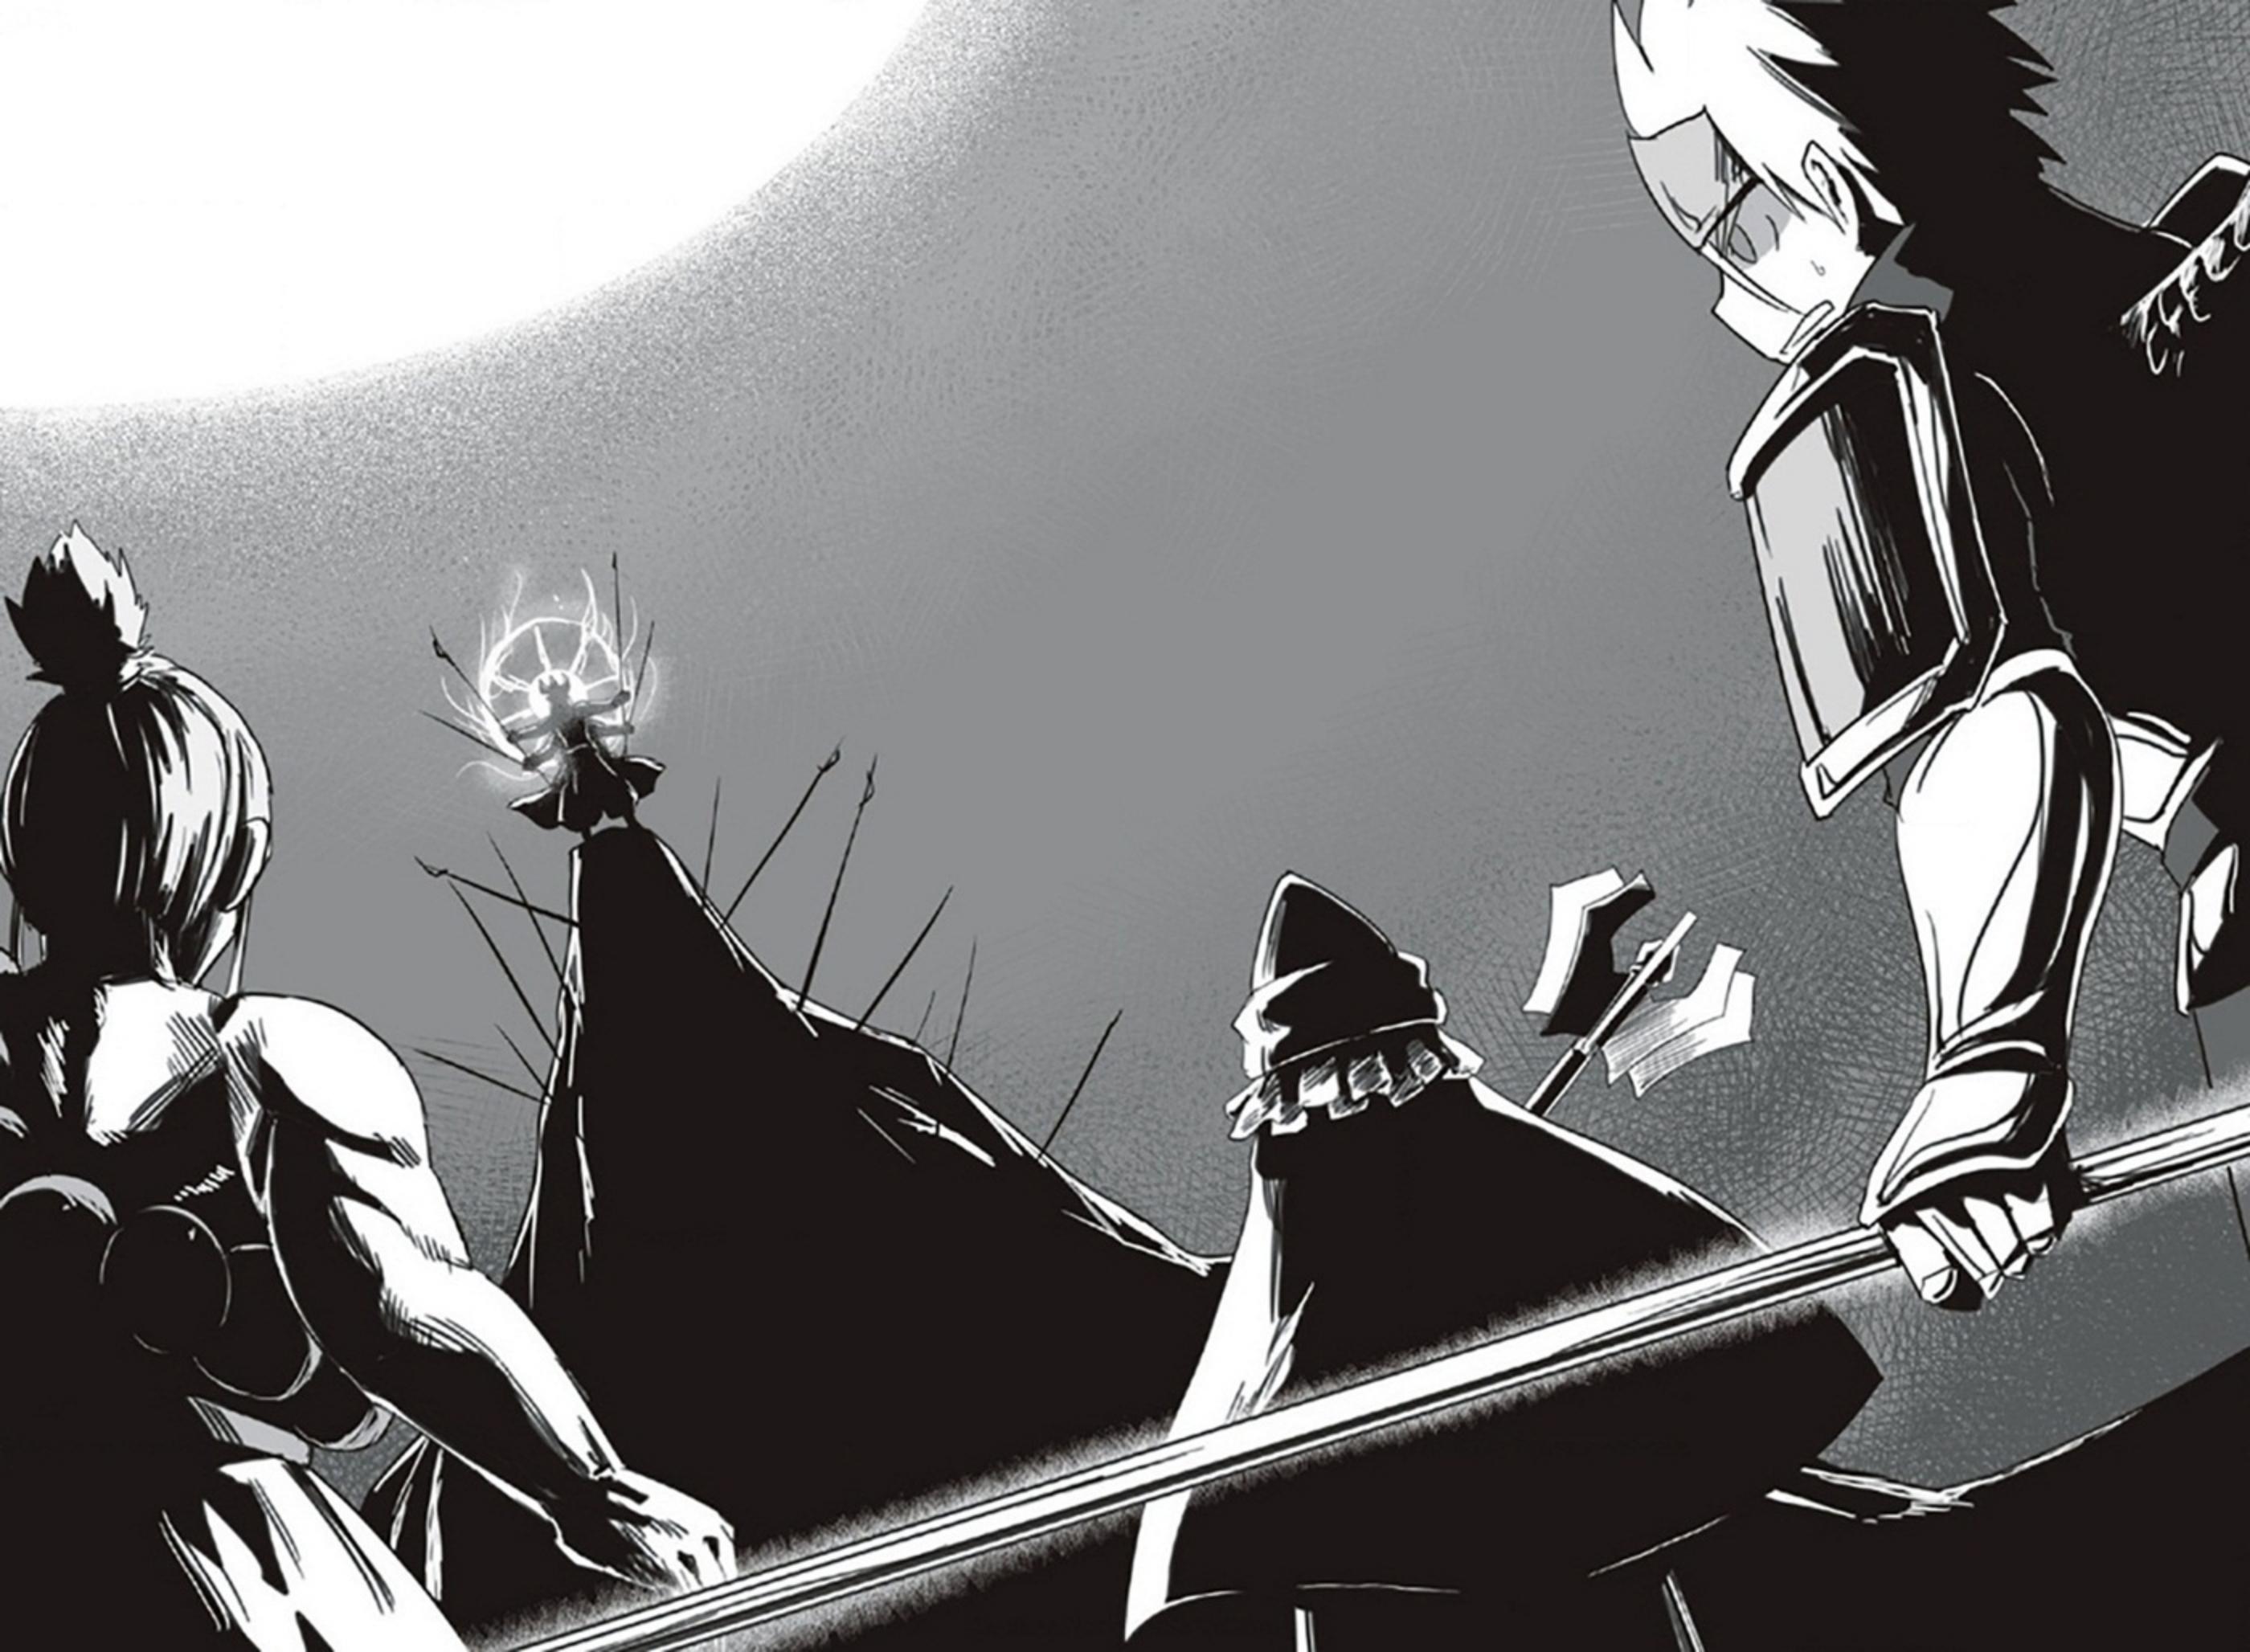

So, with only but a few words, the hostility is clear.

At least, it's just a little matter to mingle with the speculation of the [Gods], We are immersed in a battle to risk our lives with each of our own purposes.

The White Lady 's [Magic] is invoked, the [Border Saint]'s slashing cuts approach, the arrow of [Hunting Hero] comes flying in, the [Number Hero]'s blade of Numerical Formula is swung. The cry of [Voice Hero] is rumbling, [Love Hero]'s love beam is irradiated, the future foresight attack of [Star hero] is placed in the surroundings and any escape place is thwarted. The dwellers from the tales in the books of [Book hero] jumped out as phantoms and the ability of [Hail hero] was added to the black thunderclouds brought forth by [Cloud Hero] and [Lightning Hero].

As each second of time passed and the battle proceeds, I realized that my body is dancing and blood is boiling from the excitement.

After one thing and another, Burasato-san and I succeeded in killing most [Heroes].

There was also a bit of drama, such as the desperate efforts of Cloud Hero, mustering his power just before he died, and Lightning Hero and his comrades, who suffered serious injuries from my attack and were escaping after wrapping themselves in a black cloud like the Kintoun cloud. Well, that's how it was.

I thought that the flow of this [Holy War] had already been decided since I joined Burasato-san's group, who defeated other [Heroes]. However, to know the true fear of the White lady is only possible at the time when her numbers decreased.

Err, really, though this is what I say, I wonder if that would be like this.

DAY 339

Next thing I knew, a day had passed.

Currently most of the Allies' [Heroes] have been eliminated, but I let some get away as seeds to begin building a friendly relationship, even if only a few remained. Since the remaining genuine [Heroes]'s are covered all over with wounds, the battle had reached the stage where they would have soon been annihilated.

Since I might be able to build a friendly relationship with the few remaining [Heroes], I think that now it might have been possible to begin building a friendly relationship with the Allied army's [Emperor].

Well, it's just a thought, and it would be an impossible discussion.

In any case, the [Emperor]'s battle has also reached its climax. Lionel is using [Beast God Vigorous Soul Body | Vils Folgha] which is a [God of Beast's Sacred Treasure], and Hyulton invokes [Magical God Nuclear Shell | Qliophostorra End] which is a [God of Underworld's Sacred Treasure]. They made desperate efforts as they fought against Minokichi-kun and Kanami-chan. The [Emperor]'s forces are superior only because of the abilities of their [Sacred Treasures]. But the two Oni had grown rapidly in the battle, they competed without being killed, and gradually began to fight even better than before.

I wonder if the battle caused the blood of the [Emperor] to seethe or shook his spirit. All the participants had a refreshingly nice smile on their faces, despite being covered in wounds. All other emotions have been pushed aside so they can fight purely to grab victory.

By the way, It seems that the [Emperor]'s side also wanted to fight with me, but unfortunately there was no choice but to give up on that idea since there was no chance of beating their current opponents. I will do my best, so I want you to be convinced and eaten by us because your life seems like it would be finished in the battle.

Anyway, there are only a few left behind. Kill the Cleavage Saint, kill the Border Saint, and If I kill the White Lady, as well as the weakened [Heroes], then the [Holy war] is over.

That's how it's supposed to be, but before my sight, hundreds of [Heroes] and further existences stood in the way.

[^{Money}_{Gold} Haaaaa, IS ^{Strength} POWER ~DEAAAAARU! THEREFOORE~, PROSTRATE YOURSELF BEFORE ME THE MILLIONAIRE! THIS POOR PERSON GAAAAAAA!] (Sen hero) {TN; AKA [Easy Money Eiyuu (hero)] }

Insanity dwells in his eyes, and the whip is swung while letting saliva splash because of his excited feelings.

"CUT IT OUT, ANNOYING" (Ovarou)

Ignoring the ^{Money}_{Gold} whip's trajectory, I step into close distance while evading at the same time. Hearing the collision noise from the whip that struck the battlefield behind me, I mow down with my halberd aimed at [Sen hero] who approaches before my sight. Although resisted slightly by the clothing made of light covering his body, the halberd cut the body of [Sen hero] in two. But as soon as the upper body of [Sen hero] was blown off into the battlefield, the whip of ^{Money}_{Gold} also swooped down from four sides as well. This is not the [Sen hero] who was killed a little while ago, but the recent attack of [Sen hero].

[I WHO HAS MONEY AM GREAAAAAAAT!] (Sen hero)

In response to the four closely approaching whips, I mow them down by rapidly rotating the weapons possessed in my four hands at the same time, invoking [Giant Roll Slash] on the spot. On this occasion, I intertwined Sen hero by spreading golden threads from my fingertip into the surrounding. The whip crumbles and scatters with sparks, and as the result the golden thread entwined around his whole body was rolled up by my rotation, four people from the Sen hero party were forcibly pulled towards me while exposing a big gap in their defense. I do not miss the chance, and quickly cut their necks with the cursed spear. Four freshly-severed heads flew and blood gushed out like a fountain.

While my whole body is being dyed with spurts of blood, I pull together the corpses of [Heroes]'s party with a knit net of golden thread and swing it like a hammer. It is a mass of four fattened people. Due to their excess flab there is a reasonable weight, this means that its power is great.

[Explode it! Explode it!] (Bomb Hero)

Then, with a hammer made from four of [Sen hero]'s side characters, I bashed it on the side of the eight from [Bomb Hero] who were about to approach without wasting a second.

As a result of swinging at such a high speed, to the extent it got blurry, the dull sounds of meat colliding with other meat in succession could be heard. In addition, they probably touched the explosive fist of [Bomb Hero] since an explosion roared everywhere.

Then, the "hammer" made from [Sen hero] which was greatly damaged, as compensation for modifying him into pulled meat to beat the eight from [Bomb Hero], I throw it all at the seven side characters from [Dance hero] who were approaching as if they're dancing. Also, by unwrapping the net of golden thread, the meat or bones which were broken became minced in the net, scattered by the momentum.

[ULA LA LA LA LA] (???Dance hero)

In order to deal with it, [Dance hero]'s group started a fire dance and changed themselves into the incarnation of flames. The meat and the bones which approached were carbonized by the fires. And thus the smell of thick blood - evaporated by flame along with the fragrant smell of burnt meat - spread out. Moreover it stimulates my appetite, but right now, I will kill [Dance hero] and others with [Death Look Evil Eyes] rather than focus on my appetite, giving priority to intercepting three of [Cloud Hero]'s group who are thrusting swords of light at high speed from behind.

[--- SHA!] (???Cloud Hero)

[Cloud Hero] unleashed a slashing attack together with a loud yell filled with fighting spirit.

I repel the various attacks of [Cloud Hero] with my rear arms holding the living spear and Halberd, then I leap to further evade Cloud Hero's attack which was approaching from the center spot. And thus while still in mid-air, I skewer the heart of the [Cloud Hero] who resisted the attack from my living body spear and halberd, hold the [Cloud Hero]'s head which exactly came to the middle of my right and left feet, then twisted and snap his cervical spine with an instant rotation.

And though whether the necks of Buchuri and [Cloud Hero] snapped due to excessive momentum or accidentally reaped, it is the inevitable law of force.

While still floating in the air, I kicked the freshly-severed head of [Cloud Hero] toward the nearby [Leg Hero], but as soon as I makes a turn and land, I was suddenly facing the thrust of a pointed spear unleashed by a phantom-like knight, so I counter it with a kick that carries out the might of [Vajra Destruction of Black Supreme Oni Emperor]. The phantom's spear crumbles and scatters at the moment it collides with my front kick, and at the same time its main body which was behind was dispersed before directly getting hit.

The phantom appears as a fake in the form of [Yūsha] who existed in the past [Heroes Psalm] that was framed in [The Original Book of Spirit of Book God | Roots Bryos] owned by [Book hero]. While fake, the skill in that technique is genuine, and the spear's thrust would have had enough power to pierce me if hit directly.

He is an enemy but I kinda understand and felt some kind of sympathy when the way to make a favorable offense is by making disposable [Heroes] as a covering screen.

"It ran through a million enemies alone mounted on its ride, killing a lot of [Heroes], to defeat even Mutaros [Yūsha of the Holy Spear] who saved his homeland, which was a small country compare with the major powers... with a single blow..."(??? Book hero)

I heard [Book hero]'s muttering somewhere, but ignored it and wave my silver arms behind. As the [Number hero] was swinging up a club [Avorga Muffel / Soul Modifying Club of Formula God] which could manipulate the probability of any object it touched and return its existence to nothing, he was able to soundlessly come close. Even I do not know what would happen to me if I received a single blow, so I use [Ignatir / Armor of Lightning Storm] to scatter scorching lightning and storms behind me.

"Nuuooooo!" (??? Number Hero)

The figure of [Number Hero] disappeared from my sight in an instant, but it seems I cannot finish him somehow, although I can tell that I inflicted a serious wound on him.

It is a pity that I can not finish him, but there was an interval between the enemy's attack and it's probably because a lot of [Heroes] who were in the surroundings died due to getting mixed up in the fight.

I did not miss that gap and decided to eat the two-part-skewered [Cloud Hero] as I widely expanded my mouth. The mouth spread as if it were a snake, swallowing the upper body altogether, accordingly I tore it off and chewed. Since the lower body remains, I swallow and eat it as well.

After having finished eating the whole parts of his body in two mouthfuls, I realized that energy from [Cloud Hero] spread throughout my body.

Even though it is not genuine, the body of this [Cloud Hero] is as delicious as the real one. It might be worth eating so as to be more than enough.

"It is delicious as expected, but I'm getting a little tired of it" (Ovarou)

However, even if the bodies of [Heroes] are delicious, if hundreds of dead bodies of [Heroes] are rolling around, it could be said that the flavor is also vanishing. They are consumed by the labyrinth and disappear after a certain period of time has passed, but they only become obstacles in the fight if there are so many. Even now, I have stepped on who-knows-how-many corpses of [Voice Hero] and [Cloud Hero] from the previous battle. The feeling of meat and bone is peculiar, guts get stuck to the foot's sole and can be slippery, depending on the spot.

"Ufufufufufufufu. Much more... there is another "serving" still to come, you know? Well please eat a lo~t. Because it will be your last supper" (Annalize).

(TN:She use phrase that usually gave to command "Dog" to stay still in order to feed the dog. In her case, the dog is Rou)

The White Lady was laughing with the stacked [Heroes]'s corpses in the background. Whenever the number of crazy [Heroes] who came towards me decreases, the White Lady, who is the culprit of the current situation invokes a certain [Magic]. The [Heroes] who decreased in every case are replenished, life and death were repeated in this place.

"Good grief, I never expected the [Savior] to have such an ability, this has gone too far from the expectation"(Ovarou)

My real thought leaked instinctively. And I look back a little into the past.

— We had killed a lot of genuine [Heroes], and that was a while ago. We reduced the number of enemies steadily, and got closer to victory by that much. When there were a few left, the White Lady showed a different movement than before.

The [Savior of the White Birth] White Lady 's [Divine Protection God] is one of the [Great God]'s pillar which is [Great God who rules birth and wisdom]. It seems that there is a deep relationship with my [Divine Protection God] [Great God who rules the Origin and End], but lets put it aside now.

When the total number of allied troops reached a few, The White lady took out a bundle of hair from a bracelet which appears to be a storage-type magic item. Even just looking at it, the hair is gold, silver, red and blue, and of different lengths. That hair bundle gave the impression that somebody had gathered the stripped hairs of several people without sorting.

[The fragment to the Origin Imitate the life
Urisdo , Zastut] (Annalize)

The compressed aria is spun from the White Lady's mouth. It is different from no-chant which instead is able to be invoked instantly. It is also different from a shortened chant that selects only a necessary part and activates in a short time. It is a difficult technique that gives more meaning to short words and further enhances the power than when normally casting it, while also speeding up the activation time.

[God is Saving Only those who challenge
Yakstr , E zen] (Annalize)

One compact [Magic] was completed with a spun, compressed, aria in a loud voice.

Varide Lizreid ”] (Annalize)

White Lady scattered several hairs that were pulled out of the bundle into the surroundings, and the [Magic] which was invoked used the hair as a "core" and created a new life. The whole-body skeleton is constructed in a second, internal organs and muscles are provided to the skeleton in the following second, and the skin along with the body hair are added at the last one second to be completed. Human beings equal to the number of hairs were created. Moreover, those beings are the [Voice Hero], [Love Hero], and other [Heroes] who are supposed to have died in the other day of [Holy War].

[Ufufufu. Just now here, a new [Magic] had given [Birth]. This is, the power to [love]^{KILL}'you dear'. ——"Honored Armament God of Light Itchreave ahrodd"] (Annalize)

(TN: She use word of Kill [ia] which she spelled as Love [Ai]; also "anata" which mean "dear" to husband)

Weapons prepared by White Lady's [Magic] are attached to the [Heroes] who expose their newly created nude bodies. There were few people preparing weapons with their own abilities, but many [Heroes] were armed with armor of light, swords of light, and so on.

It is a ridiculous situation where there are more than ten people who look like each other, but naturally 'that person' will not wait. With weapons in hand, they attack to kill.

Then, from the result of a few fights, apparently the intelligence of [Heroes] has degraded, and from various factors such as weapons, it turned out that their overall fighting ability was weakened more than the genuine ones. However, as the number of hair or meat pieces increased, the decline of the performance as a unit has not been so significant. More or less the likes of such things are meaningless before of the number or quantity.

[Well, there are still more to go] (Annalize)

The [Magic] which the White Lady invoked was something different from the common sense of this world that I learned from examining it so far. As the White Lord says, It may be said that a [Magic] which had never existed that had given [Birth] in this place.

If I compare this [Magic] to something, it would be "cloning". This [Magic] is very similar to the "cloning" that allows clones with the same genetic structure to be created from hair or skin parts.

Since regenerative treatment and so on existed in my previous life, I'm more or less reasonably convinced for the time being, but still... not only is it possible to create humans after only a few seconds, but also for the reproduced to be provided with abilities or a battle skill. Therefore, though it can be explained by saying that it is [Magic], I guess it can't helped that I was amazed by it.

I can't even say anything about the others, but the white lady sure is exceptional, even though we have only faced each other up until now.

However, I was curious that there were no clones of living people.

If they increased the number of Cleavage Saints and Border Saints, that alone would have cornered us further, but I can't see that happening in the same manner. Perhaps, this [Magic] might not be able to use anything as material unless the person was already dead. I wonder if there are hints to this behind 'this' large army of [Heroes] that are hidden somewhere.

— A slight recollection is concealed behind [Face Hero] which transformed into three dragons and began to rush in, it's interrupted by Cleavage Saint's attack which unleashed a slash that cut off the space between us.

“Seiyya!” (Uriah)

After cutting off the dragon body of [Face Hero] which was used as a 'blindfold' for me, like an air draft, a strike that aimed for my neck was approaching. It was clad in dark phosphorescence due to a battle art, and it certainly had enough power to slash my neck if hit directly.

“Hmm” (Ovarou)

“—! What a fool” (Ovarou)

I meet the enemy with a [Headbutt] which I used [Vajra destruction of Black Supreme Oni Emperor] into and so on repeatedly. With a trajectory that slips in with perfect timing, knocks the hard horns that grow on his head to the side. The slashing of [the division god knife sword] which bounced up from the bottom and pushed towards the space overhead did not damage me.

And [Double Dragon Dancing] etc launched an attack in a useless manner, and my [Headbutt] is again drawn towards stopping his rage. [Headbutt], which is swung down towards the ground from my raised state, having also the effect of a [Lightning Striking Angle], and collides with a stabbing motion on the left shoulder with a heavy strike. It collides violently with the armor of wrapped light, but only for a moment.

In the next moment it disappeared in a straight line leaving the left arm and the left leg separate. For a moment St. Jeon gained a facial expression with Kyoto, as if he could not understand his present condition, and in the next moment he stifled a scream by clenching his teeth. He tries to keep a distance with the remaining right leg, but there is no mobility with which he can escape. I smelled the burning of the highest blood of [Saints] that exceeds even [Heroes], reflexively I pursued and tried to thrust my teeth onto that soft neck.

“Aaaaaa! “

My attack was disturbed by a Saint who settled between us wielding [^{Bordanto}Soul Shield of The Boundary Go] while doing a full power rush from the side. The attack space lessened, but a well-time kick using [Physical Damage Penetration] and [^{Crystal.Quartz}Quartz Frequency Oscillation] kept some space open.

For the robust world class defense, it is already understood that an attack over a certain degree will still leave that defense shocked. The surface of [^{Bordanto}Soul Shield of The Boundary Go] slightly rippled, and certain responses showed in the slightly damaged sacred places in the back of the shield. The damage is worth it at least, even if the arms are left numb, with even a little vibration transmitted through together with the damage.

I took a distance with the kicking momentum, but because of the large number of enemies, the surroundings are already occupied.

At the same time of my landing, the six [Ring Heroes] who were on the left side threw the Chakram they were holding, made of light, all at once. Because they had two hands, the total number of Chakram was twelve. Chakram were shaking as alive, coming closing to slash the atmosphere.

“Garnet Dialoso Insertiozo “

Targeting the Chakram, I used [Saints Cross Slash]. The Grand Cross Slash went flying out, delivered by Chen Zip and spear, crushed all of the Chakrams and slit the [Ring Heroes] where they were.

Immediately afterwards, [Fish hero] rushed over with a huge flying fish out of the sky, moving, right, diagonally, and backwards. A harpoon of light was set in the hands of [Fish hero], approaching near the shield and seeming like he was trying to make a rush as soon as he arrived.

“Fish Oo Oooo“

If I were to avoid it poorly, it's only good judgment that I will be attacked by other [Heroes]. So, without hesitation I swing down the halberd. A giant blade was generated from the axe blade, and its power was increased due to the addition of a wind blade based on [Storm Wind?]. Each fish [Fish hero] was riding was cut into two pieces of its own. Still, the momentum didn't disappear, and the corpse that was diverted from the orbit went straight towards me rolling somewhere else where the surrounding [Heroes] had gathered together.

“Poisonous Mushrooms Ha Delicious In Daio Ooho “

Among the blood and smoke that accompanied [Fish hero]'s fall, nine [Mushroom Heroes] came closer in a frenzy, swinging enormous poisonous mushrooms, from the right oblique front. Poisonous spores were scattered around the surroundings. If an ordinary person were to step in here, he would be entering a dangerous enough zone to be killed by a single breath.

However, because I have no means to just disable them, I repeated a slash with my halberd and living spears. Whether the power of the blow was rising due to [Heavy Ax Heavy.AuraSlash] or [Heavy Slashing Blade] or whether its structure is easy to slash vertically, either way, instead of a shield, the bodies of [Mushroom Heroes] rolled apart with their poisonous mushrooms cut into pieces. One still lived, despite having lost an arm and one leg, so I let out a deadly poison from my mouth made with [Venom Snake Venereal Administration] and bathed his face. Purple deadly poison burned the face of [Mushroom hero] while emitting an unusual smell and strange noise, as it quickly took away his life.

“La la la la la la la” (Voice Heroes)

As dead bodies piled up in the surroundings, a dozen [Voice Heroes], collected densely on the right side, began to choral at once. In a sense, what was supposed to be sound shots emitting from a single choir group grew in a synergistic effect with the combined power of the [Co Heroes] who were also around them, to the point that localized atomic decomposition occurred.

The dead bodies of the [Heroes] within the range of its effect began to disassemble and emit a roar of dispersion. While observing the scene, I felt myself being swept away, but slightly push forward.

Although I am resisting, it's getting pushed further by [Voice Hero] and [Co Hero], who are going to add their voices together one by one as the destructive wave approaches. If they were alone, I can easily win, but the scale is different compared to the scale before. In close combat they can be killed more easily than anything, but in long range attacks the power increases proportionally compared with the number of people. With a simple calculation, it can become rather very troublesome.

“Aaa! Shit “

Just as it is judged to be as dilapidated as it could be, a big moment appears for us to momentarily shake things up. As soon as I pushed back a little, I canalized magic into my vermillion spear and pierced the ground to release one of my abilities.

Vai.Schrada Vladisgul.Belliga Tsenpesh-Valdora
[[Demonic Spear] [Pearl of Hungering Vermillion] Unique ability [Army of Demonic Spear ] has been activated]

The next moment, Chen Ji woods were formed throughout my field of vision. A myriad of [Heroes] were penetrated from the bottom of their exposed corpses. Innumerable carcasses were pushed up and let down a rain of meat pieces and organs.

“...Was it not enough? “

The burning smell of flesh diffused widely with furious momentum, tickling the nostrils. Until now, the carcasses had been burned in the battlefield at the limit of the battle fervor, but the fervor was stopped agitated by the vermillion spirit, making it seems that the smell which had been confined was, as a result, rolled out even further.

Although it's in the midst of battle, it's inevitable for consciousness to not go towards that too.

“I got it “

With such a swelling of my spirit, avoiding the attack from the vermillion lance with a beast-damped movement while also hindering that attack, sneaking behind my back is [Hunting Hero]. From the sacred bow that emits a golden arrow, there was a black phosphorescence.

"Hey it is I, hhihhiihhiihi, [Star Reading]. Please die here, you -san!" (Star hero)

As if she had known all in advance, the [Star hero], who was wrapped in a black phosphorescence coming from her huge crystal star, Ying [star 読神 Koretamashi crystal cyclone Le THIS arc], had avoided all of the attacks I had just sent while moving using the shades from the corpses. While jittering, she began to shoot countless rays.

Both attacks were full blows using [Sacred Treasure].

Preventing their attack is impossible with my Halberd and living spears, and if it's a spell they could even be destroyed. It might have been possible to prevent with the spider thread and silver arms, but neither were up to it, as they were blows delivered at the speed of light.

At the moment of being released, the fight is already finished.

"Slurp"

[Hunting Hero]'s arrow shot round my heart, the rays took off the left part of my head and my abdomen, then it got my left leg.

I brace on my right leg alone to not collapse, but from my mouth comes welled up a spray of blood. It is a fatal injury, the first that I have received in a long time.

This damage can usually be recovered instantly, but the [Sacred Treasure]'s attack also has an effect of hindering recovery, the damaged part will brush, but not regenerate as you would think.

"Stop! "

"Stubborn hmm!"

I find myself in wonder of not being dead yet.

[Hunting Hero] is approaching to slash my neck with a blade equipped along with her sacred bow, and the [Star hero] also approached in order to release an extraordinarily thick ray at a close range.

Their hungry steps are sharp, a blade swayed like thunder as it cut my neck. The light emitted by the [Star hero] is thick, and the lower part of my body was instantly burned down.

That for sure was a reliable death, there.

[Ovarou died. [The Five Souls] will be activated]

And in the next moment, next to two people, I stand in front of their eyes in a completely regenerated state.

“— What? “

Indeed Kusaishi, though not having fallen to the ground, still bouncing from the neck slash, seems to have been astonished at seeing me, who appeared back as if reversing time.

It was not a bad option to leave the avant-garde to disposable [Brave heroes], and dare to try yourself, only daring to approach if Kyung Yu had just been scraped away from the back with a chima - chan.

“It is worth having died “

It was possible to do something similar by combining the technique of [Overlapping Existence] and [Existence Restoration] or [Ultra Fast Regeneration], so it may not have been necessary to die separately.

However, it was the best for the surprise attack this time if I resurrected in full condition immediately after death, thanks to [The Five Souls].

Even if it is slightly delayed in restoration, it must have reacted.

[Ovarou acquired battle skill [Neck Hunting Vorpal Strike]]

Before [Hunting hero] can react, my Shuyari comes into action.

The blow from [Neck Hunting] cuts into the neck without any resistance, making the cut pass in an unsatisfying manner.

[Hunting hero]'s emotion, a feelings that is impossible for you to even comprehend, has been engraved so vividly in my mind.

Because one can not deny the possibility of playing the same way as me, the body was divided into three parts by also using Shuyari and Noroiyari. The Dochari is cut, almost at the same time it rolls onto the decisive battlefield with the neck and pieces of meat going flying.

"I run tea - Gupo..... Gigigugegagaga..... it is indeed, this wasn't written in [Star Reading]... no, it wasn't there."

And slightly away, was my thrown Halberd, which ended stabbing into the [Star hero]'s abdomen.

As the lightning strikes run through her body, burning her insides, just leaving words unspoken, the true strength of the [Star hero] can be seen. (ED note: Just as a reminder, Rou's new halberd lance gushes lightning, remember?)

That's why its unaffordable to let her escape here. It's a chance of one in one thousand.

"I, am going to die....."

My silver arm reach out and grab the [Star hero]'s neck, biting the intact head as it is.

Words were enigmatic testaments that disappeared in the mouth, while the stalwart who had, for many years, supported the Holy Kingdom, died like that.

That is, speaking of being disappointing until the last, but such a thing often ended in death.

The will to continue is rare to find in a person who greets that last grand moment.

"~Tsupu~u~. Delicious, more than expected."

From eating [Star hero] I found a deliciousness that could never before be compared to the other [Heroes]. With that thought in mind, I decided to eat what remained together with a complete meal [The Ingestion of Giant Whale] there was a tongue and Kan-shoku.

Complex flavor contained in the seasoned trotting throughout the whole body, emotional thoughts spring forth, such as when eating the best of aging meat from craftsmen who had worked so painstakingly on their art.

"The "killing" isn't just for the sake of killing, it is really amazing. Though, it seems there is a limit to it. Ladies and gentlemen, let's be careful."

To have killed one of allies, before me was the chance to enjoy it carefully, eating their flesh and blood, but I heard the voice of the White Lady, warning me that any changes to my actions would not have been seen as purely good. (ED: "allies" here refers to 'Allied Forces', just to clarify)

Immediately after that, or so I thought, the black [Dragon King] of four hundred meters class rose from behind the White Lady, the [Dragon Breath] released at the same time was emitted by the [White Ryutei Emperor Dragon] of two hundred and fifty meters class.

Torrents of black and white light cleave the air from all sides as rays, coming straight towards me.

It came like a stinging rain but luckily [Star hero] had already been eaten, although I could not avoid it. Or else, recovering the corpse of [Hunting Hero], who remained at my feet, would be impossible. If avoided, the genuine [Hunting Hero] would have been lost forever from this earth.

"Indeed, there's too many cards at stake"

I unintentionally leak out a complaint.

So... it was not only [Heroes] that were cloned by the White Lady.

That it had existed in the past is confirmed, if what existed carved its name in the history then, he has been causally resurrected in this place to serve.

The only salvation given is that there must be considerable burdens on the cloning of such mighty beings as the two [Emperor] kind, as there are so few of them. It also makes me wonder that the number of materials are also a rare few, proportionally decreasing their possible numbers.

Although even those might also be within the range of error.

Anyway, here also I will need to give a little more serious effort.

"---- Release!"

All the Ogre orbs on the body melt and dissolved.

Actually, things has only just started.

Late at night, the recent [Holy War] has come to an end.

The only ones left standing are none other than ours, leaving us filled with the spoils of the decisive battle with [Saints], [Heroes] and the [Emperor], as well as numerous copies of [Heroes] and powerful monster corpses.

The number [born] by force by the White Lady, in the end, would have been thousands of light covered copies.

While I thought about how we challenged this fight alone, I put as many corpses as possible into my item box.

Looking back on the [Holy War] while restlessly cleaning up, it took some serious effort killing all the real [Heroes] and defeating the two [Saints].

Still, as for the white [Magic] used by the White Lady for those [born], it seems it doesn't work unless the subjects are dead. The [Saint] died earlier trying to defend the White Lady. The same [Saint], which was later put in the front line, had been cloned from the hair of the deceased one.

They all had [Sacred Treasures] such as weapons without equal, but for their intelligence to have been weakened through degradation per copy, it's still there that it greatly exceeded the number of [Heroes] against us through the use of the copies.

There were dozens, and they came up against us in such way they could perform with such cooperation as they were almost the same person. As an aside to the other party, it would not do to have so many of those nasty things.

Also, because it we were fighting in an even more remote location than the likes of Burasato's, since all the enemies were concentrated on me, my new body became slashed up again and again.

However, even while there was such a thing, I was greatly distressed with how White Lady had exhausted me before I finally pierced her heart with my Living Spear.

The face of a person who has died happy, it was even gentle enough to leave me with a feeling of some sort of mystery.

Just before her life disappeared:

"No matter for how long I stay here, even if a second more, then I'll aim at you"(Annalize)

And with that I was left with such a sinister testament, but it is perhaps a source of anxiety to me, and my heart must for that purpose engrave the feeling of that existence.

White Lady surely would have tried to kill me, of that there is no doubt.

Authenticity of words aside, the corpse of the White Lady, unfortunately, could not be recovered.

To be precise, the corpses of the [Savior] and the [Saints] were gone.

For what reason? After a few seconds of the White Lady's death, what I'd grabbed had turned into white sand. The [Saints] copies' dead bodies followed the same manner, after all, they had been turned into a white sand while we were distracted by the suddenly blowing wind.

The flesh and blood I wanted by all means for eating was gone, but there's no help for it, if it turned out this way.

But the other [Heroes] who were in that battle left me satisfied with the recovery of various [Emperor] ranks, similar to us.

After completion of such a clean up, it leaves one feeling that for a while you want to relax in a large forest.

The Holy War, though a bit long, ended yesterday

The injuries of the participating members through out the last few days were already greatly recovered and, except for some private life issues, they seems like they'll continue living without problem.

Although the 9 Demons who are the leaders were still scheduled to have their injuries treated for the time being, I decided to gather the people who participated this time in the big banquet hall located in the [Ship Ambrasm Parabellum], and start the party at noon.

Many members died in the Holy War, but overcoming the fierce battle many also let many others [Rank Up] and gain new strength. There are also those who achieved their hidden desires or erased their regret from the past. In order to mourn those who lost their lives and congratulate the survivors, we decided to toast their memory.

The lined up cuisine was prepared by [Meal Hero] along with some of our senior members.

I was able to get the whole fresh body of [Demon Lord?] and [Beast King?], and also a large amount of [Hero] meat.

Because there are people such as Avenger and Redhead mixed in our party, I stopped using [Hero] meat as an ingredient and replaced it with [Dragon King] & [Dragon Emperor] meat, moreover we also used a huge quantity of labyrinth food as ingredient collected from [Holy Sea Foods Meal Cavity Of The Fierce God]

Because [Meal Hero] has already drunk my partial body [Parasite], I thought he wouldn't mix poison with the food. Just for my peace of mind, I watched him for a while, but it seems like a groundless fear. The first class ingredients made his blood pressure rise, so he was happy just cooking.

It looks like a scene from a cooking manga and it really pleased me to watch, the finished dish was really exquisite. My hands moved unconsciously, with no sign of stopping. I just discovered that, when I ate it, my appetite became more intrigued.

Although thinking about letting other members who weren't here eat later, we decided to devour the meal by ourselves right now. That way we should be able gain much more from this.

Moreover, I didn't take ease off my appetite this time. If I'm even a little careless, all the food could've been eaten by others.

Anyway, the sorrow of parting with the fallen members slowly faded with the help of liquor and food. We got drunk from the resonance of our victory, and made several toasts.

We stayed up late into the night until the sun was about to rise-----

[Completion Bonus [Demon Liquor: Signature [Fearless Demon Leader. Earth Ritual]. Large Barrel] will be awarded]

[Completion Bonus [Rights to Voyage to Dark Continent] will be awarded] — That announcement echoed in my brain. Simultaneously with it, a wonderful treasure box appeared before my eyes.

Apparently, the hidden condition for the Completion Bonus from Chapter 4 [Encouragement of a Kingdom's Revolution] that I hadn't achieved before was cleared this time.

Moreover, it's said that I obtained three kinds of sake in large barrels. It was probably the sake that hadn't been awarded in the previous [■ ■ ■ ■] (in day 179). If so, then I could only imagine how remarkable it is.

No, but, there's also the relations with the Tomboy Princess, it's inevitable isn't? Better to just leave the troublesome things in the past. For now I just want to treat everyone to a drink.

The night isn't over yet, it's just getting started.

DAY 341

Holding a golden wineglass in one hand, I sat in a chair admiring the sunrise beyond the horizon.

Sometimes this kind of morning is not bad.

Thanks to my high physical recovery, my wounds have already closed but the mental fatigue still remains.

It can also be said that I have less vigor than usual.

It feels like something heavy, and somehow my movement also became slow.

Thinking about nothing, I continue to gaze at the sunrise for a while.

It is a little dazzling but, because of [Extreme Light Resistance], I can see it normally.

After regaining some vigor, I tried to get up.

The desire to finish the [Holy War] and lazily rest is rising, but the clean up is more important.

Before I can enjoy the hot springs, there are some various things to do from now on.

Frankly speaking, from now on, the age of civil war is approaching.

The loss of powerful [Salvation Warriors] is big, but the important thing is the majority of the warforce called [Heroes] has been lost. Thanks to that, the protection from the [Holy Kingdom] also become impossible to do.

Vassal countries can't refuse the request from the [Holy Kingdom], but it was with no good result, therefore only losing their precious [Heroes]..... [Rotten Hero] is still living, but from now on, dissatisfaction and anxious from the small countries are accumulating.

Not only the [Emperor] and the [Generals] that followed him, along with the talented elites that were lost, but until the next generation Emperor is decided, a lot of confusion will continue and is easily to be expected inside both the [Demon Empire] and the [Beast Kingdom].

Also, the Empire has lost more than half of their [Heroes], including [Cloud hero]. The loss of their warforce is at the level that can't be ignored.

And other countries will seize the opportunity of the reduction of warforce to change their international approach. Especially the countries that are far away from the Holy Kingdom, which will plan to take their land.

The Holy Kingdom still have the [Holy Sages], therefore, it will not be easily defeated. However, until now, they have a history of brutally attacking and trying to conquer other countries.

There are many local people that are holding grudges. Those in the conquered lands may try to rebel and start a new country. Originally, the source of flame was already there.

This [Holy War] triggered that flame.

A Holy War incites greed and violence.

The sounds of those footsteps are heard, quietly but surely.

Those strayed ones work in favor for me, it may even give birth to new [Heroes].

That is what I thought of, but before taking any action, cleaning up after the party takes priority.

I stand from the chair and see the surrounding, there are many drunk people lying down in a miserable way.

The [Holy war] is winding down but this time there are approximately 2000 people attending this party.

There are a few people that are weak to alcohol, but the majority here is from the Demon species, that are big eaters and drink alcohol like water.

Also, there are giants that drank a whole different amount of alcohol, Dragon people like Ramura-san and Uwabami so the cost for foods and drinks are quite costly.

Fortunately, the ingredient for cooking, "Dragon King" and "Dragon Emperor" can be obtained in mass amounts from the mountain. If that is not enough, we can just use [Demon's Howl Gate] and collect [Shokuhora seafood from the cave of the Demon] as much as we need.

But the problem is alcohol.

To provide alcohol for 2000 people means a large amount of alcohol is necessary. Also, each one of them isn't a half-assed drinker so, as expected, to make sure these people are satisfied, it is harsh even for someone like me who has a large amount of alcohol stored.

Up until now we collected alcohol by going into labyrinths, and sometimes bought it, but because of the [Holy War], we often do party through the night before so the alcohol that was stored has become less and less.

I still have enough if only for these kind of parties, but I don't know whether this amount can keep them satisfied or not.

Maybe I'll need to replenish it in between the parties.

But since I already completed the [Psalms], I got 3 kinds of demon liquor as a reward. That may solve the problem.

Although the taste is a little mild compared to the demon liquor that I've obtained back then, the ability to replenish itself over time is the same. And also, I've already put it into large barrels so I have a large amount of it.

In other words, I have an endless supply of alcohol.

This is good for lining up the demon liquor and binging.

There are a few drunk people brawling, but regardless of race, people are laughing, exchanging drinks, remembering their fallen comrades, and laughing some more.

Such a party will eventually fade out in the morning but as a result, there will be mountains of miserable drunk people.

They have experienced the [Holy war]. There is in some part of the demon species's ritual which consists of drinking to ease the grief of the eternal farewell, but I think they drank too much.

They feast until even the strong ones are down, various dirty things like vomit is scattered everywhere. It mixes with the smell of alcohol, and it's a little irritating.

Sigh.....

Anyway, I asked Seiji to recover them from this miserable drunk state.

Seiji agreed and release a radiant warm light, and soon the people are waking up one after another. They start to clean up the scattered dragon meat dishes.

I drink my alcohol from the golden wineglass, while watching them.

The alcohol that I drank is the one that I got recently [Demon Liquor of the Demon Heavenly God]. It has a color like the sky and is a unique dry alcohol.

At first, it has a refreshing taste, then, in the middle, it has a strong stimulating taste.

And it pairs well with the grilled dragon meat produced using my electricity.

It's also juicy when chewed. The dragon meat alone will have a very strong taste but with spicy refreshing taste from the produced electricity, with the dry taste of the alcohol, has an excellent compatibility.

Mmmnnh, with this rich flavor in my mouth, no matter how much I ate of it, I couldn't get tired of it.

Unintentionally, my cheeks loosen and my drinking pace increased.

I still want to eat but the clean up is almost finished, so I endured and moved on.

First, I must return them to their posts.

Some of the 2000 remaining member from before the [Holy War] are working in the local shop, and some of them were even dispatched from the "Great Forest".

Right now, the members who did not participate in the [Holy war] are doing their best to work, but their workload has increased, just because there isn't enough help.

This grand event has already ended and everyone also had ample rest, so it's time for them to return. The members who have been working deserve some time off too. I will order them to finish the preparations quickly.

As a part of the preparation, we will also bring gifts. A slab of dragon meat is the main gift, but we also added 3 kinds of demon liquor inside bottles and barrels.

Even if we don't meet up, all members will surely enjoy it.

But the amount of food they will receive is low compared to the amount that the participants acquired, they must understand the difference because the guys risked their life for it.

Anyway, we will also return by diving to [Demon's Howl Gate] through the nearest Labyrinth, but this time is very noticeable time. We must split into a smaller groups and sequentially move out.

After that, first I will send a Black Dragon as a messenger to each country.

And then briefly talk about victory and defeat, I will tell them [What a great fight, lets put that into consideration and have a good sleep, when we wake up lets enjoy a good peace].

It's like I'm the [Demon King] that conquered the world---- it truly exists in this world but doesn't seem to have the ambition to do that I think. For now, these kinds of things are nice.

Rather than making plans left and right, the simplest one is easy to understand and easy to deal with if the confusion is happening.

After also giving various instructions besides that, we dive into [Demon's Howl Gate] to [Rock Hero]'s place.

With the aftermath of the [Holy war], the surviving members from both the Alliance forces and the Coalition forces are few.

The [Salvation Warriors] have become white sand, the [Emperor] alongside his subordinates perished, the majority of [Heroes] were scattered.

The ones remaining are [Lighting Hero] who ran away with the help of [Cloud Hero], [Rotten Hero] who has common ground with Aifu, thus overcoming the [Holy War], the [Meal Hero] that I've already captured, and [Rock Hero] who is tied with a secret agreement and has been in the [Gambling House Of Oni's Howl] prior to the event.

Among these 4 [Heroes], Rock Hero is the one I have less information on.

For now, annihilation issues are ordered but I won't give the details and explain it, because it is too troublesome.

But that leave some small problems, even though it is a facade, I have the obligation to explain when [Rock Hero] returns.

Other countries will most probably pursue him because of a suspected relationship with me, so there are many things he has to know.

And after explaining about it, when we dive into [Demon's Howl Gate] to welcome him, we found [Rock Hero] in the place where the previous Avenger participated in the gambling arena.

But, [Rock Hero]'s appearance is quite different than the one before.

He hide his face with Gray ash made by an iron rock mask and shamelessly show off his hefty body with a boomerang pants figure. He doesn't seem to wear any wearable armor-like armor, and is fighting with what seems like an iron rock hammer with one hand.

The enemy is a dungeon monster, the golem species called "Black Dragoyle". A mix of dragon and gargoyle, it's a rock-like statue with a surface dyed with black.

The combat power itself is not that high but, whether because of my presence or not, it seems even though it is a rock statue, it has greater protection than magic metal.

With a half assed weapon, you can't make a scratch on it, and it must be surprisingly difficult to defeat the 3 meter tall "Black Dragoyle".

It has been challenged and has already defeat many.

Not only that, the multiplication rate is high, and it rewards the winner appropriately too.

Why are such "Black Dragoyle" and Rock hero fighting?

There must be something, and the reason lies right in the visitor seat. When we asked to [Rock Hero]'s comrades that seems to have more jewelry than before, it seems Rock hero bet various things in the slot and lost continuously. It seems he bet his body to earn some funds.

For now, it seems he hadn't bet his armor nor has he lost his power yet.

It seems he regained his self-control at the last minute, but to see the serious [Rock hero]s fallen figure reminded me of a certain father elf.

But, father elf is better. He spent on hot spring and massage.

In contrast, [Rock Hero] has fallen into a swamp of gambling.

For now, I will advise him to not fall any lower than this.

After that, somehow I sent [Rock hero] off to the Sternbild Kingdom.

Even when I said sent, it is only diving to [Demon's Howl Gate] to the [Demon Waterfall] in the Empire, it's not that troublesome. They already have prepared a skeleton spider to move him. After several hours, he should have made it to the Empire.

At that time, I asked the Tomboy Princess to bring the gifts.

It would have been better if I were to bring them myself, but if someone confirmed that I have been in the Sternbild Kingdom, I won't be able to escape if they questioned whether I am connected to that Kingdom in the back by other countries.

"Just a coincidence!" is too suspicious, I can't give that excuse to them.

So that's why, until the other countries stop pursuing the Sternbild Kingdom I can't meet Tomboy Princess for a while. That's why I brought luxurious gifts to her.

After that, and doing some chores, I went to sleep.

DAY 342

Most of our members have gone back to their workplace, some, such as I and Kanami-chan remain at the Parabellum HQ to continue work on the aftermath of the war.

I am reviewing the battle results of those members who participated in the war, to be able to distribute rewards accordingly.

There was a lot of work to be done after the war, but it was much simpler with the use of parallel thinking, clones, and members who can handle office work such as Kanami-chan and Red Head.

I am proud that I could make a generally balanced decision, although handling all the [Sacred Treasure] obtained from the war is a little troublesome. Frustration is all that comes to mind.

Do I leave it in my item storage gathering dust? Eating them all at once is also another option. Should I distribute them out to the deserving members?

Distributing the [Sacred Treasure] will raise our war potential, and even though our members are not the original owners, they still might be able to draw out its sealed powers if certain conditions are met.

I wouldn't know without trying first, but if I do decide on eating the [Sacred Treasure], I have no doubt they would be delicious.

Though there are some disadvantages, the pros greatly outweigh the cons.

The possibility of losing the weapon in battle is not something I would want, but if it had been lost the enemy would not be able to pick it up due to it being lent out.

Basically, I decided to lend them out, but I am still debating on who to give which [Sacred Treasure].

Obviously, those that risked life and limb will get priority of ownership.

Well, I am still going to keep more than half of the [Sacred Treasure] obtained in the war.

I will discuss this with members who already own [Sacred Treasure] of their own, such as Minokichi-kun, as to whether or not they want them, so they can decide who to lend them out to someone within their own corp.

Thinking about it that way, it seems that almost all the [Eight Demon Generals] decided to keep them for now.

However there was an exception, that being Aifu-chan, who was immersed in talks about her hobbies during the entire battle. They indeed established a friendship, therefore naturally, we can't say the Hero was brought down by her.

When it comes to the other higher ranking members, Avenger and Netsuki-kun (Blaze/Fire Lord-kun), Redhead and Akitainu; and even Auro and Toro (a Troll from the Slave Army of the Empire) have ownership rights.

Avenger defeated Insect Hero, who was a sworn enemy of fate. It seems his [Sacred Treasure] is unnecessary. I feel nauseous just having it. I can now understand the weight that Avenger carries.

Since the enemy destroyed his village and murdered his lover, he probably hasn't been able to quite organize his various feelings about what happened yet.

Netsuki-kun wanted to have Wolf hero's sword, as a proof of slaughtering the one who once made him a slave. Since he asked for it, I allowed it.

It's also a common point since he's a swordsman, so I'm expecting him to use it meaningfully.

Even though Ring Hero put up a fight with Redhead, his cloths soon became soaked with blood and, at last, he finally gave himself up as she sliced his neck, finally achieving her way to victory. She asked for having it as well, so I approved it.

Since she has been eating my blood and body on a regular basis, even though her body dimensions haven't changed a lot since when we first met, she is becoming much stronger than before.

There isn't a place in my whole body with no scratches, and I've been barely evading a fatal injury until now. Debating over it seems totally unreasonable though, as she won't listen.

Well, since I'm also putting this into consideration, I'm expecting that, with the newly attained strength of the [Sacred Treasure], she will utterly suppress her future opponents.

Akitainu, who managed to almost single-handedly defeat Mask Hero, cutting off his neck at the cost of an arm. Therefore, I also allowed him to possess it.

He stated while bowing his head: [With this, I will devote myself even further and prove my Lord's strength more than ever before.]

This straightforward feelings of him towards me really creeps me out, not that I'm in a bad mood though.

His injured arm, resembling a mashed piece of meat, was treated by Seiji-kun to perfection, though he shouldn't be at full strength.

With rehabilitation and practice, it will grow stronger than before, which eases my mind.

During the battle, Auro was firing her magic gun everywhere, and managed to get a lucky shot and killed the Bird Hero, so she wanted her weapon, something I naturally permitted it.

When testing out the abilities, it seems you can control the surrounding birds like your own limbs using the flute weapon, and temporarily view through their eyes.

This is a benefit to Auro to have an observational ability, especially since her attack style is to shoot from long distances.

At last, the heavy melee fighter Toro, who in the middle of the battle, in a similar way to Auro, managed to get a lucky thrust on Ox Hero, delivering his finishing blow. He wanted to own it as well as the others, so I allowed it.

Toro happens to be a Chief of a 100 subordinates, in the heavily armed unit <Anger>, led by Minokichi-kun. A proud man who boasts a giant strength peculiar of a "Giant Troll".

His style was very similar to Minokichi-kun, by holding a shield in one hand and a large weapon in the other. If I were to give him an ax type [Sacred Treasure], there would be no problems on his end.

This is what is expected in the future.

Well, as I finished distributing, most of the members decided to accept the gifts, but that was obvious from the start.

They are powerful magical items and war trophies of sorts, gained from defeating a strong opponent. You would also want to have it because it might be an upgrade to your previous equipment.

Honestly, it wasn't too difficult as to decide who gets what, because I just went by their contribution to the war. Thus, other miscellaneous work has ended without incidents.

Well, who else is appropriate?

DAY 343

Early in the morning, Minokichi-kun asked me to help him meet the new [Beast King] that was born in the Beast Kingdom.

For the time being, I heard the reason for the visit is: [Lionel and me, we exchanged words of praise in the end]. It seems that its contents are secret as he didn't tell me the details, but it seems necessary for them to meet.

When I heard that, I was convinced that I was wrong to hand off that fight.

I was quite dense at the time.

As a result of betting each other's life and fighting with full power, respect would have been born among the complicated feelings.

And it is natural that the last wishes of such a partner would definitely want to be granted.

Then, could I really call myself a good friend if I didn't help him fulfill that wish?

While thinking about seeing what to do next, we suppressed our emotions and moved on to action.

First of all, it is necessary to prepare a meeting place.

Anyway, the current new [Beast King] Arthie is busy.

Even before Minokichi-kun fought out his death battle with the [Beast King], Arthie, Lionel's beloved daughter, was the strongest among the [Beast Fang Generals], as well as being the strongest [Earth Tiger Beast Fang General. Bifaglog].

Afterwards, through the abilities of [Emperor Psalm], she became the new [Beast King] with [Inheritance of the Emperor]. However, the number of those who are not convinced seems to be high also exist in the Beast Kingdom. At least, from what I could confirm through a diverted controlled body, such as a person who moves only when they have a chance for me to succeed.

The administration of the country will change. A lot of big and small stuff will not remain untouched.

However, it is contrary to the original expectation of the country's direction, it may not be the same as the earlier story, either.

Originally Arthie was nominated domestically as a skilled person.

The fact that her abilities are real relates to the center, or body, of the Beast Kingdom if it is knocked down, so you can understand that even if it is bowled down by powerful rebels, and a part is crushed, it is acceptable as the rebound will be easier to some extent.

Well, as far as political powers, such as inventing policies to enrich the Beast Kingdom, they are unknown as it is not relevant for now, so it can be put aside.

In order to help fulfill Minokichi-kun's wish, we need to work "behind the scenes".

Using my [Clones] and War Criminals infected with my [Parasite] ability and more I enact various plans. It will take a few more days for the plans to be finalized.

Minokichi-kun's request for help was finished to a certain extent, and when it was shortly stopped, Kanami-chan said that she also wanted to see the new [Emperor] of the Demon Empire.

When I listened to her story, it was about the same reason given by Minokichi-kun.

It was supposed to proceed with preparation, but before the former [Emperor] died he talked about his son, who was formerly the first seat of the [Six Supreme Commanders], ^{Hellvii.Via} the [Heavy White General]. As well as with Arthie through [Inheritance] by Vaskia Hyulton's son became the new [Emperor], it seems that this will take a little more time than with Arthie.

Unlike the muscle-brained Beast Kingdom, where most cases can be resolved through force, there are many things in the Empire that cannot be solved by pure fighting ability alone.

Some interests and schemes, as well as anticipation and greed will complicate things, undoubtedly. Before the long-lived [Emperor] died various cases and plans hidden under Hyulton will also come up.

Well, it is normal.

In any case, Kanami-chan will have to wait a while.

I did a few other chores and fell to sleep quickly.

DAY 344

I am still staying at [Ship Ambrasm Parabellum] today.

After early morning training, I will move to the kitchen along with Meal Hero.

The kitchen here is host to a white chef-type dungeon monster, and as it is also possible to obtain special foods and ingredients that raise various statuses temporarily, it is one of the most useful facilities in the dungeon.

There also seems to be a crafter who focuses on the dishes and ingredients here and makes the main work of reselling outside, but let's not focus on that for now.

At this time we only operated a part of it, we were in a private room prepared to not be recognizable from the outside areas.

There are cooking utensils such as cooking stoves that can operate freely with fire, refrigerators that can preserve ingredients, various kinds of knives and pots for meat and fish, and so on.

Other than me and Meal Hero's party, no one is here.

It is not a matter of hiding, but before we go back to the base in the Great Forest, there are things that have to be done.

Exactly, to cook the dead bodies of a large amount of [Heroes] who we have slaughtered.

Before [Beast King] Lionel and the former [Demon Emperor] Hyulton might also "join the cooking", first there's a lot to be handled about this place.

Saying that, today I kept handling it without much eccentricity.

It is impressive that Meal Hero also cooked, moving around the kitchen like a flowing stream, without saying a word of being disgusted about having to deal with the corpses of those who were once his colleagues.

I was a little worried, but it seems that there was nothing to think on now, as long as they are dead anyway, while we are the ones alive.

They are, indeed, an amazing party.

Besides, the [Heroes] clones duplicated by the White Lady don't have anything in their intestines, they are very beautiful and too beautiful to understand that they are not the people they were.

Although this area seemed to be a place I thought to be a bit of a fluke compared to a normal kitchen, cooking still proceeds without any problems.

While plucking and picking the best pieces, the goods cooked at a phenomenal rate will be packed into my item box.

Today wasn't such a bad day.

DAY 345

"While in moderately high spirits, I silently wield the black spear alone in the [Divine Volcano of Oni's Howl]"

The two black spears I obtained after clearing the Psalms are my personal [Sacred Treasures], at first glance I thought that's what they were but they seem to be a little different.

Is it true that this black spear is still growing? Or is it a magic item in the stage just before becoming a [Sacred Treasures]?

The black spears seem to still be in the middle of its growth period, or is it a magic item at the stage right before evolving into a [Sacred Treasure]?

As if it was ripening, becoming a formal [Sacred Treasures] by satisfying some condition and becoming able to demonstrate its true value, such as a substitute for it.

The fact that using it satisfies certain conditions, causing it to mature and formally evolve to a [Sacred Treasure] where it can finally show its true value is certain.

Anyway, first repeat the mold with two black spears.

Anyhow, I will first use these two black spears repeatedly.

The black spears have become as familiar with my hands as if they were there from the beginning.

'Handling the black spears have now become very familiar to me, like they were with me from the start.'

It can be handled with a feeling like that of an extended part of my hand. The weight and the balance of the center of gravity are good, and undoubtedly it will become a companion to be relied upon from now on.'

Handling the spears gave me the feeling like that of an extension of my own hands. Their weight and balance for center of gravity are exceptional, They will undoubtedly be reliable companions in the future.

Just by practicing it for a bit, I was able to be sure of that.

With just a few practice swings, I was convinced by that.

For the time being, I trained silently for about three hours.

After the warm-up I would usually spar with Minokichi-kun but since training with the black spears I felt it to be too dangerous. So instead I am training in my actual fighting form against the Black Dragon Empress that has been enhanced from me being in ownership of the labyrinth/dungeon.

As a result, seeing the Black Dragon Empress' fate, who breathed out her last, I am convinced that it is too dangerous to use the black spears in normal training.

By piercing the target with the [Black Spear Leading to Demise]^{Gedie.Hella}, the area about five meters around it is transformed to something like black sand.

By piercing the target with the [Black Spear Leading to Origin]^{Casty.Heda}, the area about five meters around it is transformed to a red liquid like that of blood.

The Black Dragon Empress who was pierced systematically in various parts of her body by the black spears, has turned into a condition like that of dark red mud other than her head. It is the result of mixing black sand with red liquid. By scooping it up and trying it, the taste is the same, but the texture is smooth and felt improved on the tongue.

I scoop up the substance which is the result of the black sand and red liquid mixing and try consuming it. The result is that the flavor of the Black Dragon Empress has been left intact with improved texture and smoothness when it slides on the tongue.

Indeed, various new recipes and dishes shall be created with this new substance.

I thought that I should refrain from training using them with Minokichi-kun.

While in deep thought I decide to never use the Black Spears when training with Minokichi-kun and the others.

This black spear is deadly if it hits.

Any injury caused by the black spears will be fatal.

Even the Black Dragon Empress did not show much resistance to it, so even at Minokichi-kun's level, it would be just too dangerous.

Sandification or liquefaction occurs at the point of injury, so you cannot reduce its effect even if you want to.

Besides that, there seems to be various other abilities yet to be uncovered, so for the time being I will walk around the [Divine Volcano of Wailing Ghosts] today and hunt the dungeon monsters in various places to unlock and thoroughly understand them.

After transforming many dungeon monsters into the reddish black substance, I return to the bottom of the spiral volcano, I transform one of my silver arms into a blade and sever my right leg at the base of the hips.

The surface of the cut area is extremely smooth as if the cells were separated in a molecular level, its likely that the leg can be reattached perfectly just by placing it back to the severed area.

Actually, if I were to do so it would definitely work. Instead I use [Dragon Emperor's Inexhaustible Life Force] and consume some of my magical power to regenerate the right leg."

Then, after isolating the overflowing blood from the severed right leg I begin observe and study the structure of my own body that has evolved to an [Oni] through my severed leg.

I dissect the leg by cutting of the skin to reveal the muscle fibers, nerves and blood vessels then the bone. Finally I pierce it with the black spears turning the leg into that reddish black substance.

After having a taste of it, I can honestly say that it was delicious.

To put it simply, the flavor of the reddish black substance is on the same class as that of the flavor of [Sacred Treasures] or maybe even higher.

I have devoured parts of myself several times in the past, but none of them have been as tasty as I am now.

I plan on having a meal with alcohol and sharing it together with Redhead-chan later.

For that purpose, I have secured an amount of about three sets of legs.

DAY 346

After finishing what I had left to do here, today I will return to the Great Forest along with Minokichi-kun and the other main members.

As the number of people this time were reduced to only about 10 people, consisting of Kanami-chan, others other than Demons, Redhead, the children, along with few others, we were able to enjoy traveling by air for a while, riding Tatsushirou.

By the way, I ordinarily flew within the Demon Empire, but unlike before, we were not tracked by their soldiers.

I wonder whether it was an influence of the backlog of the [Succession to the Emperor] as well.

I was able to come back to the Great Forest in the afternoon, after recovering a few flight-type monster we shot down.

Although it seems that the green is deeper than before, while not having seen it for a while from the sky, it is clear that new developments are spreading around the base.

However, rather than treating trees without care, it is structured in a way that allows you to see how you can easily live while taking full advantage of nature's topography.

Although trees which would otherwise interfere with traffic are cut down, more than a certain amount of nature is left, making it easier to live with and protect.

Originally a base used by the Orcs as <Mining Sites>, now it was in a state that could appropriately be called a city inside the Great Forest.

While feeling satisfied with the base that is steadily expanding itself, we land on the <Airfield> at the top of the summit that has been maintained.

After giving a chunk of Dragon King's meat to Tatsushirou who is a little tired after the long flight, and stroking his face covered with rough, scraping scales using my silver arm, we took a special large sized Skeleton tramp - very distinguishable from others - and rode downhill on the skeleton train.

The skeleton train is used by hundreds of people who can ride along the marginal rails that has been laid in the internal base, proceeding almost gently without any vibration.

Incidentally, the rail has increased more than before, and now it continues all the way to <The First Coal Mine> and so on. That's one of the new facilities which pioneered a mountain a little ways away to collect mineral resources, but rails are still being placed.

It would be good to even take a quick ride around with Gulli to confirm the changes made to the base because he came back, but in the meantime we decided to go back to our house.

While I made this home I've hardly ever slept in it, but because blacksmith-san lives here, I usually get the feeling that somehow things are settling down.

After having some time to organize our luggage, blacksmith-san returned still wearing her work clothes after wrapping up her duties since we came back.

Behind her, came the cooking sisters wearing their aprons as well as accompanied by the female knight, who has just finished training. Then Doriane-san, who was in charge of the education of her subordinates, already had them start to work on their own, and alchemist-san is present holding Nicola, my second daughter, who has already learnt a few simple words.

Since they had been informed beforehand of our return home, they had started to finish up their work after confirming the appearance of Tatsushirou.

I was glad to come all the way back to see the others, so I decided to spend the rest of the day in the mansion forgetting about other chores, while talking about a lot of other things the rest of the day.

Because of the rare opportunity, and her being the only child the with a slower growth rate, comparable to that of human children, little Nicola could not outright leave the child care contact of her mother, the alchemist, so now she sat cross-legged on top of my knee, while I was touching her soft cheeks and limbs with a "Puni-puni" sound.

I could not forget that I am a parent and indeed it is still a shock, but Nicola doesn't show a displeased face, on the contrary she has a look as if asking for some pampering.

Or, perhaps it's the tattoos on my body that are far more interesting, she might be impressed relentlessly as she come to touch them with a "Peta-peta" sound.

Or maybe, because she was born with [Job. Crest Master (Crest Maker)], she might be instinctively drawn with some interest.

Even after they've all grown up, I will not forget the skinship with my other children such as Auro, Argento, Oniwaka and Opushii while thinking about going around various places with other children.

In ordinary days, training drills are strictly followed, so we should let ourselves be spoiled in these relaxed times.

Today was a day filled with homey feelings.

DAY 347

After doing morning training with the children, we go around the base with Kanamichan and two demons.

The expansion of the base is continued on a daily basis, becoming an even more fulfilling place than ever before.

Nonetheless, there is plenty of room for improvements. Because it's always being used, it's at a stage where it's easier to find and correct any problems.

After checking out several places to a certain extent, I've decided to go towards the <Parabellum Hot Springs Village>, crossing beyond an inner wall built as to not let outsiders enter, where people other than members come to gather,

Previously, only elves were coming to use here.

Such as Father Elf and his daughter, now enjoying the unchanged hot springs, as well as other good neighbors, all of which are steeped and soaked in pools, swamps, and our newly introduced gambling hall, or melting in the paradise called oil massage.

As intended, <Parabellum Hotsprings> is a place designed for keeping good neighborhood relations on the table, it also becomes a place where you can stably secure items that only some elves can make, such as Mithril and secret medicines. It has since been growing smoothly.

Such is <Parabellum Hot Springs Village>.

But recently, the number of people coming up from elsewhere has begun to increase.

It's mainly composed of sub-populations who live in remote places in the Great Forest, as well as minority tribes of beasts who wander through border areas tied with countries such as kingdoms and empires.

Although it's not in my best regards to spread the information too much, nowadays the base defense is perfect, and also it's possible to prepare bases in a variety of places if it becomes necessary, so we aren't thoroughly regulating information as much as we used to.

We are wary of the likes of a "grass spy" because it divides once, and if we get problems, we plan to solve it with the use of force, but at the moment there seems to be no need for such concerns.

Anyway, such changes are a thrill.

I looked around to some extent and slowly headed for a hot spring.

Today also was spent leisurely, as I fostered my spirit.

DAY 348

The frontier and neighboring countries of the Holy Kingdom are gradually beginning to act.

The shock of the "Legendary Defeat in the Holy War" rushed through, and the faction that was lurking in the darkness of the chaos began "crawling like a worm".

I will express it as such, as it will take more time to grow into a bigger fire. Now, I think that a small ember is glowing.

I will leave things at Holy Kingdom at that for now. For today, after morning training, I decided to take my children hunting in the Great Forest.

However, already the monsters living in the Great Forests aren't a threat.

I can get away with an encounter just by lightly waving of an arm, and my opponents cannot even tear a thin piece of skin even if attacked with my defenses lowered while receiving a full force attack.

On the contrary, if we do not assimilate the surroundings to the extent that we do not notice even if we are in front of our eyes, it is in a state where one insect is gone.

Although the children have not reached that level yet, they can easily slaughter a group of Hind Bears by themselves, with only slight margins of going sideways.

Nicola being the only exception. I cannot allow myself to come in contact with any kind of danger, because I'm also carrying her piggyback with a golden thread's cord.

(ED: Ovarou is talking to his children here, below. As he gave his children their weapons, he refers to those as gifts)

Therefore, even if I say it's a hunt, do not use any of your usual gifts today.

The only gift we have this time is the bow and arrows that the elves made.

Use this to hunt monsters while hiding signs of your presence.

Although there's a sense of hunting by only wielding a bow & arrow, but hunting is not the only purpose of being here.

There are many points to learn other than pure battle, such as finding traces that can be created when wild monsters pass, making their own traps using plants found in the Great Forest, identifying things that can or cannot be eaten.

Children and later generations are educated through various forms, but still tend to be biased toward crude combat.

Here we also incorporated field training, as their ability to survive when isolated is at a level that is still worrying for me as a parent.

Knowledge is put in, but whether it's practicable is another problem.

So as the time presented this opportunity, let's take advantage of it by actually taking the lead.

And in case anything happens, I decided to come back to the base at dusk, but the hunting outcome went well.

Fourteen "Double Horned Rabbit", carrying a bigger body and wielding two protruding horns shaped as if the corners of four horns were put together to create two horns.

Eight higher-species of animals "Black Iron Armored Tanuki", which were darker and harder versions of Armored Tanukis.

Six birds of the higher-species "Poisonous Cocco", which could be described as purple Big Coccos, that could give birth to eggs every day in the base.

Twelve senior high-ranked colorful "Filled Up Rainbow Bat" which were bigger in size when compared to the Seven Colored Bats, as well as having more colors.

In addition, I was also able to do plentiful amounts of things.

This was somewhat nostalgic, but it seems that the slightly different prey found shows vividly that the Great Forest is growing.

I triumphant delivered today's hunting results to the sisters, and gave a hand with the cooking, while being guided by Meal Hero.

I thought that it might be delicious even from the smell stage, but if you were to eat a bite, it proved itself far more delicious than one could imagine.

Everything was delicious, but the one I liked in particular was Black Armored Tanuki's steak.

What is being used is the meat from the back right under the hard crust, so that it is softer than other parts used to absorb impacts, yet it is thick or thicker depending on location.

Such meat is made to pass much better through fire as a whole, it is made medium rare to enjoy the difference between the red middle of the half life and the burned surface, and if it wasn't enough already, the sisters' special made demi-glaze sauce is put on top of it.

Overflowing in one bite is its rich and mellow taste. Even after eating it, there's a strength to its taste, in a way that you are able to perfectly describe it after leaving your mouth.

As I eat this dish cooked by skilled hands and the accumulated knowledge, honestly, I wonder whether its deliciousness is able compete with Red Bear's place at the Great Forest, this is really nostalgic.

And with the teachings of Meal Hero, our sister's cuisine came to improve by this much, I must say I'm expecting a lot more in the future. If we used the dragon meat which is a far superior ingredient this time, it most certainly will be close to perfection.

Munch Munch Munch Munch, while eating the black crustacean knobs with fried chicken, I try my best to honestly describe my impressions.

Yeah, good delicious food sure is nice.

However, there's a possibility of ascending as this is just too delicious... I wonder if that would be ok?

DAY 349

Today I finished morning training and went out for hunting with my children.

We used bows and arrows yesterday, but this time I decided to use the horn rabbits' horn to remember the old days.

The corners that can only be used to stab, and with a length of about a dagger, the horn sure is nostalgic, reminding me of about a year ago.

Or perhaps, I'm still amazed by everything that has gone down since a year ago.

Normally, it would take several years or even decades to experience it all, but honestly that's how I feel.

Well, I wonder if I will repeat the same things from now on as well.

I take a break and walk around for a while.

The children seem to be taking too much time getting used to it, that seems interesting.

Argento, who praised Auro and Oniwaka, who seemed to be enjoying themselves happily, was struggling. Opushii was straddling jewels while her animal beasts ran around, and being carried on my back is Nicola, who is drawing some patterns on the corner with the magical power sent out from her fingertips.

In such ways, they basically act in a lively manner, quietly disappearing and reappearing from time to time when they find a prey's signs.

The basic performance was good, even though the children were unfamiliar with hunting, they still managed to succeed and, unprecedently, we reached the elves village by simply walking in the forest.

I had recently come to the elves village before the Holy War. But as I'm here anyway, I decided to go to Father Elf's house.

I haven't even contacted him, but as he was saying [Please come at any time without reserve], so lets make some souvenirs out of the harvested prey this time. Or so I thought, apparently Father Elf is out.

It's disappointing, but it seems after all he is in <Parabellum Hot Springs Resort>

While saying it couldn't be helped, I handed the souvenirs to a servant elf, and when I tried to go home, Daughter Elf came out from the back and took me in for a reception.

Because they would be tired otherwise, we stayed for some snacks served with tea. The snacks are vegetable-based, and the children seemed to like it as some also used the souvenirs. A lighthearted and delicious meal.

While watching it, I changed Nicola's diaper, and proceeded to eat the meal that was cooked in advance directly from the item box.

I usually left that to alchemist-san, but as I was watching how to do it separately, I thought it sure is a bit handy, but it is still in place.

I also stayed with Daughter Elf while talking about the Holy War.

When I wondered about time, about 3 hours had passed. I decided to go home before dusk came, because it was too slow.

At that time, we also left three kinds of demon liquor placed in newly-handmade bottles.

Sudden visits are not a disagreeable, and it is a nice return in which we got a consideration given the fine details.

While thinking that it was a meaningful day, I tasted the sisters' cooking, after being supervised by the Meal Hero.

Oh, no... A safe base with hot springs and delicious food.

I can't resist but feel a little depraved.

DAY 350

Since training is likely to be unsuitable if the environment is too easy, I will pair with Minokichi-kun for the morning training.

We begin our assault at the bottom of a hole that was dug deeply so as not to damage our surroundings, repeatedly punching and kicking only with pure physical ability.

The hard, huge fists of Minokichi-kun are perfectly resistant to damage, and if you actually accept its damage, there is enough power for your meat and bones to be crushed. If you deliver a poorly placed kick, it will be blown away by his defense and you will find yourself devastated by a continuous attack of angry drilling waves that keep searching for a fatal gap.

So I bear that in mind and try to parry, or break his posture, as much as possible but here so also there has been improvements to his techniques compared to earlier, so that the only way to fight would be to change from any anticipated behavior.

And anyway tough, muscled armor would have received most of the attack's blow. So I focus on attacks that penetrate deep into his system bit by bit, but it seems even that is not very effective.

Overall I had already won, but since there is no big difference between the amount of damage given by me and the resilience of Minokichi-kuni, it will take some time to set in.

For the time being, I went straight to lunch without resting from the morning sparring, so my whole body was sweaty, muddy, painted with the blood, and covered with blue bruises.

If I also leave Minokichi-kun as he is, he will heal quickly on his own. I then decided to go to the hot springs in order to feel a bit refreshed.

At the entrance of the hot springs is [Demon's Hot Water]. As you slowly soaked and wash your body with the chitin, the accumulated fatigue inside melts away, like a dream.

There is a feeling that even small injuries of the body will heal with the effect of the hot water, along with a feeling to being born again. Although it's a bit itchy.

As I think that, I leak out a voice of ecstasy [Ooh]. Minokichi-kun also seems to be comfortable, taken from his likely [Bumoo].

While I soak leisurely there, I drink Demon liquor along with a knob made of cloned Heroes. I kept soaking lazily in the hot springs until around noon.

Ability learned: [Piece of Wisdom]

Ability learned: [Existence Degradation]

Ability learned: [Heroes Pedigree]

Ability learned: [Replicable Hero. Replica]

After drinking, I was able to learn some abilities from the pack and the knobs, it's good progress.

Well, I had been eating a good number of them. I thought it was about time.

So for this time's learned abilities, both [Heroes Pedigree] and [Piece of Wisdom] are easy to use, but for [Existence Degradation] and [Replicable Hero] it seems they need to be used in a special way.

I will think about it on another time, for now let's wait while I finish eating the rest of it, perhaps I can even learn something else.

I had been chatting with Minokichi-kun and two other demons while soaking in the hot springs for a while, when the topic comes up, Minokichi-kun's [I want to meet the current [Beast King]], who heard the topic just a few days ago, so we speak roughly about the preparation for its conclusion.

Surprisingly it was easy to work everything out, speaking of being able to departure at any time, Minokichi-kun said he would go to see [Beast King] Arthie tomorrow, straight away.

Because we decided Asue-chan will advance with him to the front, it will be enough if we prepare one dragon beforehand rather than their marching by foot. If you fly, you can arrive much faster than overland.

But before that I came up with another thing I wanted to do, so I got out of the hot spring and took the [Labyrinth Seed] from my item box.

The [Labyrinth Seed] obtained by winning the [Holy War] is a suspiciously shining black jewel of the size of a palm, with magical powers that seem to drag in the gazes of anyone around.

I will plant this in the yard of the mansion for the time being.

Then, numerous black crystals rose from the place the seed was planted, and a tube extending from the crystal body pierced my torso. Soon after, not only an enormous amount of Magical Power but also even a little portion of my [Divine Power] was vigorously drained by the buried seed.

It feels like being deprived of life force itself from the depths of my body, accompanied by a terrible malaise, and an unpleasant sweat started pouring from my whole body.

After a while the tube was pulled out and the drains momentum weakened. Apparently it seems that an invisible connection was created, leaving a feeling that the crystal body is continuously draining me.

For the time being, I repeatedly invoke several abilities, and while I recover by also gulping down the hot water of the hot springs, I summon a [Demon's Howl Gate] as a test.

Then, a [Demon's Howl Gate] was formed in front of the mansion.

Yes, it shouldn't be possible to build a [Demon's Howl Gate] if it's not inside of a labyrinth.

Basically, the Magic Power and the [Divine Power] are not enough yet, and since it was just born it's still not perfect, but the base has become a place like a naturally enclosed type dungeon, due to the [Labyrinth Seed]'s effect.

However, due to the lack of energy, it doesn't mean that you can freely set the settings as you'd like. Well, as time passes that problem will solve itself, so it's time for a long trip.

Still, I never thought that I would have my own dungeon that I could build from the ground up.

I'm really glad we overcame the [Holy War].

It has become really convenient, such as traveling with this.

Or also other various settings aside, I need to recover magical power until tonight to try pouring it in.

There are more things to do, it is likely to become busy from now on.

DAY 351

After finishing morning training, and enjoying the dragon meat dishes Meal Hero and the Sisters made for me, I saw off Minokichi-kun and Asue-chan, happily diving into our base's [Demon's Howl Gate].

The two demons headed first to the [Demon's Howl Gate] for the [Ship Ambrasm Parabellum] whose exterior has changed in appearance, to one of a luxury liner.

[Ship Ambrasm Parabellum] is still anchored in the vicinity of the Labyrinth City <Dur Gha Varia> which is still in contact with the ocean, for the sake of convenience.

I mean, it can be said that there were only so many options.

After all, there are only two places where you can move by going through the [Demon's Howl Gate] in the Beast Kingdom - [Ship Ambrasm Parabellum] and [Holy Seafood Cave Of The Fierce God].

[Holy Seafood Cave Of The Fierce God] is the closest to land, but the entrance is underwater. It might be possible if we're talking about the lung capacity of those two demons, but because of their race it might be a little bit weird for both to be in water. At the end of the day, it all depends on their races' nature.

The two demons boarded that ship in such a way, and should go toward the land after equipping a magic item called "Crossing Shoes of Watercolor", a shoe type that enables its user to walk on water, in accordance with the navigation given by the minute clone bodies in their ear cuffs, as inconspicuous as possible, I have been planning to go to the location specified while acting similarly.

However, to say that for these 2 demons is not possible, as they tend to stand out with such huge forms.

If a presence of such a magnitude like a house moves, it will be able to recognized if it is not too straining on the imagination of a person.

Prima facie, the two demons have ways to hide the signs of their passage gained from the hunting experience of coming from the Great Forest, so they are still better than normal demons from having mastered that. Although that could be enough for too long ago.

Speaking of being inconspicuously noticeable, they can only be referred to as very noticeable.

Being noticed is unavoidable there, but I was engineered something so as to hide what Minokichi-kun really is.

The method is rather simple.

A camouflage is spread thinly across the entire bodies of the two demons, only to disguise the true appearances by changing its shape.

No need to waste the time and effort in doing so, as it would only be unusual to recognize a couple of beings from a rare giant species. Even so, this is Minokichi-kun, so even in that form he would attract attention, subtlety could not be attributed to him.

There would be no real issue unless he is recognized as Minokichi-kun, after that, he just has to complete his goal and make a quick retreat.

Even if there was a problem, whatever that would be, the blame would fall on the giants who live in the Beast Kingdom.

By the way, because the power behind the camouflage is so powerful, a strong enough existence could still forcefully pierce that shield, but I have not thought that far. It is much less likely to encounter such a presence, and if they did the only choice left would be to give up.

Anyway, thus the two demons, so disguised, go forward towards their destination.

Also, our Labyrinth business is doing well, <Dolphin's Tail. Darfime> is progressing smoothly. It would be even more so with a helping hand, but considering the future of <Dolphin's Tail>, I shouldn't be involved at this time, because I would like to be in an unknown position as much as possible, now that this place has a certain relationship with us.

inclined.

In the first place, there isn't such an existence in the surroundings to become a potential threat to both of the Demons, so even the thought of being worried about it is laughable.

While praying that Minokichi-kun will accomplish his purpose at the time, today I will worry about the base that has become a labyrinth.

While trying not to fiddle with the artificial base labyrinth, that has already spread all the way down to [Velvet's Hidden Dungeon], as much as possible, I adjust the nutritional balance of the <Large Farmland>, so that from each direction in the base characteristics of spring, summer, autumn and winter are easy to get out. In the <External Training Grounds>, members' stamina becomes easy to increase, so I can try to push their limits as much as possible.

However, there are not many things that can be done here. As long as there aren't many problems to be taken care of, there's always something left to be desired and so on.

But this is also the present condition.

Currently, I am managing the labyrinthized base, so there are two patterns of energy sources that are sustaining it: my [Magic Power] and my [Divine Power].

Until now, when I fought and conquered the previous Dungeons, which had been plundered using [Dungeon Plunder], I was basically using my stored [Divine Power].

So I never really considered the current issue of a possible energy shortage.

But right now, the [Divine Power] is not enough to set up a complete labyrinth, so [Magic Power] is the main source of power for the operation of the base.

[Magic Power] can be easily recovered by using my abilities, but although it is possible to pour a considerable amount at one time, its efficiency compared to the use of [Divine Power] falls far short, so it's still a matter to struggle over.

If you try to roughly quantify it, 10,000 units of [Magic Power] would be a good estimate of what is required for one of [Divine Power].

To run a labyrinth with [Magic Power] alone is not realistic, considering the hardships.

Well, here natural hot spring came springing up, and various other useful ingredients are mixed in, so there are far better conditions found in this place compared with other locations. So here is indeed a good place for having such a dungeon.

Yeah, it's just a matter of time needed to solve the power shortage.

For the time being, I concluded that there's no need to be impatient about it, so I decided to eat one of the [Sacred Treasure], as they also serve as a replenishment for some of the [Divine Power] which was used in the Holy War.

The chosen treasure this time, is the [Tampering Spirit Club of Numerical Formula] that I got from defeating the Number hero.

If I were to describe it in a few words, they would be: a white club of about three meters long - or a white bar, this [Sacred Treasure].

A jewel like a red fruit is buried at both ends, and a distinctive geometric pattern which is reminiscent of a tree is engraved around it.

If you look closely at the pattern it is a small number or symbol, it may be some mathematical formulas, but I honestly couldn't understand it.

When lightly shaken, red light appeared inside the jewel, some thin like figures appeared around it.

Also I try to spin it round and round a little, but nothing in particular happened.

To get a feel of it, I tried using it for a while. The surface like a white tree is grinding slightly, but the grasping feel is not bad, there is also a good weight and balance that is reasonable and easy to handle.

It can be used as a beginner's equipment, and it doesn't require much skills for handling it, so it's a pretty user-friendly [Sacred Treasure], isn't it?

I basically get how to use it, but I still didn't know what was the deal with the red light.

So while trying things, I tried to tap the rocks around me, and the red light instantly permeated them, making the rocks turn to sand, as if they were so from the beginning.

While a little [Oh] of surprise, the next thing I try to hit is another rock, this time it disappeared in the blink of an eye from the spot.

Honesty, I still don't understand how it works. I just cannot understand any of it.

Well, the ability of the [Sacred Treasure] is mostly such as that, but I will not waste time thinking deeply about it.

For the time being, I decided to experiment a little more before eating.

By the way, if you check its performance using the [Upper All Appraisal. Tool. Magic item], it goes as follows.

Name: [Tampering Soul Club of Numerical Formula]

Category: [Sacred treasure / Long-handled Weapon]

Grade: [Phantasmal] class

Abilities: [Tampering Soul Club of Numerical Formula] [Treasure of Numerical Formula]

[Mathematical Alteration] [Forbidden Fruit Arb]

[Transient Phantom Dream] [God's Love Mathematical Formula Irma Vel Usu]

[Eggs of Numerology] [Pagan Damnation]

[Capacity Expansion] [No Penetration]

Note: Yatendouji who gained a victory over <Pagan Heretic / Psalm awakening's epic Away training / main character main cast> and the [Eschatological War Conquest War] [Phantasmal] class item obtained by victory in Kami.

Gods that exist in the world will take one of three forms in <sacred treasures / ■■ / ■■>, which one of these with a shape reminiscent of the World Tree.

It is only Yatendouji himself or a person who receives permission from Yatendouji who can touch this, unimaginable disasters will befall those who touch such an item without permission.

Because it is a sacred treasures, destruction is absolutely impossible, except for special exceptions.

Would you like to see more information?

<YES> <NO>

It has become like this.

Unlike the [Sacred Treasure] that I got from overthrowing Avenger and Water Hero who are both [Heroes], the column of abilities is evidence enough that the ability has evolved to its full extent.

In any case, the phenomenon that occurred to the rocks the previous time is also due to [Transient Phantom Dream] or [God's Love Mathematical Formula Irma Vel Usu] around manipulating the probability to derive some sort of formula. As a result, the idea is that the rocks would become sand or just disappear.

But as I've said over and over, I do not know for sure. It would surely be difficult to know what it would do to trees.

Because it is troublesome, I will forget the details, so I threw it in my mouth to eat.

As usual, the [Sacred Treasure] is really hard and I have to be continuously chewing, "Gori Gori Gori", but it is a habit to say a bit of texture and chewiness can be enjoyed for a long time.

And finally it gets slightly scraped, and from the fragments sent to the stomach past the throat, the absorbed [Divine Power] courses comfortably through my whole body. A mysterious feeling that each new cell of my body seems to be born again, as if a new self is being built.

And whether it's from the pattern reminiscent of a tree, but basically, it has the taste of a "Tree Cake Baumkuchen".

The part of the jewels at both ends are like an apple, the part with the formula seems to be made of chocolate somewhere, sweetness like the elegant finest maple syrup is felt, and features as a different sweetness for each part. Even if I eat it for long a time, I just can't get tired of it.

To be honest, of all the sweet tastes that I had eaten in this world, [Tampering Spirit Club of Numerical Formula] was by far the best.

[Ah ah ah ~~~]. It seems that the insides of my brain will explode with sweetness and a feeling of happiness, there is something difficult to express with words at this time, ones that you can spend time on fulfilling both mind and body together.

Even if you get interested in drinking water between moments of chewing it, you are unlikely to stop chewing because it brings out the merits in both.

Truly amazing. Because [Tampering Spirit Club of Numerical Formula] is full of taste, I will enjoy it from the beginning to the end.

.....Well, if there're any drawbacks, it would be its length.

I think that it would be a very surreal to see me eating a club of about 3 meters of length.

DAY 352

Just in case something was to happen and the [Labyrinth Seed] gets targeted, I will leave several clones of myself buried underground in the surrounding ground.

Currently, I'm the only one in my division who has become a [Demon Overlord] by using the dragon meat as nourishment, so I'm quite confident the clones will be able to defend it even if the likes of an Emperor comes.

Until then, it is now time to tap with the base's settings.

Or rather, with the limited amount of energy I got there's little we can actually do.

Well, as the remodeling of the base is carried out by the same members as before, there's no reason to be frustrated right now or try rushing things.

Time will solve everything eventually.

After finishing some things I had to do, today I decided to peacefully focus in a quest for [Worm Toxin] using the summoned bodies of Black Skeletons.

For the time being, I couldn't settle down so much, so I had left the task to some of the undead people with summoning abilities, but after such a long time the pattern was largely exhausted and it was getting a little stagnant.

Of course, not all of it was bad.

Through trial and error, repetition is important to produce a certain number. As an outcome, the production of reinforced individuals has increased, and it can also be said that their fighting power has been raised.

However, since the range that can be summoned is larger than before, the number of combinations that have to pass through trial and error has also increased.

Because I had time to spare, I've decided to try with a little more effort.

Achieving [Existence Evolution] seems more difficult than usual, but it's known that the time limit specific to the summoned creatures will disappear as they evolve, so it's quite an efficient method of securing war potential, so I wanted to deepen my understanding on it.

With that said, all that's left is to watch our large crew together with Kanami-chan as they summon, and to contemplate the battles of the creations that unfolds in the large hole, all at the same time.

Even so, it has proved to be quite a good idea to spend some time jiggling and drinking alcohol, in this way.

Recently, all I had been doing was being busy regarding the Holy War.

I finished post-processing and let it unfold by itself, therefore it's time to just enjoy and relax.

[Ability learned: [Tampering Soul Club of Numerical Formula]]

[Ability learned: [Treasure of Numerical Formula]]

[Ability learned: [Mathematical Alteration]]

[Ability learned: [Transient Phantom Dream]]

[Ability learned: [God's Love Mathematical Formula Irma Vel Usu]]

[Ability learned: [Eggs of Numerology]]

Safely, as a result of continuing to chew, munch munch (sfx), I was able to learn those.

I was able to relax, plus my Divine Power and the number of abilities have increased.

I wish I could spend more days like this.

DAY 353

Following yesterday, I decided to work on experiments using the concept of [Worm Toxin].

Inside the large hole created for the [Worm Toxin], located in a dedicated space towards the back of the base, there are dwelling not only black skeletons, but also devils of many shapes, a wide variety of demon species, as well as small sized dragon and giant species. It's currently being filled more and more with them.

Creatures generated from [Lesser Summoning: Undead] and [Lesser Summoning: Giant] instinctively charge with their full force in order to kill the enemies in front of them, only stopping when they die.

Those generated from [Upper Summoning: Demon], [Great Summoning: Archfiend], and [Summoning: True Dragon] make use of their higher intelligence and flexibility to judge the situation of the game and also to kill the enemies running at full power towards them.

I ordered them to only kill others different from their own kind, but after all, as the number of tribes that kill each other keeps growing, lots of drama is bound to occur.

All of a sudden, a Black Goblin who was fighting using the black skeletons' bones dies after receiving a blow to the head from an axe swung down by a Black Orc, which had been approaching from behind.

One eyeball vigorously jumps out, with cerebral plasma scattering around. Clunk (sfx). As it falls to the ground, the sound from the black bone is drowned out by the surrounding battle noise.

The Black Orc who killed the black goblin immediately tries to pull out his ax, but whether it took him too much time or it was sunk too deeply, his heart gets separated from his body, impaled by a three-prong living spear handled by a gray lesser devil, who used that chance to close in the gap.

Nearby, eyeballs and internal organs spill out with every movement of the sharp cutting edge of the bladed tail and bladed claws as an undead Vorpal Bunny continues his terrible hunting, charging in from blind spots to throw out deadly blows. On the other end, a shielded neck-less Dullahan knight picks himself up, otherwise he would have been shamelessly crushed.

It's a yellow-haired demon who finally cuts down the undead bunny to dead meat, vigorously scattering it around without much effort.

Wielding in its hand, a zigzag shaped living sword reminiscent of lightning bolts. Similar to the blood-sucking Bloody Sword, the Thunder Devil Sword is a kind of devil sword superior in both stroke and swordsmanship.

The lightning stroke of such a Thunder Sword is prevented by the Dullahan's shield. At the very moment the shield and the sword come into contact, an intense lightning attack strikes the Dullahan. Although, it doesn't seem particularly effective against him, as he immediately fights back.

A trade-off that the opposing Dullahan and Thunder Lord are willing to repeat dozens of times in between the blink of an eye, a breathtaking tension that is only compensated by each new slash.

As I'm watching the fight while also enjoying myself with a wonderful sake and, frankly, finding it rather funny, the last remaining forces are exhausted by a small Fire Dragon's bracing at the very end.

The range of its breath is wide, and the giant cave with only a depth of about six meters, full with the likes of goblins, giants and other punks that flocked around, is brought to ashes, as the bottom of the large hole became a sight similar to a burning hell.

Not only are there those who burned to death due to the high temperatures of the fire, but many also suffer from lack of oxygen.

Well, if you were to release something like that in an enclosed place, it can be said that's just the natural outcome.

The creatures who until now had survived in the large hole finally lost it due to the unbearable heat from the fire, falling down one by one. At long last, the small fire dragon who remained alive uttered its victory shout.

Considering there was no movement whatsoever, being cautious appeared to be of no use anymore. Anyone with eyes could see that the small Fire Dragon had won.

Suddenly, however, the small fire dragon is impaled by what appears to be countless sharp clawed tentacles protruding from its own shadow. Brimming with desparation, it tries to get violent, but its efforts are useless as its whole body is already entangled and restrained by the octopus' limbs. And unexpectedly like that, it's killed.

Being caught off guard after 'winning' leads to a last minute death.

Thus, the surviving one this time seems to be this "Horta Devil of the Altar of the Devil".

The Horta Devil has the ability to lurk in the shadows of living creatures, having octopus-like tentacles coming from its back, and with the appearance of a black clergyman, it possesses the ability to use the souls of those it killed.

Although its physical prowess in combat is not very high, it's still a nasty category of devil, as it has access to a variety of magic and special abilities.

I take out the winning Horta Devil and instruct him to rest for a while laboring. Then again, I put the next generation into the large hole.

For this case, Kanami-chan also helps, but since she can only summon undead, I took care of summoning the other generations.

After that, we just repeated almost the same thing until sunset.

We also let the kids, such as Auro and Argento, be an opposing party but, basically, they proved to still be not enough when facing the effects of [Worm Toxin].

DAY 354

Minokichi-kun is crushing a group of bandits and thieves found along the way, at the same time looking for derived dungeons, but he seems to be proceeding smoothly.

Also, I plan on meeting them in a few days.

Because it's all going well, this time I will touch a little bit on the circumstances of each country.

Or rather, I have nothing special to tell today.

Anyway, first the Sternbild Kingdom.

There is no particular problem here.

A messenger arrived from Holy Kingdom, bringing news about the earlier Holy War, and that's about it?

Next is about Kirika Empire.

As a result of losing a large number of [Heroes] it found itself in a state of generalized uproar, although their original ranking still remained, among the six who were lost, four were [Heroes] actually captured with [Fate Plunder].

In other words, it's the loss of a strength to one that was originally an enemy, so the only painful costs of the Crusade were losing two [Heroes] who were born and raised in the Empire, so they are well off.

It seems that many things are happening in their politics, but it's of little concern to their neighborhoods.

Next is about the Atarakua Demon Empire.

In the Atarakua Demon Empire, the new [Demon Emperor] Vaskia is steadily resolving the situation without the use of force.

Well, there is a lot of fraying going on.

If I were to speak in detail, it would take too long as well as being too troublesome, so I'll say for now that Vaskia will eventually become the governor, but that will take a little time.

Next is the Estgrand Beast Kingdom.

The cracks here are already starting to stabilize.

If there is any turmoil, the new [Beast King] Arthie immediately goes to handle it with Iron Fist Negotiations, a process that repeated itself many times over.

A muscle brain mentality prevails there.

It goes without saying that the person who has power rules everything.

Next, is the more distant kingdoms.

The current location of the kingdoms, aside from the above mentioned, are mainly across the other side of the Holy Kingdom.

Also, there are small countries across the Great Forest that oppose the Kingdom's domination, but decided to do so in a later occasion.

Distant countries were frightened of the mighty Holy Kingdom. They were inferior not only in number of [Heroes] but also in their quality, so it would be inevitable to be so because of the simple difference in both national strength and the average quality of their typical soldiers.

In this case, they're trapped between considering to continue subordinating themselves to the Lumen Holy Kingdom or forming a coalition against it - the demi-human are in the <Haizekus Alliance> and the military countries in the <Harendia Federation> - but they are a jumble as such. Anyway, knowing the outcome of the [Holy War], various changes have started to stir up.

That said, it will still take some time until it comes the time of the actual shake-up.

At that time, the target will be the Holy Kingdom above all.

Finally for the Holy Kingdom.

Because of the black dragon I had already sent, the consequences of the [Holy War] are known at this time by the majority of the people.

Therefore, chaos is raising within the country. With the country being so wide, the scale is much larger than in the surrounding countries.

Governance has greatly been upset for church officials, which are also the nobility and spiritual pillars, now as to the surface issues, soldiers have been assigned to work on keeping country-side quiet, but for the people who have been annexed in lost wars the splintering movement has begun.

Having sensed it, the Holy King has immediately dispatched his most trustworthy subordinates to various places in his nation.

Lumen Holy Kingdom has lost a large number of [Heroes] but is still a powerhouse in itself.

The number of people with [Divine Blessing] that have the potential to become the [Heroes] of the next generation is also still large, and they also have a large number of soldiers in their fighting force.

Dangerous signs can be seen, and soldiers are being preferentially deployed to such cities where it is likely to happen something in future, they seem to be trying to douse the fire before it becomes a conflagration that will burn up the country.

Some things will still slip through the cracks, even with that much preparation, but with the competence of Holy King, the mayhem may be smaller than expected.

Well, I think world is already gradually beginning to shift.

Regardless of the intents and desires of individuals, the world continues to move.

DAY 355

After finishing the morning's training, we decided to go fishing in the third largest lake in the forest where the elves called <Alebasla>.

Alebasla is located in the place where four rivers flowing from various parts of the large forest cross each other, it has a reasonable size and depth.

The water is moderately clear, and I could see a variety of large and small fish shades swimming underwater. Besides fish, I could also confirm small crab-type monsters and aquatic snake-type monsters, so it might be interesting to fish around the area here.

Beneath a blue sky that was clear and serene, we entered the shadow created by the branches of trees spread overhead, waiting and baiting prey with a fishing rod produced from the Labyrinth while sitting in a chair installed next to the lake.

While listening to the hum of insects and singing birds in the distance, the time was going past in quite a relaxed way. In times of peace, it is not a bad way to pass the time.

And because there seems to be no lack of prey that take bait from the hand, the fish that we caught were almost uncountable, the sisters handled them on the spot.

The river fish "Renbomasu" which seemed likely to be 40 centimeters is cleanly removed of internal organs, and set side-by-side on a skillet in front of the charcoal fire.

The only seasoning used is salt, and having put fat on top of them, like only those that have trained cooking with charcoal fire knows. The smell drifting from the rainbow trout that were cooked over the charcoal fire piqued my appetite until the feeling was intense.

Gulp, I involuntarily swallow my saliva.

Whether or not that also aroused their appetites, the others follow me fishing one after another, Kanami-chan and Blacksmith-san, Female Knight, Dorian, Oniwaka, Opushii, Auro and Argento were also fired up.

Alchemist-san has also come along, but Alchemist-san is sitting on an outdoors couch hugging Nicola.

So yes, today also serves as a sort of family service.

This is why, I spent it enjoying the barbecue and fishing.

DAY 356

Crunch crunch, while eating a cloned [Heroes]' knob, the [Shogun Kobold] Akitainu and Ramura of the [Thunder Dragonewt] come forward thrusting real weapons while I just have two prepared alloy clubs for training, with a look in their eyes as if fully prepared to die if necessary.

Akitainu has in his hand a large sword type magic item called [Moon Heavenly War Wolf] given to him previously. An incredibly sharp blade, that has the ability to generate a warrior-like slash as beautiful as the moon.

Ramura-san has in her hand a living body spear with the general shape of a Naginata^[1], because she clad herself in a purple lightning, it's become a lightning spear that is deadly for most organisms, and if you touch it, you can get burned from the inside out with an electric shock.

Both of them are serious, and the weapons they wield are sharp enough to bisect the training alloy clubs that I have.

For that reason I do not take their attacks directly, always meeting them by knocking them off to the side.

Besides the violent attacks of both opponents approaching from the front, I also have to deal with two demons poised at my back, Netsuki-kun and Fuuki-san, who approached from behind while moving and holding back the tremors made by the other two.

I only use the two alloy clubs. The remaining two silver arms I'm not using are also not supposed to use abilities or an of my other capabilities, they just hold another three meter long alloy club.

Distract. Repel. Entwine. Take down.

Being attacked from all sides, it's still a battle I continued without receiving even a single blow.

When a chance appears, I launch an attack under Akitainu's chin, then drop down to hook the foot of Ramura-san, put a thrust against of Netsuki-kun's stomach, and slap Fuuki-san on the ass, blowing her away.

Since I've been too sloppy recently, today I am only training with members of the executive class, letting me get a feel that everyone's level is rising compared to before.

Wooden clubs were enough in the past, but it's already necessary to use alloy ones.

There are many points that still need to be fixed, but since I changed the gifts they used, their before and after cannot be compared.

Then, for a while, I gathered together Redhead, Female Knight, Kumajirou, Kurosaburou, Rinbo-san, one of the neck-less Dullahan knights, Gladiator King, Boss Monkey, and the preying mantis insect Iss Haa-san, anyway, those of a certain level or above. The team members were assembled and we went into another training party.

Although that alone had crushed the day, while realizing the real growth in these people, I left them all dead tired- but obviously not going as far as to leave anyone actually dead -, making them go beyond their usual exhaustion.

Even if this time I was stricter, I would go as far as burying someone in the ground if necessary.

Maybe... Probably... Surely.

DAY 357

As a continuation of yesterday's severe training, I decided to get down to work with the treasure magic items after making the morning training even harder.

Just for the fact they had a free hand, the Blacksmith-san, Alchemist-san, and the Sisters rose to the occasion as assistants.

As I had the experience of being a peddler in my past life, I honestly appreciated the help of these four people.

Blacksmith-san focused on items like armor, ores and such things among it; as for the magic drugs, mixed ingredients etc were handled by Alchemist-san, in the case of the Sisters, they handled the food, fibers and so forth. Because each specific field is divided, sharing went smooth.

Thankfully, while actually acting by and expressing that behavior, I continued to fill in the book with information about the treasures, taken from treasure chests gained by defeating dungeon bosses and some level bosses, while also setting the obtained items at my side.

Well, because it had been just roughly classified in the past, this time I planned to go into a more organized and finely way, with more details to each one.

It's safe to say that it would be better to keep it more frequently organized, but because of the sheer number the task would only prove itself to be bothersome, but recently it's become more of a burden not having done it yet.

Should it be fair to call this karma?

Anyway, I removed everything from my item box, organized it, and repeatedly stored the items in my item box again.

There is also a wide variety of magic drugs and ingredients, both in kind and number, and because they are used more frequently, they are preferentially selected to be set aside.

There are also some goods like armor at a level that I think it's still too early to distribute to our members, as it would give too much of an assistance, so there might be a problem if I were to release them too quickly for the general use.

In addition, there are a few other matters, but it would be too long if I were to go into detail about it.

To go into the other contents of the treasure boxes obtained from the Age of the Gods Dungeon boss and level bosses, as the number is also too high this time, it would actually be better to go into details when it becomes necessary.

Today has gone away too quickly. Tired, I just tiredly immersed myself in the hot springs.

From now on, I will try a little more frequently.

DAY 358

Today's morning, early enough that the sun has not risen yet.

Minokichi-kun safely encounters the new [Beast King] Arthie, and their meeting developed into a battle, that he perfectly won, so having done that he began the return to base.

I received this report almost at the same time as waking up in the morning, thus I was a little surprised, but also convinced it was true.

When I was told the full story, it seems like Minokichi-kun heard from the former [Beast King] Lionel at that time. [Could you accept meeting my daughter, and show her what's like to be "on top"? Without killing, if possible, for now please overlook her existence] Apparently, he spoke of such things at the end of their battle.

Apparently Lionel wished that his beloved daughter Arthie would grow accustomed to a stronger one, also so as to not be self-conceited, and so inducing that she ran into an enemy as formidable as Minokichi-kun.

I also think as to always direct myself towards breaking my limits, but Lionel held that belief more like a faith, in which strength is righteousness, and perhaps had wanted to know a strong enough presence that was strong enough to defeat him.

Death meant you could only reach up to that point. The experience of survival becomes the driving force for the future.

And so I thought, I wonder if such a thought of Arthie went through Lionel's mind in his last moments.

I don't know if he was acquainted with such feelings, but that aside, Minokichi-kun battled and won.

Confirmed through a small cloned body, every one of Arthie's bones ended up fractured or cracked, the internal organs were twisted or ruptured, muscle and skin is torn or split apart, with massive bleeding both internally and externally of her body. She seems to have reached a critical condition of being half-alive.

Although her life had been sustained by a tremendous life force, but left in her current condition, even that force was certainly not enough to keep her alive.

But after Minokichi-kun was done with her, she was allowed to recover with a secret elixir of labyrinth production, and if left to rest for a while, a complete recovery with no after-effects is possible, so it should be rather fine in the end.

However, with that level of injury, movement shouldn't be possible any time soon, even if she is healed.

Her whole body wasn't able to move properly for a while, just her consciousness was directed towards Minokichi-kun.

Lying on the ground, Arthie is looking up at Minokichi-kun with respect. Minokichi-kun, the one that killed Lionel, even while carrying Lionel's former [Sacred Treasure] - [Strong Beast Spirit God. Birusuforuga], she has a look that seems to say "If you want, come and challenge me again", or at least that's the how it looks to me.

Minokichi-kun's intentions can only be roughly inferred, but he did not dare to listen to her.

Whether or not Minokichi-kun does have an idea, I just decided to believe in his judgment for the matter.

Although there was a shocking report to start off the morning, there has been nothing else that is particularly unusual.

Because the day was to be spent on training, I let members form groups to rise up to challenge me.

Training that began in such a way was carried out at the <External Training Field>.

This time I am armed with my halberd on the right hand and my cursed spear on the left. Basically I'm just using these two, because I do not have anything on the left and right sub-arms

For everyone else, they have their serious battle equipment on.

This time things will be quite serious, so Seiji-kun has been asked to be on stand-by so that people can be treated at any time.

Once the preparations were ready, it was to be quickly started.

A harsh feeling is spreading throughout the whole body, while the natural shallow breathing becomes a rapidly one.

Even a word is not spoken as the body and the palms don't speak for themselves, as cold sweat spouting from the whole body run down with a tsu tsu.

Countless veterans gathered in the <External Training Field>, while thickly surrounding the one Oni, already envisioning the end of their own fights.

You're pierced if you stay put, you get crushed if you jump forward, and crushed if trying to rush forward.

There's a difference in the intrinsic feeling of training that can only be brought on when fighting for your life, so I change the level for each person, raising it to the limit for each person until they are left throwing up blood.

But, still, the veterans are using their new weapons.

He stifled his fear and charged his chief, even after he accumulated countless defeats.

“Sheaaaa!”

A shout rise from what appears to be a beast, as the Redhead equipped with her shining armor [Platinum General] precedes alone.

The distance between Redhead and Ovarou is shortened in the blink of an eye, as she, while clad in a red phosphorescence, fiercely swung down [General's Large Cleaver] on her right hand, with the momentum of her sprint.

- Battle Art: [Sacred Beast Bloody Judgment]

Only one who possess [Job. Sacred Beast Eater] can release such kind of Battle Arts, its destructive power is tremendous from their nature itself, that full power can be achieved in just a single blow. If it hits directly, even for example a dragon species or the such would be instantly slaughtered.

Because of being fully concentrated in that attack, it could be said there is a drawback that the defense becomes neglected.

Although Redhead is reducing the gap while holding the [General's Kite Shield] in front of her with her left hand, it is still possible to say that this choice of action is almost a desperate suicide attack.

Understanding the presented situation, Ovarou smiled slightly. When looking at it, the slash was aimed at his neck, a slash faster than the speed of sound. In addition, Redhead also appears to be smiling.

Ovarou swung the cursed spear in his left hand against that beheading attack.

The spearhead collided with [General's Large Cleaver], and on a second moment the colliding forces deflected slightly in a different direction. The shock produced from the collision was almost nonexistent, so Redhead's body was only slightly pushed away.

That merely produced a small gap, but Ovarou didn't miss it, using the halberd in his right hand to [Foot Sweep], hooking Redhead's right foot.

Not being entirely aware of what happened, Redhead's response to the attack was barely delayed, which indeed led to her fall, but before being able to take a passive attitude, Ovarou cheerfully approaches in pursuit, while trampling down.

“---gasp ka-thump! ka-thump! ka-thump!

Although barely avoiding it by rolling in succession, it continued like a giant hammer with such destruction from overlapping [Hammer of the Earthquake], which generated a small earthquake, with [Earth-Crushing Cane], that triggered as he continued trampling down relentlessly.

Knowing that just being trampled down was simply inexcusable, Redhead becomes desperate while getting covered in mud.

However, because the ground is shaking so much it becomes hardly able to move, and it would seem she is going to get herself captured in just a short while.

“My lord, prepare yourself -tsu “

This time, Akitainu comes assaulting from the right side of Ovarou, who is aiming for Redhead.

Seeing that gap Redhead retreats, as the sword blade [Heavenly Moon Wolf-Warrior] wielded by Akitainu draws an arc aiming for his torso.

Being slightly faster than Redhead's previous blow, it was an exceptionally sharp blow, however Ovarou killed the blade's momentum by clashing with his halberd, directly repelling the blade even as it was.

And without missing that slight delay, Ovarou threw out a kick forward at his opponent.

Akitainu twisted himself in an attempt to avoid it, but it was impossible to do so, because of the golden thread that was ejected from the toe of the attacking foot, successfully restraining his whole body.

"Remove! This... Now grunt ptooey!!! "[*Ed note: ptooey = clearly the sound of someone spitting something out*]

Recognizing the golden thread entangling his body, he decided to prepare for the inevitable, first Akitainu used one of the abilities of the [Mask of the Sealed Soul Perudiosu. Maskarade], which had been equipped as a helmet - [Ballroom Mask Massive Kaleidoscope]. It softened his own body.

Originally, a mask is a tool to become something else.

If you can master the [Sacred Treasure] [Mask of the Sealed Soul] of [God of Masks] it is possible to not only become another creature, but also turn into sand or liquid. It was easy enough to escape from the golden thread restraints.

It can not be said that Akitainu is very good yet at commanding the mask, but he managed to make his flesh flexible enough, as much as a slime's, that he was able to get out somehow.

And like that, the softened Akitainu moved his abdomen on the trajectory of the incoming kick.

Not only it softened his flesh, but also his living-armor which covered his body, so he judged the receiving damage to be lesser.

Receiving a powerful unmatched kick on the hard living-armor, he managed to dissipate the shock using his entire softened body.

And then, if there's blow, he shall put up with it, and Akitainu accepted the attack while in weakened state, fully prepared to even die if necessary.

However, as Akitainu was not allowed to be blown away due to the entangling golden thread, the power of Ovarou's kicks dug deep into him so that the impact smashed into his internal organs, penetrating beyond imagination.

The living body armor becomes greatly deformed, with the softened Akitainu's body being bent into the shape of "Ku", extending even more the possibility of being cut a thousand times.

Broken bones throughout the body, the skin throughout the body is dropping away, if he is really wracked by severe pain and shock, like having his internal organs put in a blender, death would normally come after this, and even if one survives they will be crippled and near death.

In fact, Akitainu has almost completely collapsed and been crumbling before the eyes.

“Gufuggeboo! ---falls over Not... Yet! “

In spite of that, Akitainu pulled himself back to consciousness through his fighting spirit and started vomiting violently from the mouth, but that didn't stop him from moving, and still trying to shake the [Heavenly Moon Wolf-Warrior] again.

The remains of his arms are softened and bending like a whip, managing to move the tip close to the speed of sound.

Ovarou grabbed that whip vice arm of Akitainu with his remaining right hand, and in the next moment the figure of Akitainu disappeared.

He was [Thrown] without even giving Akitainu a chance to react.

As Akitainu goes flying over the stone gravel ground, Ramura-san passes by there, rushing past with a living body spear shaped like a Naginata. [Ed note5]

“Shwip, tsu tsu”[Ed note: sound of wind when something passes by in great speed]

The total weight of Akitainu with such a heavy set of biological armor sums up to his speed that more than lightly exceeds a hundred kilometers per hour, as it is coming horizontally towards the ground with plenty of momentum.

If directly hit, even if it was the hefty Thunder Dragonewt Ramura-san, there wouldn't even be one scrap of that person remaining.

Therefore, from the beginning, Ramura-san did not even try catching Akitainu.

To avoid that, she threw herself down to crawl on the ground.

The wind of the Akitainu passing overhead lightly ruffled Ramura-san's hair, and far behind there was the sound strangely resembling a slime slammed to the ground.

"Whew..... Haaah - Gulp!"

Ramura-san's avoidance of the [Thrown] Akitainu was superb, but she was also blocked by the stature of the Akitainu passing overhead, leading to her losing sight of Ovarou after looking away.

After the figure is gone, there is no sign of her target when her visibility is clear again. Still, Ramura-san's kept to her instinct, and threw herself forward in a moment.

While moving slightly slower, as if thinking an attack was going to come over her back, Ramura-san's body suddenly got blown away as if it had received a direct hit from an explosive shell, making the delicate figure of Ramura-san to go crumbling and rolling over the ground.

Without missing a moment after her loss of sight, Ovarou moved behind Ramura-san and attacked with the back fist of his left sub-arm.

"What? This is, Oh, I see. Did she use an electrical discharge to weaken its momentum?"

Ovarou's back fist was strong enough to kill, or at least break the spine and ribs if hit directly, but the power of the hit had only been able to crack some bones.

Ramura-san, who was supposed to have been rolling around violently, immediately rises up using the momentum of the blow, only taking a moment to frown with a pained expression.

Although it was Ovarou who wondered for a moment, as soon as he had delivered the back fist, Ramura-san had coated her back in purple lightning to shave off some of the power from the hit. [You did well. It was a good judgment.] His face broke into a smile as he was impressed with her move.

“Ha aaaaa Ha aaaaa!” gasp for air

“Waaaaaaaaahhh!!!”

Female Knight and Rusty Iron Knight approaching from Ovarou's left and right flanks, both launching an attack using Battle Arts.

- Battle Art: [Merciful Radiant Samurai's Cherry Blossoms Storm]

- Battle Art: [Battle Beast's Iron Fangs and Claws Attack]

Taking away the will power of those who were touched by her light, it was a continuous piercing attack harming the [Spirit].

Continuous slashes like fangs or claws from a four-legged beast come without interruption from him.

Both are powerful Battle Arts that repeatedly attack in succession with high power, but the charge is entirely blocked by the halberd and cursed spear that move at high speed, preventing them from reaching Ovarou.

Female Knight and Rusty Iron Knight keep their hands moving and do not let up in their attacks.

The aim of the two is to train their sword skills and see if they have improved when compared with their past lives, so they throw themselves at the weapons of Ovarou.

If Ovarou has any weapons equipped, when even unarmed he is lethal, his entire body becomes a lethal weapon. Whether it is possible to seal his movements, it becomes a priority if you want to pin down Ovarou.

Because the focus of the training was on weapons, Female Knight and Rusty Iron Knight attack in angry waves. But the tide is noticeably being overturned, gradually increasing the scars on their arms and legs.

“Tsu Tsu! Kuuuuuu!!”

“Groowl Ooo Waaaaahhh!!!”

Female Knight and Rusty Iron Knight let out groans of pain.

They desperately endure the attack, but Ovarou increases the speed of his attacks, with his continuous attacks appearing like a muddy stream, thus passing through their slight defenses. At that moment, they each received a [Rounded Up Uppercut] from below, launching them into the sky.

Even though managing to prevent a direct hit using with each of their shields and equipment, they still found themselves helpless in the air and are blown far away.

"Ukyee Ooooooo Oh!" monkey screaming

At that moment, the Boss Monkey leap from behind Ovarou.

The aim of the Boss Monkey approaching unarmed was simple. It was the only way he could see that slightly gave him a chance to bind Ovarou from behind.

Just like Redhead's, this was a second "suicide attack".

"Hummm... sigh!"

"Sister Auro, keep on shooting! ~Tsu"

That said, typically the Boss Monkey's desperate move would have been ended in a vain death.

The left and right sub-arms are still vacant, and nothing else was visible to Ovarou from behind. There was no way to catch Boss Monkey who came grasping from behind.

However, in order to disturb him even further, explosions by Auro's magic gun and Argento's silvery white and gold partisans were aimed at the sub-arms, much like a burst-fire.

"Oh, I cannot raise my arms because of their shooting. However, there's still a long way to go for them. Yet, this is very sweet."

It is Ovarou who rejoices in the growth of his children, but he is not so enamored as to standby by and let himself be attacked without fighting back.

From his vice arm he can usually shoot from the fingertip a rarely used black cursed bullet - [Curse Spell Shoot], to intercept the approaching magic bullets and partisans.

[Curse Spell Shots] - which were like black shots, as well as magic bullets exploded in the sky as astonishing fireworks, sprinkling out in a colorful flash of light.

The partisans bounced away from the impact, being sent flying like meteors.

"Kikiki!"

The Boss Monkey screamed, while receiving the shockwave of the blast.

The defeat of fellow who risked his own life for the benefit of his companions, because the covering attack was not enough. That left them feeling powerless, done once and for all.

In other words, Ovarou was ready for the Boss Monkey by the time he recovered, in a prepared posture.

That was the same as a kind of suicide.

"~Hmph"

Ovarou changed one of his sub-arms into the shape of a shield, increasing its strength with [Shield Wall], while also overlapping invocations of [Shield Bash] and [Back Attack]"Leaning Mine Afterglow" -unleashing this alias "Leaning Iron Mine. Tetsuzankou" attack at the Boss Monkey.

Boss Monkey attempts to defend with its thick arms, but it's meaningless.

Both arms are bent with the pressure, blown apart while the whole body flew away. Its momentum is stronger than any other, and the spray of blood turns into a blood cloud as he is leaving orbit.

With the death of the Boss Monkey - obviously not dead - something of a waste, those who remain also attack with the remains of their vigor, but in a certain sense the dominance of Ovarou obviously did not collapse.

Next, both Netsuki-kun equipped with [Wolf Fang Spirit Sword] and Iss Haa thrusting with both of her sickle arms, but they found themselves repelled by the halberd and a spell just like a replay of the past fight. [\[edit note4\]](#)

Female Knight, along with the 'resurrected' Akitainu, let out a beheading slash from a blind spot, but, being aware of everything, Ovarou wasn't hit by it.

Ovarou stopped short Oniwaka's fighting spirit fueled attack with just the tip of his finger, and the two jewel animals that Opushii had released were left trampled into the ground.

As the [Spirit Axe of the Sand Ox] ^{Nusutufu Rabyusu} swang down on him, he decides to target Toro's heavy jaw floating atop its big frame, applying terrible strength to it. Then, he sent Scarface's bone body flying, which should have been greatly strengthened from intense training.

As he gets playful, the Kumajirou that usually fatally rushed at enemies was thrown away aside, while also stroking the three of heads of Kurosaburou which were coming to attack from all directions, rocking their brains.

For the sake of defeating Ovarou each member puts all their efforts into the challenge, but they were left with the feeling that the wall they had to break through was endlessly thick.

We ended up repeating that training over and over again, gradually getting the training grounds heated up.

The first participants had an easier time, but for the second half, Kanami-chan, with Burasato-san and Supesei entered the battle. The border between life and death became quite delicate up to the last minute.

Those three Oni were for sure willing to kill me. If it wasn't for me being myself, I would have died without a doubt back then.

Anyway, training with a feeling of being too overwhelmed was initially intended only for some of the top teams.

Still, there was a repeated need for me to hold back because of the gap in strength, so I eventually decided to try to go back to fighting with my bare hands for the lower members of the group, such as with five member groups and ten man leaders.

Well, rather than fight, it would be more accurate that I was actually lightly playing. It couldn't be called anything else, since a gale would occur with one swing of my hand.

However, I was still able to gauge the power of the leaders which was long-awaited, while trying to fight with the leaders of five-men teams and the leaders of ten-men teams.

Since it would take a party of 100 members to almost be a suitable training partner, I prefer to focus on my Birthday Festival - because the long-awaited birthday is approaching, there are plans for a festival - I wonder if it will be just as good as the previous entertainment?

Today's synthesis results:

[Black Octopus Ink that Should be Avoided] + [Acid. Bubble Breath] = [Black Octopus Bubble Acid that Should be Avoided]

[Fireproof Mucus Secretion] + [Violet-Blue Fluid. Iolite Liquid] = [Fireproof Viscous Blue Fluid]

[Black Undead Night Cross. Black Knight Cross of Immortality Group] + [Blue Shrimp's Steel Shell] + [Indestructible Armored Castle Shell] + [Multiple Shells] = [Unbreakable Armor of the Demon God]

DAY 359

Today I spent the morning with Alchemist-san.

Speaking of what we are doing, we are experimenting on how to reproduce the tastes from my memories.

Normally the Sisters would be the ideal ones to approach if you want to reproduce the taste of a certain dish since they are the ones who are more experienced with food.

But this time, the Alchemist-san is more qualified.

- This might seem abrupt but do you remember the first thing I ate since my reincarnation?

It was white, well-rounded, soft and fatty, and filled with plenty of nutrients.

Yes, it was a caterpillar.

From the cave that we once lived in, caterpillars were relatively easy to obtain by digging into the wall.

I suddenly missed its taste, but after finding and eating one of those caterpillars, it had somewhat thinned in flavor, I mean, there was no depth to its taste.

Why is the taste different? I can only tilt my head and wonder.

However, if I were to really think back on it, it feels like the caterpillars I'd previously caught had about the same taste. At that time I did not think too deeply about how they taste or especially care because there were not many options to eat like there are now. The difference is much clearer now that my tongue has had more experience with food.

- I wonder why that is, exactly.

When I use the [Old Demon's Wisdom] that I had obtained from the old man goblin, it seems that Gobujii had made a dilution of a special poison, called [Goblin's Poison

Arrow] to give to the caterpillars.

Doing so adds a mellow taste to the caterpillar, it seems to become thicker and delicious just like trout.

In other words, that means that what we were eating at the time was not an ordinary caterpillar.

If poison is required, the Sisters and Meal Hero would be outside of their areas of expertise.

Although Meal Hero is capable of making medicines based on the food itself, as one would expect, asking him for poison would be unreasonable.

That's why the Alchemist-san, who excelled at its production method, was singled out.

Having in mind reproducing such a taste, I used a mortar made from Rembara stone that had a surprisingly long history as well as a [Rising Drug Efficacy] effect, grind up a liquid made from an "India" tree found in the Great Forest. Added to that were some kinds of poisonous plants which are native of this region, that had been left sun-drying for a few days. Among them were leaves of "Wild Anxiety Ansebi", roots of "Spinaceous Igurashisa" and fruits of "Real Death Isshimi". All of which were ground together into a paste.

In the clan we were born in, the [Goblin Community of Small Devils], this magic item was something that the oldest person had to take over for many years.

Previously it was a product that Gobujii had chosen as his favorite, but ever since Gobujii passed away, nobody had used it, leaving it stored in a warehouse, forgotten.

If you were to look at its effects alone, there are plenty of better items available so there was no reason not to store it in the warehouse.

For this time though, I think I will first try to replicate the product to that same effect, so I'll be pulling that item out of the warehouse and use it instead.

That way, we can just get to see how to raise its production efficacy many times over, so in the future there may be no need for it anymore, finding its end inside the warehouse.

Anyway, I was there to advise Alchemist-san, and continue to occasionally help with the work.

Although I can work comfortably with the poison around me because it has no effect, I truly believe that, since the preparation is quite difficult, if even one mistake was made in the formula then it would've meant death for Gobujii.

Anyway, it took a few hours of struggling while adjusting the concentration by pouring water in.

There were plenty of failures through our lack of experience, and we ended up having to redo it several times.

The bastard of a poison was almost impossible for the Alchemist-san's processing ability to figure out, but she said that she was happy to try and at the same time I vowed to create a success and was apologetic.

I did not want to end up with a failure.

As I became accustomed to the process, I finally felt as if I could figure it out - it seems like it did come out as a poison in the mortar - which is apparently referred to as [Goblin's Poison Arrow] - after collecting it, we reduced it to a certain amount.

[Goblin's Poison Arrow] is used afterwards, mixing it with just a sap of a highly detoxification solution poured in a mortar, as its poisonous contents are lowered.

Then a white smoke rose from it while producing a Fsshhh sound.

I pulled the white smoke into one place using [All Creation] so that it does not damage the surroundings with its toxicity. We then proceeded to add water to the mortar.

Before long, the white smoke started gaining more momentum.

The smoke decreased after a little while, leaving the remaining poison changed from a blue to a light blue. Reaching this point, the toxicity is weak, becoming a poison that is of little to no use.

In the mean time, several dozen caterpillars were dropped in.

Slowly consuming the poison out of the mortar, the rapidly growing caterpillar blossom.

When the poison is almost eliminated, I removed the caterpillar and gave it a quick wash using [All Creation], then ate it off with a crunch.

Its jelly-ish squishy body provided a reasonable elasticity that was like a cooked shrimp, juicy and rich fluid fills my mouth.

It would be inferior to the dragon meat. Not even winning out to other labyrinth ingredients.

But it does remind me of the old days, a kind of nostalgic taste.

Since the procedure has been found, I think I will try to mass produce it and distribute them to everyone. Since it is likely that Alchemist-san will help with the mass production, we will have an easier time with it.

DAY 360

I am wielding a knife at the Sisters' place today.

Next to the figure of the Sisters, who were dressed with aprons, is the Meal Hero's party with a counter-top in between them.

The Meal Hero's party prepares the main meal, while the Sisters follow their orders while also getting cooking lessons when time presents itself.

This time, it could be said I am more of a hindrance here, really.

[Seaweed Cooking Nabe. Tangurea Potter], [Cookware Cooking Utensils. Cooking Ozeru]. These are [Sacred Treasures] class cookware, possessing such effects as [Seaweed Cuisine - Full Mastership] and [High-Grade Seafood Cooking], and so forth.

Since the cooking of a decent amount of food had mostly been done by now, they set aside some time to teach the two some things.

I also have plenty of time, I thought with myself.

I liked cooking and had been doing it for a decent amount of time, so I had been helping whenever possible.

However, it seems there is too much of a difference when it comes to the top level of cooking.

They used a rapidly flowing process. Their site of control runs in second long increments. The difference was too clear taste as dishes come out with a slight difference in tastes.

They use various bits of techniques to vividly dismantle every ingredient. Charged with maximizing the taste of each ingredient. Servings come out showing their ingredients deliciously.

There was also a variety of dishes, but as I had imagined, there were some dishes here that went beyond what I had thought was possible.

Moreover, it seems the Sisters have reached that top level of cooking.

In the future, it may be better to just stop lending a hand here.

It can be harmonious if we're talking about just a small dish, but at dinner time I must just be seen as an obstacle.

There are many things that I have to think about, but I can still enjoy the delicious cuisine.

DAY 361

He is the chosen of the [God of the Sun], the [Hero of Sunlight]. The village in which he was born and raised was destroyed along with all the villagers that had been living there, including the one he dearly loved, leaving him with nothing but a vow of vengeance.

His real name, Sigurd Ace Sven. The first time I met him was in front of his murdered lover, and we ended up fighting when he was in the grips of his rage and need for vengeance, but I was able to escape without being totally swept up by it.

His eyes were dyed by hatred at the time, so that all around had been seen as the enemy.

Once he reached the state of [Mad Warrior Berserker] he mounted an attack, targeting anyone, regardless of their being friend or foe. Even though I was already an Apostle Lord at the time, I was attacked by his runaway rage.

However he was dominated by feelings of anger and his movements were monotonous and linear, but they were certainly faster than normal because he was running at full power, with no thought of the consequences. It was a simple matter to deal with him, because his movements were so easy to read and, with only speed going for him, the fight ended with his defeat, with barely any struggle as a result.

Afterwards he returned to his senses, and asked for the power to get his revenge, signing on as a subordinate with me.

After that he trained from day-to-day, along with new companions who he met through many twists and turns, leading to the battle against the enemy [Insect Hero] in the previous [Holy War].

After he prepared his part of the battlefield, hiring on a huge number of magicians, up to the last minute, while wounded along with my companions, they killed the [Insect Hero] that had become a variant of a huge Insect demon, letting his revenge play out brilliantly.

After finishing the [Holy War], he departed alone in order to visit the tomb of his lover and, separated from his colleagues, a couple days passed. This morning, he returned to the Great Forest base with the sunrise.

Coming back along with that sunshine, he seemed to have become a different person.

Before, he had worn a constantly gloomy atmosphere, a man who was honest a wet blanket.

In his eyes dwelt a light stained with revenge and madness, a consciousness honed towards the targeted revenge, but still sharp enough to hesitate in approaching the evil.

While greedily seeking power, in a certain field of battle there had been a day-to-day heated discussion led by the Rusty Iron Knight.

He was a man who lived for just that purpose, constantly pushing towards his revenge.

However, after returning home he had no such purpose left, the [Hero of Sunlight] had become a good young man who welcomed the fresh morning sun.

Honestly, I cannot hide my surprise in the transfiguration of that first sight.

Who is this guy?

"Good morning, master. It seems that today will be a nice day." That was delivered with a refreshing smile, and I reacted defensively.

Wow, what is this bad feeling?

There was a sense of discomfort that left me with goosebumps.

Eyeing the person in front of me with suspicion to figure out whether or not he is a fake, I observed him thoroughly and in detail, listening to the various stories surrounding him leading to the conclusion that, apparently, this is how he originally was.

This means that he is no longer the Avenger, who had only focused on revenge, you could say that he has regained the original appearance as the [Hero of Sunlight] chosen by the [God of Sunlight].

But it is still a change, and not a fake.

If he was, the minute body [Parasite] would be missing inside Avenger. The level of darkness in him has returned to a more stable balance.

There is also a dark atmosphere around him at the moment, it can be seen that the existence of his Ying and Yang balance is formed from the dark part along with the newly formed light.

Like the two sides of a coin, there are two sides to anyone.

If you do believe so, I am convinced that it's that kind of thing.

I was surprised even in the morning but, taking care, tried fighting his new balanced self in the morning training.

Defeating the [Insect Hero] seems to have further raised his base level ability, letting him become even stronger in the future.

After completing the training, and enjoying lunch from the sisters who carefully crafted the taste, I later changed location along with Kanami-chan using the [Demon Howl Gate] to reach [Holy Seafoods Cavity Of The Fierce God].

Using the [Demon Howl Gate], we exited in a submerged cave, a certain room that I've created.

Here, members can leave the [Demon Howl Gate] which is installed in the center of the room. It is a square room of about thirty meters and the entire area was prepared in order for them to move freely through the water filled [Holy Seafoods Cavity Of The Fierce God].

Since, basically, only clan members can access this place, there is no road that leads directly here so that an outsider cannot wander in by mistake, so there is no way to enter or exit the room except through the warp gate.

Kanami-chan and I came here, through such a secret room, after preparing for a day out by ourselves.

Kanami-chan's race does poorly underwater - there's a danger that she will unconsciously freeze the surrounding area with her cold - so, after receiving it earlier and letting it remain in my item box, we decided to go with [Vesper's Outer Shell: Octorp].

This is an [Ancient] class magic item that we received by clearing the previous [Frontier Psalm[Vesper Octorp]], with an effect that seems to cover the wearer in an exoskeleton in the shapes of a High Octorp.

This is a transformation that can work without problems in the water, but this time it was very much different from before, creating a different shape.

When I used it, it was shaped nearly like a High Octorp, but now it fit closer to the female body for Kanami-chan to use it.

The head comes with something like a coronet tiara made of shark bones, it grows tentacles like an octopus and moray eels from the back, and the lower body is spread casually like a dress in the shape of a sea anemone.

Although the upper body does not change much, Kanami-chan gained a kind of atmosphere such as a queen that rules the ocean, which I don't mind at all because that is little different from the everyday, but it is more of a thicker presence.

I tried thinking of my options for a moment but as I couldn't come up with a better idea, I have settled on wearing [Thundershark Dragonlord's Scales] that was already part of [Equip Exoskeleton].

Even if we were spotted by men and women from any age range there would be no problem, they would have only seen two people using strange magic items.

In addition to this, we triggered the ability [Aquatic], and started moving with Kanami-chan using a warp gate.

Our destination is quite a ways towards the back from the original entrance, where pillars of rocks made a compartment that created a shadowed overhang.

You should be careful when using a warp gate, as to being cautious so as not to be seen, just because there are people who could take advantage of any opening they can get to.

Thinking so, we moved around quickly to confirm no one else was around.

There was no sign of any other people around, and it seems we were not seen by anyone either. Being filled with peace of mind, I looked at whether Kanami-chan felt the same, but she seemed a little surprised by a strange feeling that suddenly appeared in the water.

Using [Vesper's Outer Shell: Octorp] she was able to breath easily, as well as being able to swim faster than a fish using the lower body part.

Still, after practicing with the [Vesper's Outer Shell: Octorp], we went on to collect several food items while enjoying our sea dating.

Since I've been here before, I know the different types of food-based items at hand, the number of fish-based monsters that swim around are more than enough, such as seaweed and shellfish. The amounts and variety are also in abundance.

We spent a large amount of time as a result of continuing to collect the noticeable items. About two hours, so the item box was stuffed with a large amount of food.

In outline, I thought it would be good enough to spend our time like this: an elaborate, fancy, and normal underwater date for us.

As a small school of fish swam by flashing their beautiful scales, it created an interesting sight to watch, leading to a good atmosphere.

After that, Kanami-chan and I returned to land and spent the rest of the day relaxing.

DAY 362

Early in the morning, after spending the night in a luxury hotel named after the forest base Kikoku -it would be easy to recognize our base - we returned after a morning of training. After I had eaten I went to the <Workshop> where the Blacksmith-san's worked.

In the <Workshop> the craftsmen swung their hammers while streaming sweat, with the constant sound of them breathing life into metal resounding while scattering sparks.

The most important work of these members is maintaining our weapons and armor on a daily basis, and today my main job is to help the Blacksmith-san.

Like before, in the same way as not having the culinary skills to help the sisters, I could not directly lend a hand to the Blacksmith-san working at the smith's.

From Blacksmith-san's level of expertise, it would be like barely putting my foot a hair's length in, like an amateur.

As for what I can do, so far I have taken in about dozens, if not hundreds, of the magic metals that were mined and taken from each dungeon into my silver arms, making armor utensils for use in the <workshop> like the artisans desired of the alloy to be produced with the ingots.

Originally, it was necessary to prepare the magic metal alloy according to certain guidelines. Although, with research, it is still possible to somehow work with a small amount, but it becomes quite difficult when it comes to making alloys in large quantities.

In my case though, I can take in a wide variety of magic metals in my silver arms only changing them into ingots while shifting the respective ratio needed.

An analogy would be easier to understand, the process would be like building some mass then kneading it like clay, making as many lumps as possible. Getting a more accurate example would be tough, but this is close enough as a rough image.

Either way, this is too easy to do, but more than half of our visitors came to tour all of the work, it still would not have been meaningful like this.

I tried various mixtures while changing the ratio in a short period of time, led by the master dwarf that wields a huge hammer, they carefully craft various armors as our Blacksmith-san are serious enough you could not imagine a smiling expression as they continue forging.

Each dwarf enters a dedicated workshop, while flames are incessantly leaking from the furnaces that are using spirit stones.

High-pitched sounds come from the hammers hitting the magic alloys, violently flying sparks scattering incessantly. Slowly and gradually, the work which has the soul of the craftsmen will be built.

There was certainly the mark of craftsmanship there. So far their technology has been cultivated by practice, inherited and passed down first by tradition, it is the final result learned after countless trial and errors.

The characteristics of the magic metal that is used as a raw material, probably due to the [Job] of [Blacksmith], can make an armor with magic, and afterwards it becomes sublimated into a magic item that surpasses any regular armor.

A longsword with improved sharpness and an added heat strike, a tower shield to prevent the wearer from attacks even by the wind, a sling staff that would generate gravel shots automatically, even such a mace that would strike again at the same time lightning as the initial strike, the items being worked on have a wide range.

The sight of a real blacksmith is simply fun to watch, and I was inspired by it, I also decided to try to build various things. Of course, because Oniwaka is the child of Blacksmith-san he was there in the workshop with his mother in a corner, wielding a hammer alongside Blacksmith-san.

Material to be used is stacked in the corner, it is suitably the magic alloy extracted from my silver arms. Since the magic alloy has a larger amount of mithril blended in it is slightly bluish.

With a whistling like a kettle and while being advised by the Blacksmith-san, Oniwaka struck with the hammer for a while. What was finished by trial and error by Oniwaka was a thick knife, almost like a hatchet.

I just polished a horn in a corner, and fitted them with a magic alloy handle, but the material's sharpness to the material was outstanding.

Even dropping a rock is cut by its own weight, there is also [Automatic Repair] along with other various skills. It might be exactly good for disassembling knives when dismantling prey or for subordinate armor with good usability.

The one that was first completed and presented was to Oniwaka, and we planned to make more together for the rest of the children - Auro, Argento, Nicola, and Opushii, we decided to continue blacksmithing again.

I knew the way was already possible, so we would continue to the working as father and son. Anyway since Nicola still can not be use it because she is the baby, the other kids are also pleased, so it ended up being good after all. Because of this experience, I want to continue building things.

DAY 363

Today I visited each facility in the base.

However, there seemed to be no particular problem at the <Airport>, which is the air base for the refined dragons, in particular also the <Original Mine> and <Residential Area> that is the living area for our members in the settlement did not seem to have any major issue. There is nothing to see.

Since we already use the <External Training Grounds> frequently for large-scale combat training I really have nothing to visit today, so I just went to the same place as yesterday, to the <workshop> where the blacksmiths are.

Although it is worth it to visit the <Parabellum Hot Spring Village>, the number of non-elf customers has begun to increase recently, but it is going to take a bit more time, it will be even better at a later date.

That was why I headed to the other locations this time-

Dorianu and the agricultural dwarves are managing the <Large Farmland>

<Familiar Magic> bound such creatures as wolves, horses, bears, and other monsters that are then bred as domestic animals, such as Big Cocco, in the <Ranch> to have such as free-range livestock.

In the <Factory> we have mass-produced goods created by the production line system used by the black skeleton mechanism.

With the <Mall> we are selling the produced goods and it also serves as training for work outside the base in the future.

Finally, the <First Mine> was a pioneer mission to mine a mountain a little distance away.

- Altogether 5 places.

First we headed to the <Large Farmland> and here we are growing a wide variety of vegetables on land that was taken from the woods.

With the harvest of those vegetables we can gain powerful benefits from the land linked to the Great Forest, or it could be because of the effect of our improvements and use of spirit stones in the soil, or thanks to all those acts together, the growth rate is even faster than any other, but above all the quality of the harvest is high.

The vegetables harvested here are also delicious, becoming popular products even with the outside as a popular product, it has become one of our financial resources.

Once harvested any vegetable is delicious at its best, but that flavor falls over time, except the strength of ours lasts longer at market because there is a means to airlift them there.

Since recently it has become famous as the brand vegetables, I'm thinking of going to directly contact with a well-known restaurant, it being considered as such.

It is easier to produce a quick and large amount of high-quality food here, contributing greatly to our rate of self-sufficiency, thus, being one of the most important facilities.

Those who work here are mainly agricultural dwarves, Porevikus, as well as the humans and plant systems etc. who acquired the [Farmer] job to assist and the like.

Everyone there just say that they prefer farm work than dangerous combat or troublesome customer relations, while working there for a while I even broke out in a sweat, but I found myself cheerfully working with a smile.

Middle-aged men with a body that have been trained in agricultural work are swinging down a hoe along with the younger workers, harvesting the crops at a rate fast enough to make you doubt your eyes, farmers gather to work on the breeding and improving of the vegetables gathered.

It would not be bad for a work environment.

Finished with the visit of the <Large Farmland>, the next location I am headed for is the <Ranch>.

Here was where we began with the <Familiar Magic>, so livestock like Big Cocco and Boruforu are being kept.

While there I was looking inside the barn, at the occupant's growth condition, and looking through the documents submitted by the members that work here.

To improve the taste of our livestock by even a little, every trial and error the workers went through was written in those documents, as they kept at it day and night at the <Ranch>.

This is, the research material that was their result.

The research materials begins with the "taste of the changes due to the food given to livestock", "what to do to make a stress-free environment", "or how the taste is affected by the change created with a level up", "disease list that should be addressed in advance", and so on, they have ranged widely.

I ran my eyes ran over to it thoroughly, and instructed them to continue thereafter.

Everything is time consuming, the only way to learn is through failure.

Members are as in the past, good if given the chance to work at it.

Although not say that any missing team members are lazy or low in energy, but the hard workers will be issued a bonus as a result, to work or not is up to the team members.

By the way, Kumajirou and Kurosaburou were also here and they were playfully attached to me who came to visit. Since resting on my back, I will properly provide an opportunity to play.

The other Kumakichi belonging to Minokichi-kun, and Kanami-chan' beloved horse are both also there, but their presence is thin, even so, they still live in that area.

After the <Ranch>, we left towards the <Factory>, where products are silently produced like a machine.

Constant quality is ensured, it can be mass-produced at a fixed price.

There are many other products that are superior to the goods that are produced here, but ours are better because they are provided cheaper as a commodity.

As far as the production of such goods here is concerned, it seems there is no particular problem.

I try to invent a line of new products for development, as well as making any improvement learned while listening to the members that work here.

After the <Factory>, we went next to the <Mall>, but that is not to say that we went for anything in particular.

Originally, this was a location to prepare for working in stores outside the forest, but outside information is constantly being shared by the earcuffs, learning how it works as a clerk comes back from the outside, with the guidance of smiths our members have completed a method to guide the junior team members.

Since this was all there was to see, we went down the <First Mine> after that examination, to some extent.

Since we are a bit far from the <First Mine>, this time we can ride a skeleton truck.

At the end of the straight path laid out to penetrate in a line through the woods, there was a mountain that has remained unchanged in size.

Originally, this is one of the mine located in the large forest which 'the mine loving' Asue-chan was the first to find.

Asue-chan found it in the middle of taking a walk and digging for more than a hundred meters with just one other demon, but it had been left alone for a while because it was not interesting at the time, being just an ordinary mine, so it had been left alone as there were other things to be done.

Rare magic metals are not mined here, but a mine is still a mine. Attempts to re-utilize has risen a bit because there's not much trouble here, it is now being used as advanced mining by members who became "Mine demon ground lords" in fact.

There are places that are deeply dug in advance by Asue-chan, so that it takes away much of the time and effort, it is likely that such facilities are going to be increasing in number in the future.

All in order to accumulate knowledge now for the future, teaching others how to be careful, how to avoid cave-ins, and other accidents etc.

Traveling until end the of the visit, as the large forest around us is being dyed red with the setting sun, we spent a lazy afternoon in front of the mansion chewing and munching on caterpillars when, from the [Warp Gate] Minokichi-kun and Asue-chan returned.

So just say, I decided to eat the caterpillar together for the sake of nostalgia.

Me and Kanami-chan, now a group of 4 demons with Minokichi-kun and Asue-chan, entertain ourselves with the story of the goblin's rise to the elite hobgoblins era.

After all, one year from being reincarnated passes in such a short while.

Goblin and Hobgoblin era was short in terms of the period, it felt somewhere distant as if an old age.

DAY 364

Today we planned to have the opening ceremony of the birthday festival, which is planned to last three days, we decided to have it synchronized with our birthday.

Even if we do have an opening ceremony, we try not to give long speeches, and bring them to an end in short order to break up into groups quickly.

The festival this time is not going to have a large battle as the main event.

No, there is definitely going to be a tournament and a competitive battle is planned for tomorrow, but even if it is separated according to battle class, almost all the results can be expected.

There's no doubt that it will be exciting, although it is our special birthday festival, it's probably unusual if it isn't too different from what we would usually do.

So besides the battle tournaments there are street stalls where simple food is made scattered around the base here and there, this time there is a games area, where you can test your aim with ring throwers or practice punches, to win a prize according to the results.

There are also places where you could enjoy a sports game really similar to badminton or basketball, etc. with [Foreigners] brought in as competitors. A prize is given to those who compete for the individual who participated or a team, going out by the order, so there might be a member challenging with another member he's on good terms with here and there.

Anyway after saying all this, it's like a mixed festival day.

It's a festival that began from the morning, but I spent that morning enjoying a game of badminton with my children.

In the afternoon I took my time wandering around here and there.

When I went around briefly through the stalls, a preliminary meeting place for the battle tournament which becomes the main attraction of tomorrow is prospering the most with the crowds, but the street stalls that feed their courage is taking some too and the sport stalls where dungeon drop items from the labyrinths can be gained are almost the same in terms of people, I eat and watch as the excitement seems to rise.

There is also a street stall where excellent silver work made by the chief dwarfs is sold and another street stall where alchemists sell magic medicine for night, popular with the couples.

That food dishes and liquors were the only things prepared for this day, so that cheerful laughter is heard everywhere.

Even if I am the one saying it, but isn't it a good festival?

By the way, since today and tomorrow the festivals are meant to be for yourself, so that the elves and the animal people which are the visitors of <Parabellum Hot Spring Village> don't participate.

That way people with a social relationship, like the father elf and his daughter, may be invited, but because there is no intention to let an unknown number of outsiders into the base in anything other than a division of <Parabellum Hot Spring Village>.

However, it is a special festival.

Then, for the final day of the festival, even <Parabellum Hot Spring Village> will be part of the entertainment, with a planned cut in price.

DAY 365

Today is our birthday.

It been just one year after my reincarnation. Suddenly a lot of my memories are coming back to me, really a lot of a storage is needed in a year as dense as this one.

That night, which is a beginning as well as the end, I was killed by Aoi, who was like a little sister to me.

Also, even if I try to calmly look back on that now, I still tilt my head and wonder why this happened.

I totally do not have any simmering hatred to the Aoi who killed me, and am even worried that she has been arrested after that as the murderer.

If there is a complaint, it is only with my own tameness in being so frankly killed.

Even if I was stabbed in the stomach by surprise by Aoi, who is almost like a relative to me, even if the murder weapon is a special kind of military weapons, I should have made a little more of a resistance.

When I try to think of the "why" of that time - my memory is hazy. Memories of that time are not clear.

Whether it is something interfering with me, the question floats around my mind, but I decided to give up thinking on that because it became so troublesome.

Well, anyway, after I was killed, for some reason, I was reincarnated as a small goblin, engaged in a struggle for survival, and experienced various meetings and farewells.

Here I have been able to realize the rawness of life. As well as having been able to experience the death that comes with it.

Looking back on many things, like the meals shared with Minokichi -kun and Kanami -chan, it all started with eating caterpillars that became a breakfast and munching in synchronization with all our members, including those who stopped at the level of goblins without advancing through [Existence Evolution].

The meat was well prepared, spilling over with juices.

Knowing what I do now, the [Sacred Treasures] and dragon meat is not comparable, but reminiscing of the days of being newborn, has a special nostalgic taste.

While immersed in deep emotion, I look over everyone's faces sitting in a circle.

Each seems to have eaten a caterpillar while thinking of something.

Those who simply enjoy the caterpillar. Those who have decided something. Those who are tinged with sorrow. Those who look up at the sky with a distant eye. Those who are smiling. There are really different reactions.

There were several Caterpillars distributed for the sake of synchronization per goblin.

Since there is only a certain amount, soon after they have eaten I go around pouring a drink of the direct demon liquor into everyone's cup.

The amount is about the same as a sake cup. Although there is a sense of injustice since the size of most bodies is different, it can not be helped because of a small amount of the amount of demon drink available. Here we get test our patience.

When I had poured into each cup, everyone drank at once.

Same as when they ate the caterpillars, their reactions are also different.

There are those who visibly relax their face after simply drinking such delicious sake. Those who shed tears of gratitude at drinking such a choice demon drink that is not available to their rank. Those who ascended to the great heights from the impact beyond their experience. Finally, those who shiver in ecstasy.

Even though there was someone that had more to drink, like me.

Burasato and Supesei are not sitting in our circle, I was a bit envious there, but unfortunately, our birthday festival is my main concern.

Only today the seat of the protagonist is not negotiable.

While there was such an act for the morning, just as yesterday I spent the day having fun, until around the evening.

As the world was dyed red, the finals of the battle tournament, that is the most exciting part of the birthday festival, was held.

The location of the battlefield has been selected as the <External Training Field>.

Anyway, the field has been improved in the search for robustness so that it can now also reduce the damage from those fighting here, so that you can fight all out with abandon.

The ones that ended up surviving in the tournament and reaching the finals were Avenger and Redhead.

A combination of good and bad points, the fight of two that won out through their abilities, it led to an intensely heated final match, but progresses from start to end Yolsamu(Avenger??) held onto the advantage.

As if there was an agreement between the two, each chose to not use any ability, fighting only with combat techniques trained from their pure physical ability.

In terms of purely physical performance, the difference between the two is not much.

Going by gender Avenger has more endurance and would outweigh because of his gender, but is exceeded by Redhead in agility and flexibility.

Moving around Avenger, that is actually set up comfortably, at high speed Redhead chose tactics intended for disrupting his balance.

Just her legs, that was all that he could catch from Redhead's movement, such was the expected difficulty for that beast who was just using both arms to reach all in his field of view, it might have been difficult to counter in a narrow battle field.

If he showed even a slight chance, the Nail Fang of Redhead, like a true carnivore, would have taken a piece of Yolsamu's(Avenger??) neck.

However unlike before, Avenger prevented all the attacks from Redhead with a minimum of wasted movement, by knocking them to the side or with a simple parry.

At the Birthday Festival, it was Avenger who splendidly took the victory.

It is a pity that Redhead lost this time because I was personally supporting her, but still her growth rate is comparable in degree Minokichi -kun and Kanami -chan.

Initially I could not help but think that Redhead was so much weaker.

Still, she might win next time, no matter others might expect.

Anyway, we presented the prize to the winner Avenger, and carried on to the last event of the Birthday Festival's second day of entertainment.

It was a simple concept, to hit an attacker in a circle with a diameter of about three meters within the time limit.

That is, the target this time is me.

Of course it is only natural to resist their attacks, since it is not possible for me to move from within the circle, it can either be simultaneous attacks by participants from a long distance, but those that dare could also challenge in close combat.

If it is possible for anyone to get even a single blow in, that success comes with drop items obtained from dungeon class bosses, or the equivalent in anything you desire, you can win such prizes.

The last event that began so, closed in the middle act of success.

While happening in a large forest where the noise is incessant even at night, the last of the day was spent enjoying myself.

Would it not be a good way of ending the day if it seems to be speaking to us.

By the way, the first to have cleared the last event was Kanami-chan.

If it is an attack, such as freezing the space, it could not be prevented.

What did Kanami-chan demand in the end?

That also means that there is an opportunity.

DAY 366

The final day of our Birthday Festival.

I'm receiving Doriane's oil massage early in the morning at the one and only <Parabellum Hot Springs>.

Laying next to me is the figure of the father elf who has become a regular customer.

The facial expression, usually full of dignity, falls away and sloppily melts from that grandfather's face.

I did not turn into the same thing as him since I have already become familiar with these feelings, but instead I had been receiving some whispered complaints instead.

Briefly summarized, it seems that for the past two days, they were struggling to accommodate the elves and beast people drawn by the cheerful voices heard from within the base. If today <Parabellum Hot Springs> does not have an unprecedented event carried out, and if it is not big enough to notice, they would will be overwhelmed by the like of them, to the point that they will not be able to fit them all inside.

It could be because Father Elf has a relationship with me, I wonder if there were many petitions?

I had to give my condolences, and only that.

Besides that, he must have felt rather frustrated, going Gunu Nu. He is not looking good being that desperate. I had to remember the frustration rather.

That sort of will is not for a pretty child, such as the daughter elf.

Aside from that, after receiving a massage, I look around at the state of the festival, which was transferred to the venue nearer <Parabellum Hot Springs Resort>, along with father elf.

Even if an elf is having that much fun, there are still beast people who have are chagrined, or look lost, etc., even others such as a Pig-Orc that has set up a stall to sell pork bun ramen cuisine here. Everything was chaos but still, everyone also seemed happy.

With the added attraction of the skeleton mechanism built for today - the roller coaster beetle and merry-go-round beetle - is one of the sections that are most crowded, it seems a long queue is made.

Members who are working as staff are moving around happily, so that <Parabellum Hot Springs> would be even more flooded with clients after this.

Today, which is the final day, is not a festival for us but a festival for the neighborhood residents, such as elves and beastmen.

We can also hope that their purse strings are loosening in the festival, but there are other reasons as well, such as, making the case for the building our fellowship with others.

Because they could not all fit in the internal base, the <Parabellum Hot Springs> was transported to a different venue so that everyone can freely enter and leave, but even a look at the state of the festival shows that it was the correct answer.

By the way, instead of working inside the base, I ran some errands that were the results of the festival such as those moving the stalls that were no longer needed to a different location, or slowly transporting the people who were tired to a resting location.

After moving around the crowded <Parabellum Hot Springs>, we went on to the special section that was prepared, drinking elf wine with the father elf.

Kugime gave me a few items that issued as memorabilia, that food made from dragon meat and other labyrinth products, and father elves seemed to like it very much, so that we ate in silence, not drinking as much as we would have.

I'm glad that there are still a lot of food, but I wonder if I should not refrain a little more.

As I thought of other things, the gathering began with Minokichi-kun and Asue-chan.

The gathering began to increase gradually, until it became like a small banquet.

I try to make other locations to eat and drink, so that there would be enough places with the same thing if you only look.

Anyway, I enjoyed drinking the sake together.

DAY 367

Cleaning will wait until after the festival.

The trash can which was installed in [Parabellum Hot Spring Village] is by a river, so it is easier to handle, making the cleaning simpler.

There is still the case that trash has to go out and we have to clean the street stalls as well as the various decorations from banquet that were freely scattered.

It was a special occasion, so I was just doing an overall cleaning of the inside of the base for the first day.

Member are cleaning the places where they are generally active and individual houses.

I rallied a part of the members and cleaned the house, in the end deciding to go around to see the Blacksmith-san, Alchemist-san, the Sisters, and Dorian.

It seems others felt the same, everyone seemed to be cleaning briskly, but still there was dirt you could not quickly reach.

I make a controlled liquid sink into a form of acidity like alkaline using [self-body fluid property manipulation] and cleaned with a cloth made of a golden thread I knit.

Then dirt was coming off in a fascinating way. There was also some stubborn dirt which doesn't fall easily, but for the most part it can be cleaned easily.

Stubborn dirt may be cleaned through force or by a magic medicine an alchemist has made.

The cleaning for the first day is accomplished using various methods.

Collected dirt and dust are taken away, and I seem able to get to quite a good sleep today.

DAY 368

After the Holy War, we have the birth festival, and afterwards washed out all the accumulated dirt.

Then what will we do next, what should we do next, and should we not also be searching for new, unknown ingredients.

Regardless, we are going to be moving quietly for a while on this continent.

I want to capture the [Age of the Gods Dungeons] in the Lumen Holy Kingdom and Estgrand Beast Kingdom for convenient moving and I also want to challenge the [Great God Rank] [Age of the Gods Dungeons] in the middle of continent. Although there is that plan, now I want to put a little time aside.

After all, the impact of the Holy War was great.

For now we are the center of attention, but instead of explaining it for easy understanding, I feel like it's more interesting to leave it as it is.

Then, rather than continuing to work on this continent, we should turn to another continent.

For the sake of the unseen food in those places that we have still not reached.

Although saying that, such a difficulty as going to another continent is not terribly high for us.

Normally, it would be a voyage we would take while fighting the heinous marine life every step of the way, with an likewise armed convoy, but we happen to have Ship Ambrasm Parabellum.

It is a huge ship, the Ship Ambrasm Parabellum, and at the same time it is a [Age of the Gods Dungeon] but it is still targeted by some monsters. Living in here isn't a problem for us, though. We can freely go to another continent using any kind of route we want.

Even if Ship Ambrasm Parabellum did not work, we still have five medium-sized armored vessels we have manufactured using the [Magic Armor Medium-sized Ship Making Kit] we received before.

Those magical armored medium-sized vessels, when built, have a total length of about one hundred and sixty meters.

The power to run is supplied by a magical engine using supplied Magic as an energy source, its magic armor is made with magic metal with enough of a defense to stop the attacks of monsters coming from the sea.

Furthermore, in order to intercept and not just protect ourselves, various arms have been mounted by dwarf blacksmiths throughout its length.

For example, as a typical load-out it has, [Acoustic Explosive Needle. Actinal] installed in the ship's bottom, a small sized [Shock/ Blade Cannon] installed on the deck, twelve gates and a large [Elemental Cannon. Emeliol Cannon], and there is a [Spiral Colliding Angle - Haldesnor] set on the bow.

There is also such things as [Hammer Cannon-Hillard] that shoots out a harpoon, the [Capture Network-Sparness] that casts a net, but it is set in place.

A Magical Ship that holds more combat capability than most armed ships and is equal to creating a trade convoy with another continent, even as one of the [God Production Artifact] obtained in a [Gods Dungeon] I can only wonder what to say.

Even these alone will be able to sail that dangerous ocean alone.

If there was such a means available before, there was no one to properly use them.

There is also the ability to immediately come back with the [Demon Gate], but the future goal is a foray to another continent.

Well, it is going to be busy again soon.

DAY 369

Various preparations are being developed for our voyage to another continent.

Saying so sounds nice to speak of, or it would if we did not have the [Teleport Gate].

With it supplies can be prepared with for the Ship Ambrasm Parabellum with ease, and should I start the move, such as any supplies to start up offices, the process should be simple enough.

That is why there is not that much to say.

Then today, just one day into the job, each member was left to their own position.

Sweating and stinking with training while passing the time, playing with children to teach them approaches and how to fight, trying the delicious cuisine of [Meal Hero], finally enjoying an elegant evening with Kanami-chan.

While it is the day before going to a new land, there was nothing particularly unusual, it is a day of peace.

DAY 370

After waking up and doing morning training as usual, taking a bath after a good sweat, I finished the preparations and assembled everything in front of [Ghost Wailing Gate], all before eating a meal at noon.

Altogether the group consisted of dozens of the main members such as Minokichi-kun and Kanami-chan, along with the children Oko, Auro, and Argento with a few other members like Redhead all gathered before me.

When the preparations were finished, I passed through the [Ghost Wailing Gate] and moved to the Ship Ambrasm Parabellum.

It's possible to see the busy trade city when I appear on the ocean where the harbor for trade is popular. The Ship Ambrasm Parabellum is moored next to Labyrinth City Dur Gha Varia which is a maze city at the same time.

Apparently, it seems to be more cheerful than usual, or at least that is what I understood after observing the Labyrinth City Dur Gha Varia for a long time from afar.

A barker's voice sounded from among the large number of customers in the festival-like ceremonies, and smiles spilled from the people who walked in the city.

In advance of the Ship Ambrasm Parabellum, during the festival apparently, a whistle arrives which announces our departure and an anchor is raised, so I'll make sure that we can take off at any time.

Since there is no other ship like Ship Ambrasm Parabellum which traveled the world periodically, this must also be an ideal event for them.

Anyway I will prepare to move after I've bathed in the sea breeze for a while.

The last whistle loudly rings once more, and a huge wheel crank is increasing the number of rotations gradually. A hull like a mountain slowly picks up speed, certainly slowly but surely, and the bow is slowly turning to face towards the vast ocean.

I hear the whistle and notice the situation here.

Labyrinth city Dur Gha Varia where you assume it was wished that sailors return from sailing safely, and that where a famous [Minstrel] from the past wrote a song that started to play.

It mixed with the sound of the musical instruments and you could also hear men's voices from the bold sea.

It is a cheerful and comfortably bold sound that is pleasant to hear.
